BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

[For prices see pages VII., XI., XII., and XIII.]

The new Tariff bill, as at first agreed upon by the Ways and Means Committee, contains the following items likely to interest our readers:

The lumber schedule is one of the few which shows some reduction.

Hewn timber is reduced from 20 to 10 per cent. and squared timber from 1 cent to 1½ cents per cubic foot.

Sawed boards remaid at $1 per 1,000 feet for soft woods and $2 per 1,000 feet for woods not enumerated. Sawed boards of mahogany, cedar, rosewood, satinwood, and all other forms of cabinet woods are charged 35 cents.

The other items of the schedule show slight changes, except that house furniture, unfinished, is specially enumerated at 30 per cent., and chair cane not made up in finished articles is fixed at 10 per cent.

Varnishes are reduced from 40 to 35 per cent., but spirit varnishes remain as at present, $1.32 additional per gallon. White lead remains at 3 cents.

Fire brick are charged $1.25 per ton when unornamented, and 45 per cent. ad valorem when ornamented in any manner. The existing law makes the rate 20 per cent.

Tiles and brick other than fire brick are charged 25 per cent. when unornamented, and 45 per cent. when ornamented, the existing rate for encaustic tiles being 35 per cent. for all classes.

Hydraulic cement is charged 8 cents per hundred pounds. Other cement 20 per cent.

Plaster of paris is fixed at $1.00 per ton when ground for use as a fertilizer and $1.75 per ton when calcined.

Clayes or earths which are unwrought are to pay $1.50 per ton; when wrought, $3 per ton.

Unpolished cylinder, crown and window glass not exceeding 10 by 16 inches pays 1½ cents per pound; not exceeding 16 by 24 inches, 2 cents per pound; not exceeding 24 by 30 inches, 2½ cents per pound; all above those sizes 3 cents. All these rates are increased over those now existing.

Polished glass is increased in an even greater proportion on some sizes, that which is 16 by 24 inches paying 4 cents per square foot instead of 2½ cents, and that exceeding 24 by 60 inches 20 cents per square foot as at present.

The rates of fluted and rolled glass are not changed; on silver plate glass remain at the old rates, except that the smallest size is abolished and pays the rate on the next higher size—5 cents instead of 3 cents. This same rule is applied to silvered plate glass.

Marble of all kinds is charged 65 cents per cubic foot, the existing rate.

Wood screws are charged from 5 to 14 cents per pound, according to length.

Iron ore is charged 75 cents per ton as before.

The lead ore provision reads as follows: Lead ore and lead dross, 1½ cents per pound; provided that silver ore containing lead pay a duty of 1½ cents per pound on the lead contained therein, according to sample and essay at the port of entry.

Nickel is reduced from 15 cents per pound to 2 cents per pound.

Zinc is increased to 1¾ cents in blocks or pigs, and remains at 2½ cents in sheets.

Pig iron pays the existing duty of 8-10 cents per pound.

On round iron not less than three-fourths of an inch in diameter, the rate is reduced from 1 cent to 9-10 of a cent.

The same reduction is made on round iron less than ¾ of an inch and not less than 7-16, from 1 1-10 cents to 1 cent per pound.

The duties on other round iron are not changed.

The duties on boiler iron are reduced the fraction of a cent.

Wire rods remain at about the old rates, but wire is reduced ¼ cent per pound on each classification, except that smaller than No. 26, which remains at 3 cents.

Iron or steel wire coated with zinc or tin or any other metal is to pay ½ a cent per pound in addition to the other duties to which it is subject.

Manufacturers of iron and steel are given a separate classification, and anchors and parts thereof and wrought iron for ships and forgings are charged 1½ cents per pound.

Anvils are charged 2½ cents.

Boiler tubes are 2½ cents.

Card clothing of tempered steel 45 cents per foot, and other card clothing 25 cents per foot, and casting of maleable iron 1¾ cents per pound.

Specific are substituted for ad valorem duties on cutlery, but the duties are fixed upon the different values of the articles.

The duties on copper are reduced one-half throughout, with the object of striking at the Copper Trust.

Since the publication of the details of the bill the committee has been overrun with protests of all kinds asking for changes, modifications, &c., and at the close a Washington correspondent writes that a change is granted in lumber, which had been reduced from an existing rate of $2 per 1,000 feet for pine boards to $1 per 1,000 feet. This reduction was too much for the Ohio school, and they voted to change the duty to $1.50.

BRICKS.—On Common Hards there has certainly been no improvement and in some respects the market is even worse than last week. Arrivals, fortunately, were comparatively moderate and that prevented the supply afloat from accumulating with any great rapidity, and within a few days as a matter of fact it has really commenced to run down somewhat, but the demand all along has proven slow and indifferent and buyers had to be placated by an easy tone on values. It is just barely possible that where a certain favorite make was particularly wanted or the delivery was difficult as high as $7.37½@7.50 might be obtained, but these are certainly full top figures, almost too exceptional for positive quotation, with $7.25 nearer an average trading rate and some rather poorish. North River stock selling at $7.00 per M, with corresponding grades from other localities at about the same relative rates. Of strictly choice Jerseys we hear of some at $7.00 per M, but very nice Hackensacks went at $6.50@6.75, and thence rates ranged off to $5.00 per M for Keyports. At the close the market retains a somewhat uncertain character, dependent mainly upon the movements of buyers, who as a rule seem to be in a somewhat independent position. As previously suggested the open and consequently favorable winter has permitted the pushing forward of operations with so much freedom that for this time of the year an unusual amount of work is topped out with new jobs hardly ready to commence upon, and consumption really is light. Beside that, builders ever since fall have depended largely upon current arrivals for supplies, taking cargoes from time to time as they might need them, and allowing their piled stock to remain intact, but now fall back upon the latter and just so much reduce the call for first hand offerings Advices from the river indicate some indifference about shipping with the market in its present unpropitious state, but quite a number of barges loaded, and when circumstances seem to warrant. Most manufacturers are trying to clean up and get ready for new work. Pales remain dull, and the tone and value easy, with $3.50 per M an extreme price.

LATH.—Since the unexpected, and as some receivers claim the unnecessary break of last week the market has commenced to brace up again, securing not only a stronger tone, but an actual recovery on price of first class stock. Round wood lath are the most plenty and also the most difficult to bring right down to a positive quotation, as buyers object to them on principle, and can ocasionally worry receivers into allowing comparatively easy terms. The latest figures we can learn of on that class of stock were $2.35 @2.40, but this is lower than some sellers are willing to accept, and an advance seems probable at any moment, especially as there is little else to fall back upon. No record can be found of more than about one million afloat from St. John, and a portion of these have been sold at $2.60@2.65, and while there is quite a little bunch on the way from Maine they would promptly disappear before any ordinary demand. About 100,000 more Canadians have sold since our last, but the offering does not appear to be very plentiful. Actual consumption is said to be increasing, with most dealers carrying light stocks.

LIME.—The market does not develop much demand and feels the dull tone prevailing for pretty much all kind of material at the moment. Moderate coastwise arrivals, however, and a careful offering from the State have saved receivers from any serious inconvenience, and the combination of manufacturers keeps the line of value up to former figures. A couple of weeks ago we referred to a movement on foot looking to obtaining a material increase in duty as a check upon the importation of Canadian lime. It now appears that action is being taken in opposition to any change in the rate of duty, and to further the object in view the following petition will be placed upon the Building Material, and Mechanics and Traders Exchanges, for signatures:

To the Senators and Representatives of New York in Congress:

The undersigned builders, contractors, manufacturers and other persons interested in the use of lime, being citizens of New York and members of all political parties, respectfully represent:

That considerable quantities of lime are now being imported into this State from the Canadian Provinces.

That the rest, and by far the greater part, of lime sold in this market comes chiefly from the vicinity of Rockland, Maine, and that the price of Rockland lime is controlled by a combination which includes substantially all the Rockland manufacturers.

That the only relief in the arbitrary action of this combination which attempts to control prices and limit production without regard to the interest of the consumer is the competition of the Canadian manufacturers.

That it is currently reported that the Rockland manufacturers are making an organized effort to induce Congress to increase the present duty on lime of 10 per cent. ad valorum, with the avowed purpose of driving Canadian lime out of the markets of this country, and of raising the present price of lime to dealers and consumers.

That a duty of 10 per cent., together with the difference in freight charges (equivalent to an additional protection of about 17 per cent.), furnishes a reasonable and sufficient protection to the domestic manufacturer, unless it be good policy to deprive the people of New York of the benefits of competition in this business and to allow the price of an indispensable commodity to be controlled by a few domestic manufacturers acting in concert.

We, therefore, protest against the passage of any act of Congress which shall increase the duty on imported lime, and we respectfully urge upon you to consider the importance for the industries of New York of not surrendering the lime business in this State into the arbitrary control of the would-be monopoly.

LUMBER.—Matters move along on the general market without any special degree of friction when proper allowance is made for the season of the year, and notwithstanding the assumption of a considerable wisdom at times by a portion of the trade, there is nothing divulged that presents radically new suggestions. It is a period in fact when all hands are apt to be particularly cautious, the seller because he desires to feel his way, ascertain as near as may be the chances for placing goods, and just how much anxiety regular or catch custom is likely to show, while the buyer on the other hand desirous of concealing the full extent of his wants is nevertheless prospecting for such offerings as seem adapted to the orders he must finally give. Transactions or indications therefore, that may appear to favor either interest are quickly caught up and heralded with much vigor by those most benefited and frequently without being entitled to the credit of a really fair test. On a conservative view of the situation the general market may be called well sustained for all leading descriptions of stock with a prominent outlook for consumption.

Eastern Spruce does not appear to present a basis upon which buyers can hope for early advantage. Sometimes in the spring of the year it was a common experience to find yard stock competing not only for orders from consumers, but in trades between dealers, but that under the wholesome regulations of the Retailers' Association is a thing of the past, with much supporting assistance to the present market secured through other prevailing influences previously advised. Receivers still take the ground that no matter how many logs may be run, or how much stuff cut, the main difficulty will be in getting it forward, and even go so far as to claim that, even with no diversion of tonnage, deliveries must have inevitably been behind for many weeks. The prospect is good for all regular sizes, but especially so for large heavy sticks.

Piling is another portion of the stock influenced by the scarcity and full cost of transportation, and sellers feel more than ever confident that they will be called upon to surrender any advantages. Supplies here are well in hand, and prospects for next week of greater or less magnitude are constantly being heard of.

Hemlock seems to be somewhat irregular in tone from the clashing of reports, but the contradictions have a familiar ring and represent mainly a competitive feeling, in some instances between localities, in others between firms, and occasionally between quality. For all really first-class stock, however, it is necessary to make bids upon a full former level, and sellers appear in no special haste to negotiate even at the advances recently obtained. Some of the best local houses are buyers at top rates, and willing to anticipate wants to a certain extent, as there is little danger of any surplus stock.

White Pine does not show anything that can be called a regular line of demand, and the spasmodic business doing keeps in front the usual uncertainties of this particular section of the lumber trade. Some dealers retain considerable faith in the export business up to the time Canada can resume in that line fully, and there is also thought to be a good chance in the way of box, but for building purposes the probabilities are of quite an ambiguous character. A great deal will, of course, be used, but many competing woods are in the way of consumption, and so frequently taken for work where least expected that dealers naturally feel somewhat puzzled as to how they should fortify their stocks against future wants. There does not appear to be any doubt but that supplies will be ample for all calls, and no calculations are made upon the necessity for paying higher rates.

Yellow Pine is in just about the same healthy condition so long advised. Some of the trade talk about the loss of business on account of non-location of the Fair at this point, but that business was only an unknown quantity, and making the comparison with last year the market is probably handling just about as much stock, and obtaining good prices for it. Regular open market business and special contracts all contribute to keep affairs moving, and there is a better showing in the f. o. b. negotiations for export from primary points. All evidences lead to the conclusion that the combinations will hold together this season.

Carolina Pine moves along in the even tenor of its way and the principal complaint is from sellers who are not quite able to keep up with their orders. A quiet little grumble may also occasionally be heard about price cutting, but it seems to be a practice indulged in mainly by small operators in dressed stock, merely for the sake of getting a footing with some desirable custom, and is not general because there is no necessity for it. The local and out of town run of custom, if all accounts be true, seems likely to exhaust about the entire production during the first half of the season at least. As we close a pretty well confirmed rumor prevails that, owing to the high cost of Spruce, contracts have been made for some 2,250,000 feet Carolina Pine timber for use on special jobs, but terms could not be ascertained.

Hardwoods have a pretty firm market all along the line. Of course such stock as quartered oak, really good ash, and first-class cherry are positively strong in tone and will command outside prices readily, but the best selections of every other standard hardwood are sure of sale at quite as full rates as for some time past and are by no means easy to find. It is quite common to hear reports of shaded rates but in nine cases out of ten it will be found there is quite as much shading in quality, and in the odd instance where inferiority cannot be proven bungling handling of goods takes its place, probably by some salesman who knows nothing of the market and its ways. General consumptive prospects are said to be first-rate on all natural outlets.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

We have just received from the secretary of Chicago Lumberman's Exchange a copy of his monthly statement, from which we make the following extracts: The receipts of lumber from January 1 to February 28 were 57,382,000 feet, against 62,010,900 feet same time in 1889, a decrease of 4,628,000 feet. The sales and shipments during same period are reported at 221,710,759 feet, against 203,089,053 feet in 1889, an increase of 18,621,706 feet.

Stock of lumber and timber March 1, 1890, 494,205,560 feet, against February 1, 1890, 569,080,265 feet, show ing decrease of 74,874,705 feet.

Comparative statement of stock of lumber and timber on hand March 1 for a series of years:

1881	398,800,030	1886	519,819,852
1882	378,558,184	1887	438,413,568
1883	546,411,311	1888	481,637,641
1884	476,514,238	1889	533,289,422
1885	557,582,644	1890	494,205,560

The Mississippi Valley Lumberman says:

The inquiry for bulk lots by Eastern parties who want Wisconsin lumber for eastern shipment continues. These buyers are cautious, but they mean business. Their constituents want the lumber, and have commissioned them to buy it out, but they want all there is in every bargain they make. They are buying all the same, and an unusually large eastern movement of Wisconsin and Minnesota lumber is assured for this year.

The manufacturers of hardwood lumber in Wisconsin expect great things from the hardwood lumber market this year, and if present indications are good for anything they are justified in so doing.

THE SOUTH.

The Southern Lumberman as follows:

More lumber buyers are visiting the South than usual at this time of the year. Large orders are being placed, and the indications are that the hardwood trade will open up early and continue active.

Dry houses are being more extensively used now than ever before. Indeed, they have become an absolute necessity, for it is the custom of buyers in this country to defer placing orders until the lumber is actually needed, and without dry-kilns it would be impossible to fill the orders with promptness. The manufacturers of dry-kilns have made improvements and perfected the kilns until the drying of lumber has been reduced to a science. No well-equipped mill is now without dry-kilns and planing mills, and many of the small mills of the South, cutting not more than fifteen or twenty thousand feet daily, are adding planers and dry houses of some kind.

The demand for quarter-sawed oak has rapidly increased, and no special effort has been made to increase the supply. Much of the quartered oak put on the market for the last few years came from Ohio and Indiana, but oak suitable for quarter sawing in those States has become very scarce. Large oak, both white and red, is abundant in all the Southern States, and the supply of quartered oak must come largely from the South. The call for quartered oak is urgent; the price is regulated more by the seller than by the buyer, and the wonder is that more mills do not cut quartered oak. It can be sawed perfectly on any mill and no peculiar device or appliance is necessary.

METALS.—COPPER—Ingot undergoes very little change and the general character of the market is dull and uneventful. For what may be called regular trade purposes the demand seems to get along with quite small parcels and there is quite positive refusal to anticipate future wants. Producers, however, claim that their output is closely sold up and report a quiet but steady drain of stock for electrical purposes. As we close a report prevails that the Lake Superior companies have made a very heavy deal invariably estimated at 10,000,000 to 20,000,000. As the price stated at 14c. up to 14½c. there is reason to believe the story has considerable foundation, but we can only give it in form of rumor at the moment. Quotations are generally placed at 14¼@14½c. for Lake and 12¾@13c. for casting brands. Manufactured Copper sells somewhat irregularly, but on the whole fairly, and the position is kept well in hand with prices ruling steady all along the line. We quote as follows: Sheets, not above 30x72 in., 16oz. and over, 22c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 23c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 24c.; do, 10 to 12 oz, 25c.; do, 8 to 10 oz, 28c.; do, under 8 oz, 30c. Sheets longer than 72 inches add 1c. for 12@14 oz., 2c. for 10@12 oz, and 3c. for 8@10 oz. Sheets, not above 36x96 in., 16 oz and over, 22c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 24c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 26c.; do, 10 to 12 oz, 30c.; do, 8 to 10 oz, 38c. Sheets longer than 96 inches 22c. for over 32 oz, and add 1c. for 16 to 32 oz, 14 to 16 oz, 12 to 14 oz, and 2c. for 8 to 10 oz. Sheets, not above 48x96, 32 to 64 oz, 22c.; do, 16 to 32 oz, 25c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 27c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 34c. Sheets wider than 48x96 and longer, 22@25c. for 32 to 64 oz. and over, and 27@30c. for 16 to 32 oz. All bath tub sheets, per lb., 16 oz, 25c.; 14 oz, 27c.; 12 oz, 29c.; and 10 oz, 30c. Bolt copper, ⅝ inch diameter and over, 22c. Circles, 60 diameter and less, 3c. above price of sheets of same thickness; circles, 60 to 96 do do, 5c. do; circles, 96 do and over, 6c. do. Segment and pattern sheets, 3c. above price of sheets required to cut them from. Cold or hard rolled copper, 1@2c. per lb. above the foregoing prices. Copper bottom, 26@29c. per lb. IRON—Scotch Pig has been available in somewhat larger quantity, with evidence of increased desire to realize on the part of importers, and lower terms have been named for several brands. This led to somewhat fuller business, though as a rule the inclination of buyers is still to confine investment to early wants as much as possible. Cost on the general range is quoted at $21.25@25.50 per ton, according to brand. American Pig has finally taken the downward turn, and there is a decline in price for all kinds of stock. The first break in price was made on the Southern iron, some of the companies appearing to become very shaky and inclined to force matters, and the Northern product has been forced to follow suit, though showing no special degree of demoralization. There is, however, said to be a considerable quantity of speculative iron hanging over the market, and while the quality is not of a high order, it is nevertheless a menace, and the market closes unsettled. We quote at $19.00@19.50 per ton for No. 1 X foundry; $18.00@18.50 for No. 2 X do., and $17@17.50 for Gray Forge. Old material is also slow and uncertain on natural demand, with holders getting more or less anxious, and it looks as though a number of parcels of stock might at any time be forced to an outlet. The effect is unsettling upon values, and rates at present are a little nominal. We quote at about $25.00@25.50 for old rails; $22.50@23.00 for No. 1 wrought scrap; $18.00@18.50 for cast scrap, and $17.50@18.00 for car wheels. Manufactured Iron has undergone no quotable change in cost, the list rates being quite generally adhered to, and not much of an effort made to sell stock beyond the natural call for it. Buyers, however, are more careful, and talking a great deal about the decline in raw material. We quote Common Merchant Bar, ordinary sizes, at 2.10@2.12c. from store, and refined at 2.30@2.60c.; Rods, round and square, 2.40@2.45c.; Bands, 2.60@2.65c.; Norway Nail Rods, 4@5c., and domestic sheet on the basis of 3.00@3.05c. for common Nos. 10@16. Other descriptions at corresponding prices, with 1-10c. less on large lots from cars. Steel Rails meet with very little attention on either large or small orders, and the market has a dull tone throughout. Most manufacturers are busy on contracts, and that restrains any undue effort to sell further, but a better demand is wanted and rates ease off somewhat to catch it. We quote at $34.00@35.00 per ton for standard section at the mills and $35.00@36.00 do. at tide water. The official report of the Board of Control shows total sales of 50 lb. and heavier rails by the associated mills for 1890 delivery to have been 857,768 tons up to March 1. Deliveries during the first two months of the year, 219,636 tons. These returns do not include light section rails or the business of the Allegheny Steel Company. LEAD—Domestic pig, following our last report, went up a fraction, and though at times apparently inclined to small fractional irregularities, the general character of the market looks fairly favorable for sellers and offerings are moderate. We quote at 3.95@4c., as to quality. The manufactures of lead are quoted: Bar, 4½c.; pipe, 6c.; sheet, 6¾c., less the usual discount to the trade; and tin lined pipe, 15c.; block tin pipe 45c., on same terms. TIN—Pig meets with only about an average consumptive demand, but there is considerable of a speculative element extant and a prospective temporary scarcity of supplies acted as quite a stimulant to values. The close is somewhat unsettled. We quote at about 20.30@20.40c. for round lots, and 20⅝@20¾c. for jobbing parcels. Tin plate in the great majority of cases is reported slow, with values inclined to favor buyers, though the stock seems to be well enough controlled to prevent forcing. We quote prices as follows: I. C. Charcoal, ½ cross assortment, Melyn grades, $6.00@6.05, each additional X add $1.50; I. C. Charcoal, ½ cross assortment, Allaway grade, $5.15@5.20, each additional X add $1; Charcoal terne, M. F. grade, 14x20, $6.90 @ 6.95; M. F. grade, 20x28, $13.90@13.95; Worcester, 14x20, $4.85@4.90; Worcester, 20x28, $9.75@9.80; Deane grade, 14x20, $4.70@4.75; Dean grade, 20x28, $9.30@9.40, D. R. D. grade, 14x20, $4.55@4.60; D. R. D. grade, 20x28, $9.10@9.20; I. C. Coke, Penlan grade, $4.45@4.50; J. B. grade, 14x20, $4.60 @ 4.65; I. C. Bessemer steel, squares, $5.10@— basis; I. C. Siemens steel, squares, $5.20@— basis. Spelter has found a dull market, with prices rather inclined to weaken on most grades. We quote 5.00@5.20c. for common Western, according to brand.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—Reports are much the same as last week, some operators rather inclined to grumble a little over trade, and others expressing themselves as pretty well satisfied, creating a certain measure of irregularity. That, however, seems to be traceable to the fact that all dependent localities have not yet been heard from with their early orders, and it is stated that fairly representative custom thus far negotiating has required a full average quantity and assortment of stock. The variations in the line of cost are of an unimportant character upon any grade. Linseed Oil meets with generally satisfactory demand, and retains a firm market at an advance of 1c. per gallon. We quote at 60@61c. for Western, and 63@64c. for City. Spirits Turpentine has been firmly held and somewhat indifferently offered, but the demand not very active, and buyers confining themselves to immediate actual wants. We quote 43½@44½c. per gallon, according to quantity, delivery, etc.

NAILS.—Business has an erratic development both on home and foreign demand, and dealers booking orders liberally one day may have practically nothing to do the next. That creates a disagreeable sort of feeling, and especially among those who find the field of cut nails constantly encroached upon by wire nails. Supplies are ample in manufacturers' hands, and occasionally an offering turns up from outside sources. We quote at $2.00@2.05 per keg for car lots, and $2.05 @2.10 per keg for parcels from store.

TAR AND PITCH.—The market is in good general form, though as usual free from any liberal movement, and with the exception of fractional variations now and then values undergo no change. We quote Pitch at $1.40@1.50 per bbl.; Tar at $2.12½@2.30, according to quantity, quality and delivery.

VOL. XLV. MARCH 29, 1890. No. 1,150.

To the question, What is the matter with the stock market? one can only reply by asking, What is the matter with the weather? To the last the weather man can give no more satisfactory answer than can the financial man to the query about the stock market. The opinion of the wisest goes for nothing, and the best sign is, that people have stopped asking for opinions and recognize that Pierrepont Morgan or Cornelius Vanderbilt know no more about it than the newsboy who sells out his extras. Nothing surprises anybody in Wall street anv longer; rate cutting is taken as a matter of course, tornadoes are looked upon as not belonging to anything out of the ordinary, and it is doubtful if a money scare would have much effect on the present market. All this is unnatural, and something must soon come out of it, and it will be wise to keep a little oil in the lamp to be prepared for any emergency. The recent decision of the Supreme Court discountenancing the arbitrary fixing of rates by State authorities has had a reassuring influence upon the holders of Granger stocks, in that it offers for time to come a means to the railroads to protect themselves from legislation made in the interest of the shipper only, the fear of which has been a bugbear to all the northwestern roads particularly for so many years. General business is satisfactory in volume but very unsatisfactory as to profits: even print cloths which last year were exceptionally profitable show now no margin to the manufacturer. In England business men are becoming a little uneasy, and manufacturers view with alarm the tremendous increase in the rate of wages, and particularly the price of coal, which, within the last few years, has advanced eighty per cent., while miners' wages have increased over fifty per cent. Our export trade continues good, and it is estimated that Great Britain must continue to buy largely our cotton, as her weekly consumption is about 55,500 bales per week, which for twenty-seven weeks, until the new cotton year begins, would require 1,498,500 bales, while her stock is 968,500 bales, which leaves a deficit of 530,000 bales, and if consumption should be reduced to the stock it would require the stoppage of thirty-four per cent. of the spindles of the United Kingdom of Great Britain. This fact insures good market for our cotton, unless business troubles overtake England.

So long as people have to travel in a state of compression in fetid elevated cars hanging on to straps; so long as a journey to 155th street takes about as much time as it does to go half way to Philadelphia, the rapid transit question will exist in New York. But, periodically the question becomes acute, and it seems that just now it is again entering that state. For the ninety-ninth time mutterings are heard from different quarters that "something must be done." Of course there can be no doubt of that. However, the question that should be asked is, "Why has not something been done ere this?" Anyone that will take the trouble to fully answer this question will find himself face to face with a condition of affairs the absurdity of which is without parallel in the history of municipal affairs. Supposing a German were to come to us and say, "Berlin is in a disgraceful condition—citizens cannot get from one end of the city to the other except by actually squeezing themselves into packed unhealthy cars that take twice the time that is necessary to go from one place to another. Everyone is grumbling and cursing, and the growth of the city is impeded. Ach! it is disgraceful! In no civilized part of the world has such a state of affairs ever existed;" the first thing we should probably say would be, "Then why don't you change things?" "Ah! we can't," says our German. "Why not? Haven't you got enough capital, or is it that only a small proportion of your people wish an improvement?" "No no! We have all the capital we need and more. Our bankers would furnish the money for any good scheme in twenty-four hours; and as to our people! Ah, they have all been clamoring and agitating for better transportation facilities for years." "What is it then? Haven't you got the engineering skill to carry out a good project? If that is so, come to us. We will furnish you with the engineers." "Mein friend, it is not that. Our engineers are the most learned and skillful in the world." "Eh? Well then go ahead. I can't see anything to stop you. You all want better transportation, and you have the money and the skill; why don't you do something?" "Got in Himmel, I don't know. We have been trying for fifteen good years and we find we can do absolutely nothing but talk and cry and lift our hands to heaven and ask for 'adequate facilities.'" We should probably leave our German friend at this point with a smile, wondering what sort of people the Berliners were who, needing better transportation so much and lacking neither money nor skill, were yet unable to improve their condition. The matter would appear ludicrous.

But Berlin has her elevated roads—one of the best systems of intermural transportation in the world—and it is smart enterprising New Yorkers who are on the ass's back face to tail, moving in an opposite direction to their aspirations. "We must have rapid transit," cries the sovereign people, and that is all the good it has done them in the last decade. Why? Because they have intrusted the management of their affairs to a gang of scurvy politicians of both parties who, getting their living out of "politics," make "politics" of everything. If there had been anything deserving the name of "government" at Albany, a government of serious and decent men, the rapid transit matter would have been disposed of the first session that it arose for discussion. We speak of the rapid transit "problem" as though something mysterious and recondite had to be considered; as though it were a journey to Mars instead of to the Harlem River, the financial and engineering "difficulties" of which could be settled by half a dozen competent and honest men in less than a fortnight. The fact is that competent and honest men have had very little to say in the matter. On the one side there has been a disorganized public, and on the other self-seeking lawyers, politicians and property-holders. We shall not have rapid transit until the public takes the matter entirely out of the hands of the lawyers and politicians, and having resolved honestly to compensate property-holders for all damage they may suffer, allow the interest of no individual to stand in the way of the construction of the best road or roads. "Get honest" gentlemen—the public, lawyers and politicians alike—and times will mend.

Some years ago it was the practice in many of the small retail stores to hang out the following sign: "If you do not see what you want, ask for it." New Yorkers certainly do not "see" rapid transit, and we are glad to observe that they are about finally to ask for it. The resolution passed by the Legislative Committee last Tuesday should, if anything, be stronger than it was; it should be followed up by a public meeting which will show Messrs. Fassett, Grant, Hill & Co. that, dicker as they will with ballot reform and license bills, they must accomplish something to forward rapid transit in this city. Politicians are not very impressionable people. They are perfectly well aware of their own strength and the public's weakness; and they will run counter to a great deal of talk, provided it is not backed by more tangible means of coercion. Consequently, it is well that the Legislative Committee has also recommended that a committee of one hundred representative property-owners should go to Albany and make themselves not only heard but felt. A brute can understand a blow, although impervious to argument; and our politicians have by no means delicate organizations, and need not be handled with gloves. Above all, they should be made carefully to understand that there is to be no shifting of responsibility; that if the Legislature send a bill to Governor Hill which they know he will not sign, they will not be held guiltless for the failure. At the writing it appears that the Fassett bill, with the modifications which it has undergone in Committee, will satisfy the fastidious taste of Governor Hill. Certainly it removes the objection which, by implication, he urged against the former bill, viz., that it abrogated a principle dear to his heart—that of local self-government. But the ways of politicians are as devious as their motives are apparent. The anti-Platt Republicans in the Assembly have yet to be heard from, and it is perfectly possible that, even though the bill be passed and signed, there may be a disagreement between the Senate and Governor on the personnel of the Commission. Furthermore, Mr. Platt, in giving his Honor the deciding vote on partisan matters, must be very sure that we are going to elect an anti-Tammany Mayor next fall. We are not out of the woods yet, nor will we be even when the bill is signed. Not, indeed, until the franchise is actually sold, can we afford to draw a sigh of relief. Even under the bill itself, there are so many different parties in interest to be satisfied that there will probably be a long squabble before any route is settled upon.

It is perhaps just as well that the Chapin project for a bridge over the East River has failed in the Senate Committee. There is not any question, indeed, but that new facilities are needed, and that with all convenient dispatch; but they can be more cheaply, more expeditiously provided by the building of a couple of tunnels and the strengthening of the present structure. Better terminal facilities will do much to increase the carrying capacity of the bridge; and if, in addition to the terminals, provision could be made for the running of heavier trains, it is probable that the present crush would be relieved for years to come. The bridge, however, from its situation, provides accommodation for only a certain kind of travel. It is convenient for business men with offices down town, but it is the reverse for Brooklyn people who wish to reach the upper part of New York, particularly on the west side. It can hardly be doubted that the success of the large retail stores in Brooklyn and the increase in the number of theatres are due, in part at least, to the inaccessibility of most of the New York stores and theatres; and that, consequently, it would be of the greatest benefit to our stores and theatres to have some more direct means of communication with Brooklyn. The tunnel proposed by the Long Island Railroad Company would seem to be sufficient for this purpose. Its New York terminus would be in private property near 42d street, between 10th and 11th avenues; and its route would be under 42d street, with passenger stations and elevators at 9th, 6th, and 2d avenues, and at the Grand Central Depot. A passenger could thus get off in this city within an easy distance of most points of interest and amusement. This project has already been indorsed by the Board of Commissioners of Pilots of this port, the Board of Trade and Transportation, the Maritime Association, some of the workingmen's organizations, and the Chamber of Commerce. It has an immense advantage over a bridge, in that it is less costly, more easily constructed, and does not absorb an enormous amount of private property. It would provide, undoubtedly, a less pleasant means of transit than any elevated structure would; but, if it is well lighted and ventilated, travel could be made sufferable, if not enjoyable.

The example set by the World reporter in concealing himself in the jury-room and listening to the discussion of the Flack case by the jury is an indication of the kind of nuisances these newsgatherers may in time become. Newspapers (some of them) have long since discarded the idea that their function is simply the reporting of what is going on in the four quarters of the globe; having added the supplementary office of creating news, as well as serving it up in an attractive form. Is it the addition of this function that makes reporters detectives, sends them around the globe in seventy days, leads them to feign madness and expose mad-houses, to start competitions, and in short, so far as possible, to interpoate the newspaper into the news. A journal is never satisfied to state simply that Jones has murdered Brown in such and such a way; it must also be able to show that if it had not been for the enterprising reporter the crime would never have been discovered, or the wicked Jones punished. They are not content merely to photograph, but they themselves must form a part of the picture. And this function, of course, is inseparably united with the giving of sensational news that appeals to an unhealthy craving for what is merely peculiar; and, be it added, in most cases utterly insignificant. The enterprising young man on the World has carried this a little bit farther; or, more correctly, with the same end in view, he had adopted means which place him in the same social category with the spy. He has relieved people from the responsibility of treating him as a gentleman, and has made it obligatory upon self-respecting men in many cases to kick him out of the room when he comes for information. He is becoming, in other words, the natural enemy of any one who does not wish to have his private affairs paraded before the public—an enemy, furthermore, which you cannot respect, but must treat as a thing beneath contempt or notice. It is sincerely to be hoped that there will be some legal means of punishing this young man, and that in case his eavesdropping necessitates a new trial the World can be made to pay the expenses. If it was a private affair, a sound thrashing would be the best means of punishment; unfortunately the metaphorical arms of the law are imponderable, and the worst that can be done, if, indeed, even that is possible, is to support him for a while at the city's expense.

Not long since we referred to an investigation which was to be undertaken under the direction of the Board of Trade and Transportation of this city in relation to the comparative cheapness of electric lighting by the municipality or by private corporations. The committee in charge of this investigation is ex-Judge William H. Arnoux, ex-Congressman Darwin R. James and W. J. Callanan, of whom the first is responsible for bringing the subject before the Board. The committee have already sent out some 650 circulars to different cities all over the Union requesting information as to whether their electric lighting plants are or are not run by private companies, as to the cost to the city in either case, as to the difference in cost in such as have substituted one system for the other, as to the preliminary expense of the plants, the number of deaths and fires which have resulted, and so on. The circular is well drawn up for the purpose of obtaining complete information on the subject. We understand that the City of Scranton has also instituted a similar inquiry. There can be no two opinions as to the result of such an investigation. We have recently given figures in every case where a change has been made from a private company to municipal control, and in every case the change had resulted in a considerable diminution of expense. It is very fortunate that a responsible organization like the Board of Trade and Transportation has taken up the matter, for it will thus be brought before the public in a way that may lead to the taking of some action. We have already shown that the city would save something like $70,000 a year by managing its own plant, and there is no reason why it should not do so beyond a sentimental aversion to the assumption of new functions by the public authorities.

The system of deriving revenues from a uniform tax upon real and personal property does not seem to work any better in the cities of Canada than it does in those of our own country. During the ten years 1881–90 the official returns for the City of Toronto show an increase in the assessed value of real estate for taxable purposes of $78,028,666, while taxable personal property increased only $3,263,688 in this period. The assessed value of personal property in Toronto for the present fiscal year is only about one-thirteenth, that of real personal property being valued at $9,479,988 and real estate at $122,651,244. The value of personal property in our large cities, it is now pretty generally conceded, at least equals that of real. As a matter of fact the most recent writers of authority on the subject place the value of personal estate much higher than that of real. On this basis, making all possible allowances, personal property in Toronto cannot be far below in value the real estate of that city. The actual amount of personal property in Toronto is, then, according to this way of looking at it, nearer one hundred millions of dollars than the assessed value of nine and one-half millions as officially given. In other words, over ninty millions of personal property—a conservative estimate—escape taxation during the year 1890 in the City of Toronto, Canada; throwing the weight of the burden of supporting the city government upon the real estate. Apply the same method of treatment to the assessed value of property in the City of New York, and, considering real and personal equal in value, as was done above, it will be found that a considerable amount over one billion of personal property will escape taxation during the present year, the assessed valuation of real estate in this city for the year 1890 being $1,400,000,000, that of personal property $300,000,000 estimated.

Railroads and Real Estate at the West.

It is nearly twenty years since the Granger movement sent railroad values plunging downwards, especially in the States of Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin. Similar conditions are now operating in Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas, and may possibly bring about results of a like nature. Were it not for the earlier experience, tending to make all parties more careful, we might expect exactly the same course of affairs as in the years following 1871.

A fight for "territory" has led to a great extension and multiplication of railroad lines, and this in turn has led to the unduly rapid settlement and development of lands, some of them of doubtful fertility. In a good year, however, this broad extent of cultivated land insures a mammoth crop. Such a crop of corn was harvested last year all along the border of Western cultivation. Now there are not only many farmers to get a living out of this, but many railroads. The extent of the crop depressed the price and corn in the markets of the world to an almost unprecedented point, and the question between the railroads and the farmers has been, not which shall have the larger share of the profit, but which shall bear the larger share of the loss. Excessive production of railroads has led to excessive production of corn at points so distant from markets that the heavily bonded roads and the heavily mortgaged farmers can neither of them earn their way.

In Iowa the State Board of Transportation is threatening another reduction in local rates already arbitrarily low through the action of that Board. In Nebraska the Governor and the Board of Transportation are vieing with each other to see which can threaten the railroads the loudest and so secure the most favor with the Farmers' Alliance, the counterpart of the old Grange. In Kansas the Alliance is also strong, and the people have adopted the suggestive expedient of petitioning the railroads directly for a reduction of rates. In Western Nebraska and Kansas corn is only 10 to 12 cents per bushel, and the farmers can better afford to burn it than to ship it out and ship coal in.

The roads, though they have made a nominal reduction in through rates from Nebraska, are inclined to hold out, urging that cheaper transportation would not mean higher prices at the West but lower prices in the great markets—provided the reduction did not all disappear as the corn went through the elevators and the hands of the commission merchants. Of course, when corn is burned the roads lose transportation two ways, but they will not acknowledge that this, or the rotting of corn piled on the ground, is an important factor in the situation. They also urge that it is good railroad policy to keep the rates up so that the work of transporting the crop may be distributed over the year, and not rushed upon them during the fall and winter months, leaving them comparatively idle the rest of the time.

It at first looks as though, in the assignment of losses between those who have developed too much corn land for present needs and those who have built more roads than are yet needed, that the advantage must rest with the latter. But the Granger decisions negative this view. There is no doubt that the State legislatures can knock the value out of railroad securities as fast as they please, though sometimes not in exactly the way they would prefer. Yet, while the courts put no practical check on the power of the legislature, such a check is applied by the circumstances of the case. The very people and communities who are most anxious for low rates are also most anxious for more roads. The very "cities" whose Boards of Trade and Real Estate Exchanges are agitating for lower rates are also offering every inducement they can command to get new railroads to enter the field. The broader view, which shows that too many railroads are an incubus upon the community that must support them, is ignored in the sharp rivalry of the real estate boomers of localities competing for trade and immigrants.

Just at present the general railroad situation is favorable to new extensions over the very territory where the people are most irritated regarding the rates on existing roads. For a time the various systems seemed willing to divide the trans-Missouri territory between themselves, but this policy, always bad to maintain, has been completely abandoned. The pool-prohibiting clause of the Interstate Commerce act has also tended to promote not only competition in rates but competition in the building of new roads. When a pool from Omaha to Chicago gave each of the competing roads a definite share of the traffic delivered at the former point by the U. P. there was no reason for hostile building into U. P. territory. But now this road makes close alliance with the Chicago & North Western, so that all its through traffic is delivered to the latter, and it is necessary for a competitor of the C. & N. W. to build West in order to get its share of the trans-Missouri traffic. This the Rock Island is now doing, and other roads may be compelled to follow its example.

A movement for the repeal or modification of the long and short haul clause of the Interstate Commerce act is being made, but with how much sincerity or what prospects of success it is hard to say. The local effect at the West of this clause has been to slightly decentralize the jobbing trade and to encourage a large number of minor places since the former violent discriminations in favor of certain cities have pretty certainly been checked. Chicago has no cause to favor the retention of this clause. It is possible that its repeal would benefit the producers at the extreme West and the consumers at the extreme East, but owners of agricultural land east of the Mississippi can only wish to see it retained.

As to the equities between the railroads and the Farmers' Alliance it can be said, in addition to the obvious considerations urged by each side, that most of the roads west of the Missouri have been built since the Granger decisions and that the investors knew or might have known the full extent of their liability to State interference.

Our Letter Bag—Unearned Increment in New York City.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

I have lately become much interested in the theories of Henry George, and I confess that I am somewhat more than half convinced—in spite of my personal interests—that private ownership of land, however strongly it may be founded on precedent, is theoretically without moral justification. Mark, I say, "theoretically," for though I own a little property in the classi neighborhood of Sullivan street, I cannot detect, even with the most scrupulous introspection, anything of the bloated landlord in my composition, and in my bank account, to my sorrow, I cannot discover anything that can be traced to the "unearned increment." I know my property would not sell to-day for as much as I gave for it in a moment of financial enthusiasm ten years ago, and the only thing "unearned" is the sum I am minus of the interest I would have received had I invested my capital in my own business. My experience, of course, is not the experience of all who invest in real estate, and though I have obtained none of the "increment," earned or otherwise, others, no doubt, have been more fortunate. Can you give me an idea of how much this "unearned increments" on property in this city is yearly? JAMES FERGUSON.

Our correspondent's question is interesting, but it is a hard one to answer; indeed at best only approximately can it be answered. The principal factors necessary for a calculation can be obtained, and these we give below, leaving it to our correspondent to work out the sum to a final result.

So as to get an "average" more or less free from error, we will deal with figures covering a term of nine years, from and including 1881 to and including 1889. During this period the assessed value of real estate in the city of New York increased from $976,000,000, to $1,400,000,000, or in round figures $424,000,000, a sum which, taking the assessed value to represent two-thirds of the true value, is $141,000,000 too small. On a two-thirds basis the actual increase in these nine years was $565,000,000.

Now, this would represent the "unearned increment" if the real estate valued was in exactly the same state at the end of the nine years as at the beginning. Of course as a matter of fact it was not. Far from it. During the nine years hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of new buildings had been erected which increased the valuation, and tens of millions of dollars' worth of improvements and alterations had been made to old structures. Clearly the cost of these must be deducted from the total of the increased valuation.

In the nine years 1880–'89 plans were filed at the Building Department for new buildings estimated to cost in the aggregate $417,000,000. But of these perhaps as much as 15 per cent. were never carried out, which leaves a total for work actually done of $355,000,000. To this must be added the cost of alterations, which equals about 10 per cent. of the cost of the new work or about $42,000,000, of which certainly not more than 5 per cent. is not carried out, so that it is safe to say that the value of building of all kinds done in New York during the nine years in question was not much if any less than $400,000,000. Deduct this from the increase in the value of real estate ($565,000,000), and we have $165,000,000 for "unearned increment."

But is all this "unearned increment?" Let us see. Clearly, in the case of unimproved property it is not. For instance, A owned a vacant lot assesed at $10,000. This was in 1881. In 1889 the assesor making his yearly pilgrimage estimates the value of the same property for the purposes of taxation at $20,000. We cannot say, then, that the unearned increment in this case is $10,000; for against the increase in value we must set the interest of the capital invested in the lot by A, and the yearly taxes and the assessments for improvements which he has had to pay—charges which very rapidly whittle down any profit.

Contrary to what Mr. George preaches, the owner of improved property is much more favorably situated for appropriating any "unearned" profits. Take again the case of A, who instead of buying a vacant lot has this time invested his money in a flat, which the assessors value at $20,000. Nine years later the assessors' arithmetic makes the value of the property $30,000. A larger part of this increase will be "unearned increment, because when A fixed his rent he did what owners usually do—he made it sufficiently large to include interest, taxes, expenses, bad debts, etc. But even in his case from any increase in valuation there must be deducted something for "deterioration;" and by this is meant not the deterioration that is the result of wear and tear, but the deterioration in style and appointments that every year causes the demolition of buildings thoroughly sound so far as construction is concerned, but "old-fashioned" and without the necessary "modern improvement." No attention or repairing will save a building from this sort of deterioration, which is slow or fast according to circumstances and against which owners do not protect themselves.

To what extent these circumstances will reduce the $165,000,000, which in the calculation above was left over for unearned increment it is impossible to say. Beyond all doubt very materially, so that only a small portion will be left to represent what is "unearned." But having put the calculation in this form, we turn it over to our correspondent.

Investments—Good and Bad.

ATLANTIC & PACIFIC 4s.—The value of the Atlantic & Pacific 4s depends wholly upon the will and the ability of the Atchison and St. Louis & San Francisco Companies which guarantees them to meet their engagements. The Atlantic & Pacific depending almost entirely upon through traffic has not been able to meet its own fixed charges, but has been supported as a paying business-gatherer by the two allied companies, which own a majority of its stock, and guarantee its 4 per cent. bonds, and also its 6 per cent. seconds, besides standing behind its important contract engagements, notably that by which it acquired the Mojave Division of the Southern Pacific in 1884. Moreover they allow the Atlantic & Pacific a rebate of 25 per cent. of the gross revenue of business received by them from it to meet deficiences of interest, such advances to be treated as loans repayable with interest. On December 31, 1888, the amount due the Atchison & San Francisco Companies by the Atlantic & Pacific for interest loans and rebates was $6,205,864. These advances are secured for the most part, if not entirely by portions of the Atlantic & Pacific land grant. At the close of 1888, 5,302,000 acres of this land were in the hands of trustees for that purpose, and other similar transfers have been made since. In 1888, Atlantic & Pacific gross earnings amounted to $2,986,232, and failed of meeting operating expenses and taxes by $64,316. In 1889, gross traffic earnings were, $2,634,860, a falling off of $351,372 compared with the previous year, and unless operating expenses were very considerably reduced the financial statement for last year will make a still worse showing than its predecessor. Earnings for the current year are not more satisfactory as far as reported. From January 1 to the middle of March of this year, gross earnings were $591,684 as compared with $619,620 in the same time in 1889, a decline of $27,936. The latest reports, however, show some improvement, the return for the second week in March being $57,535 as compared with $50,731 in the same week of 1889, and for the third week of March $61,182 against $44,575, $16,607 gain, a considerable improvement, which if maintained would change the aspect of affairs very much. But, as before remarked, it is not expected that Atlantic & Pacific will meet its fixed charges from its own earnings, and hence it is more important to see how the guaranteeing companies are able to meet their engagements towards it. The Atlantic & Pacific 4 per cent. bonds were issued in 1887 to take up outstanding 6 per cent. bonds and very promptly accepted therefor on account of the guarantee of two large companies, whose securities were all then selling at good prices. According to the circular issued at that time to the holders of the 6s the agreement under which the exchange was made proposed "that the Atlantic & Pacific Company shall issue its 4 per cent. fifty-year bonds to be used in exchange, bond for bond, for its present 6 per cent. bonds, the principal and interest of such new 4 per cent. bonds to be guaranteed by endorsement by the Atchison and San Francisco companies severally, but not jointly, one-half by each. The 6 per cent. bonds will be deposited as received with the Mercantile Trust Company of New York, trustee, to be held by it as security for the payment of the principal and interest of the guaranteed 4 per cent. bonds." The United States held $5,000,000 of the 6 per cent. bonds, which promptly assented to the agreement. The total amount of 4 per cent. bonds authorized was $20,000,000, and they have a life of fifty years from January 1, 1887; there are $17,562,000 outstanding and listed on the New York Stock Exchange. In 1888 the Atlantic & Pacific Company issued $5,600,000 second mortgage 6 per cent. bonds, of which one-half was paid to the Atchison and San Francisco companies, each on account of advances of money from time to time made by them. Making a calculation from subsequent statements it would appear that these bonds were received by the Atchison and San Francisco companies at 75 and sold for 90, by which each company made a profit of $420,000. The bonds were offered for subscription to the public at 91½. Now let us see the financial position of the guaranteeing companies, only saying in passing that the Atlantic & Pacific has, besides its 815 miles of road, some eight or nine millions of acres of land, large equipment, etc. We will take, first, the Atchison. This company is about completing a reorganization which it was officially estimated would make the fixed charges, including taxes and rentals, $7,352,390 per annum. The gross earnings for the year 1889 were $28,136,456 against $26,467,357 for 1888, an increase of $1,669,099; net earnings for 1889 were $8,163,380 as compared with $6,269,796 in 1888, an increase of $1,893,584. The net earnings for 1889 were $810,990 more than the estimated amount of fixed charges under the reorganization, which may of course be increased by modifications which may have had to be made in the plan; but these, if any, are not likely to have been important. Reports so far made for this year continue the improvement of earnings. In January last Atchison earned gross $2,279,162 and net $682,356 as against $1,975,175 gross and $387,914 net in January, 1889. Gross earnings for this year up to and including the second week in March were $4,984,476 as compared with $4,146,992 in the same time in 1889. Under the plan of reorganization $22,476,000 of the new Atchison 4s were set apart for dealing with certain classes of securities not included in the general reorganization, among them the Atlantic & Pacific 4s and second 6s. With a part of its own 4s, the Atchison Company has recently purchased $2,800,000 second 6s, buying back at practically 87½, a block of bonds it had previously received 90 for, and in effect reducing its own obligation upon those bonds by 2 per cent. per annum, it having already guaranteed interest and principal upon one-half the total issue of $5,600,000. The importance of this purchase to the holder of Atlantic & Pacific 4s is very great and lies in the value Atchison sets upon the property when it is willing to secure to itself control through a junior security. In this connection Vice-President Reinhart of the Atchison is quoted as saying: "The loss of the Atlantic & Pacific to the Atchison would be irreparable as it would involve as well its California properties, and would cut off entirely all the Pacific Coast business, which, as is well understood, is carried over the entire main line of the Atchison road." So far it would appear that the Atchison part of the guarantee of the Atlantic & Pacific 4s is well assured. The remaining part lies with the San Francisco Company. During the period which proved so disastrous to Atchison, and since the stock issues of the St. Louis & San Francisco Company have seen very heavy declines, the first preferred, which paid 3½ per cent. half-yearly, is quoted at about 88, and its preferred, which now pays no dividends, at about 38. In 1888 the dividend of 5 per cent. paid on the first preferred stock was not all earned, but was mostly paid out of profits from the sale of securities. In 1889, gross earnings were $6,080,199 and net $2,823,029 as compared with $5,773,251 gross and $2,417,636 net in 1888. If we take income from investments, etc., and charges against income to have been the same as last year we would have about the following results: Net earnings, $2,823,029, less taxes and improvements about $300,000, $2,523,029; add other income, $524,000, total net income, $3,047,029; payments of interest on bonds, sinking funds, rentals, other interest, etc., $2,382,157, leaving for stock $665,072; deduct 7 per cent. on first preferred stock, $315,000, balance $350,000, or 3½ per cent. on the preferred stock—$50,000 more than the amount actually paid. This estimate will be affected to the extent that the figures for 1888, used in the foregoing calculation, vary from the amounts actually paid in 1889. The San Francisco passed the dividend on the preferred stock in January last, and the official announcement stated that no dividend would be paid, because net traffic earnings were not equal to it, and the directors were averse to continuing payments of dividends from sale of securities in its treasury. This action was generally accepted as conservative and proper, but it makes it unlikely that the amount of income outside of traffic would have been sustained at the same rate as in 1888. The first preferred stock of the company received a 2 per cent. dividend in February. Enough has been given, however, to show reasonable ground for believing that the San Francisco Company is able to sustain its part of the guarantee of the Atlantic & Pacific 4s, upon which interest has been regularly paid. In February of last year these bonds sold at 83, in October at 68½, and are now quoted in the neighborhood of 74. Sympathy with Atchison securities was the main cause of the decline, and a better knowledge of the real facts the reason for the considerable rally the Atlantic & Pacific 4s have enjoyed.

The executors of the late Moses Taylor and L. C. Hamersley continue to make loans on improved property at 5 per cent. or less interest. This week the Taylor estate loaned $30,000 on a St. Mark's place flat, and the Hamersley estate advanced $21,000 on a flat on East 105th street.

Real Estate Exchange Matters.

COMMITTEE ON LEGISLATION.

The weekly meeting of the above committee took place on Tuesday. Constant A. Andrews in the chair. Among others present were Charles A. Schermerhorn, Richard V. Harnett, George De Forrest Barton, Henry Wilson, Frank R. Houghton, James E. Leviness, Alfred E. Marling, George S. Lespinasse, Sinclair Myers, Richard Deeves, W. H. Folsom, Edward T. Young and Louis F. Boyes.

The principal business was the reception and adoption of the following report, made through Chairman Richard V. Harnett, of the Sub-committee on Rapid Transit:

WHEREAS, the failure of the Legislature thus far to act on the subject of rapid transit is viewed with deep concern by members of the Real Estate Exchange of this city, the legislative session is nearing its close and still the proposed measure for providing rapid transit for this great city slumbers in the Railroad Committees; and

WHEREAS, the rapid growth of this city in its wealth and population, with the corresponding increase in trade and travel, have so crowded its thoroughfares and overburdened the means of transportation that there is an imperative and universal demand for relief. His Excellency the Governor, last year, in a special message to the Assembly on this subject, said: "The necessity of providing some relief for New York City in the matter of rapid transit is the pressing question of the hour. The importance of the subject cannot be overestimated. Every citizen of that city understands and appreciates the situation, and is looking to the Legislature for prompt and wise action. It is the greatest city on the continent, but its prosperity, progress and development are hampered and restricted by insufficient and inadequate means of travel. The problem of rapid transit cannot be solved without legislative action. Mere inaction is a denial of relief, and the citizens of New York without distinction of party ask the Legislature not to refuse them the required legislation."

Resolved, That the Real Estate Exchange of the city of New York earnestly and respectfully urges the Legislature to act promptly upon the rapid transit question by passing an act which shall confer the power to select some method which shall give the needed relief.

Resolved, That the committee recommends that the president of the Exchange be requested to call a meeting of all the members of this Exchange forthwith to indorse a memorial in accordance with the report of this committee, and to appoint a committee consisting of not less than one hundred members of the Exchange to proceed to Albany and present the same to the Legislature and urge immediate action; and that the president of the Exchange shall be ex-officio chairman of such delegated committee.

After being adopted, it was resolved that the report be sent to the Board of Directors for them to take action thereon.

The Sub-Committee on City Improvements reported as to Senate bill No. 480, with regard to the proposed park in the 12th Ward, that so far as they could ascertain none of the gentlemen named in the bill had been consulted, nor did they know anything of its scope. It was believed that some of them would not serve, and that its real intention was to carry out the High Bridge Park, one-half at the expense of the 12th Ward and one-half at the expense of the city taxpayers. On motion, it was resolved that a letter be written by the Secretary of the Exchange to Senator Stewart, by whom the bill was introduced, requesting to know what the bill is for, and to protest against its passage in its present form.

Several bills were referred to sub-committees, to be reported upon later.

On motion of Mr. Harnett, Chas. A. Schermerhorn was appointed a member of the Sub-Committee on Pending Legislation. The meeting then adjourned.

EXCHANGE RAPID TRANSIT MEETING.

The Real Estate Exchange has issued the following important circular to all the members. The document is signed by the president, Geo. H. Scott:

THE REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE AND AUCTION ROOM, LIMITED.

NEW YORK, March 27th, 1890.

Dear Sir: At the request of the Legislative Committee, it has been decided to call a meeting of all the members of this Exchange to consider the subject of Rapid Transit, and to indorse a memorial to the Legislature calling for immediate action thereon, and to appoint a committee of one hundred members to appear before the Legislature at Albany to present the memorial.

This meeting will be held on the floor of the Exchange, 59 to 65 Liberty street, on Monday, 31st inst., at 1 o'clock, P.M., at which meeting your presence is urgently requested. Yours respectfully,

GEO. H. SCOTT, President.

Real Estate as Collateral Security.

[COMMUNICATED.]

Everyone knows that in the last few years the title-guarantee system has made real estate almost as transferable as a railroad share; but not everyone—even among property-owners—knows that by means of this system real estate has become a ready collateral security so that the Holland Trust Co. discounts promissory notes without indorsement, provided they are secured by a first bond and mortgage on New York or Brooklyn property, the title of which is guaranteed by either the Lawyers' Title Insurance Co. or the Title Guarantee and Trust Co. The money is loaned by the Holland Trust Co. practically at sight, at small cost for drafting and recording the assignment of bond and mortgage and for appraisal, if the latter be necessary. This has proved a great boon to real estate owners, and doubtless will increase the attractiveness to merchants of real property as a form of investment.

A movement is on foot to improve a plot of two lots on the southeast corner of 59th street and 5th avenue by the erection of a fine building, to be used as a United Club building, at a cost of about $280,000. An option for two months has been secured on the land at $220,000. A building organization, to be called the United Club Building Co., will be formed to carry out the plan. Messrs. George W. Van Siclen, Robert B. Roosevelt and George M. Van Hoesen will act as managers for the first two years. The plot to be improved was sold recently at $200,000, and at the Stevenson estate sale in February, 1886, it brought $130,100 under the hammer.

An Architectural Success—"The Fifth Avenue."

The most notable addition to the apartment house architecture of the east side, made during the past year, is the "Fifth Avenue," southeast corner of 85th street and 5th avenue.

The building is six stories high and 52.6x100 in size. The materials used are Dorchester stone, mottled brick and an imported buff brick from Leeds, England.

The architect, Mr. Frank Wennemer, has succeeded in presenting a building that is handsome and imposing outside and convenient and comfortable within.

The elevation is divided into four sections, the first story and basement, the second and third story, the fourth and fifth story, and finally the sixth story.

"THE FIFTH AVENUE," SOUTHEAST CORNER OF FIFTH AVENUE AND EIGHTY-FIFTH STREET.

The divisions are marked above the first and third stories by a stone cornice and above the fifth story by a sort of half brick half stone cornice, which evidently suffered from a strong desire on the part of the builder to economize.

The basement front is of rock-hewn Dorchester stone, in color very like the Euclid stone. The first story has mainly a buff brick front, the windows being trimmed and connected one with another by band courses of Dorchester. The doorway is situated in a projection which stands out some little distance from the building. This projection is perhaps the most striking feature of the building, and adds much to the general attractiveness of the front, being entirely of the light stone, from street to roof. The doorway in the centre of the building, with two windows on each side, is without doubt the handsomest and most carefully finished part of the building. In height and width it is of generous proportions, and every detail in its construction has been carefully attended to. A handsome transom is presented over the doorway. Set in finely carved mahogany is a brilliant picture which looks to the uninitiated like stained glass. In realty the picture is printed on a gelatine sheet and laid between two panes of glass, the effect being more pronounced and the coloring more decided than in the stained glass. These colored panes are to be found on every floor lighting the stairway, which looks out upon the street from the projection already alluded to.

The windows on the second floor are square openings, differing in this respect from those below. Over the two sets of windows in the front the architect has placed carved blocks of stone, which relieve the brick front very nicely. These windows, like those below, are connected by band courses of Dorchester stone. The side windows on this floor, however, suffer considerably from a neglect of the architect's evident design. The courses which connect the upper parts of the windows are of mottled brick instead of harmonizing with the front by a continuation of the stone treatment. The stone cornice over the third story is advantageously situated, breaking the front very nicely. Above the first story all the windows are alike in that they are square, but the architect has made on each floor the decoration and general treatment a little different from that of the windows on the floor beneath.

Altogether the front elevation, although not overburdened with decoration, is striking and effective, and if the architect's design had been pursued of having stone courses in the place of the cheaper brick the gable end would be all that could be desired. As it is the building is a successful solving of large apartment house architecture, a credit to its architect, Mr. Wennemer, and an ornament to its 5th avenue location.

The interior is no less successful than the exterior. The outside apartment Mr. Wennemer has divided into eleven rooms—reception-room, parlor, library, four bedrooms, combination dressing and bathroom, dining-room, kitchen and servants' room, besides which there is a good-sized butler's pantry and numerous dressers and large closets. These rooms are all accessible from a private hall. The interior decoration is not what it should be, and it is evident that this work was not under Mr. Wennemer's supervision. If it had been we are sure that the general effect would have been more harmonious and artistic. In the front of the house is a marble stairway and a commodious passenger elevator. The place of the servants' stairway is supplied by an elevator for the delivery of freight and the carrying of the servants. The inside apartment is similar to that on the outside except that it has one bedroom less, its place being supplied by a store-room. The outer half of the floor is lighted by fourteen windows, and the inside by thirteen windows, giving every room direct communication with the outer light and air.

This building is but one of many houses in the same neighborhood that is deserving of careful attention. The district east of the park between 72d and 110th street probably suffered more than any other part of the city in consequence of the west side boom. For years builders and capitalists looking for a reliable investment on the growing Manhattan Island had always followed the east side for that purpose, and so before any extensive operations were commenced west of the park the east side of the city north of 59th street had become pretty well developed. When some pioneers had made money in the unimproved district, that has now been so persistently and steadily boomed for some years, and the great crowd of speculators had changed their base of operations from one side of the city to the other, the east side became the scene of a mild sort of depression. Not for long, however, for the increasing popluation and some advantages which the east side possessed over her occidental rival began to have their effect on values, and those houses which had been going lower and lower, a very little at a time began to look up.

Mr. Wennemer has done as much for the district under consideration as any one man. In fact, nearly all the houses for which he has drawn plans are in this section, and they include every class of building, dwelling houses, factories flat houses and apartment houses, and it can be safely asserted that every house erected under his supervision and in accordance with his plans have given entire satisfaction to both owners and tenants. ARGUS.

Jersey City News.

The spring has opened with considerable strength in the real estate market for all kinds of property, and rents are held well at last year's prices, with occasional advances.

Building Inspector Clark thinks this will be a good building year. All the builders and architects who have come to his office to file plans say they already have their hands full of work. Building is commencing early and the season has already set in.

Among the improvements just decided upon, to be undertaken this spring and summer, are the following:

Dr. H. G. Bidwell is having plans prepared by G. W. La Baw for a handsome three-story and basement residence, of brick and stone, 24x58 in size, to be built on Madison and Bramhall avenues. It is to have various improvements and will cost about $14,000.

G. W. Helme, of Helmetta, N. J., has decided to proceed at once with the erection of the row of houses to which reference was made in THE RECORD AND GUIDE on the 15th inst. Plans have already been make for three by G. L. Bettcher, and he has now received orders to go ahead with fifteen more. They will be three-story and basement houses, with cabinet trim and modern improvements. The fronts are to be of pressed brick, with light and red sandstone and terra cotta trimmings. They will have frontages of rom 16.6 to 20 feet and will be about 45 feet in depth. Each house will be of different design, and they will cover a frontage of 280 feet on Madison avenue, between Bramhall and Clinton avenues, their cost being estimated, at upwards of $100,000.

J. H. Sheridan will build a five-story brick and stone front flat, 25x70, on Grove street, near 12th street, to cost $12,000, from plans by G. L. Bettcher. The same architect has plans for a two-story and cellar frame dwelling, 20x48, to be built by John Bautler, on Wiley street, near Tonnelle avenue, to cost $3,000; two similar dwellings, 20x35 each, for Wm. Taylor, to be built on Emory street, near Bergen avenue, to cost $6,400 together, and a Queen Anne cottage, 20x52, to be built by Wm. Fredericks on Forest street, near Bergen avenue, at a cost of $4,500.

L. H. Broome has plans on the boards for a three-story brick and stone front flat and store, 25x50, to be built by Dr. James Wilkinson, on the corner of Virginia and Jackson avenues, at an estimated cost of $9,500. The store and basement have already been leased by Lyons & Ziegler, the wholesale and retail druggists, from September 1, when the building is to be completed.

G. W. La Baw is the architect for five two-story and attic frame dwellings, 20x50 each, to be built by a Mr. Marsh, on Howard place, near Summit avenue, at a total cost of $12,500. He also has plans for a two-story and attic dwelling, 19x54, to be built for S. H. Beach, on Montgomery street, between Bergen and West Side avenues, at a cost of $2,800.

O. P. Vreeland will build a two-story and attic frame house, 32x25, and extension, on Garfield avenue, near Greenville avenue, from plans by L, H. Broome. Estimated cost, $9,000.

Among sales which have taken place during the past few days are the following by Broker Frank Stevens: The three-story and cellar brick house, No. 85 Mercer street, 16.8x50x100, sold for L. S. Elmer of Washington, D. C., to M. Craven for $7,500; the three-story brown stone front house, No. 65 Sussex street, 25x40x100, sold for Mrs. H. A. Welsh of Boston, to P. Schroeder for $7,000, and the two story and cellar mansard roof house, No, 8 Magnolia avenue, 21x36, lot 25x100, sold for Earle Insley to M. D. Strickland for $3,550.

The following are the most important among the plans recently filed with the Building Inspector:

One four-story brick tenement, 25x50, corner of 13th and Erie streets, for Dennis Egan, to cost $8,000. One two-and-a-half-story frame dwelling, 22x38, Baldwin avenue and Montgomery, for Mrs. L. Haines, cost $3,600. One two-story frame tenement, 24x50, at No. 222 Railroad avenue, for Ellen Spangerberg, cost $4,500. One two-story dwelling, 22x46, Ogden avenue, near Liberty street, for Adam Zahn, cost $3,035. Three two-story frame dwellings, 18x30 each, corner of Milton avenue and Bowers street, for Henry Stuhr, $4,500. One three-story frame tenement, 22x42, at 211 Hancock avenue, for Wm. F. Stack, cost $3,500. One two-story frame dwelling, 22x32, Sherman avenue, near North street, for A. L. Hasse, cost $2,785. One two-and-a-half-story frame dwelling, 21x26, at 298 Magnolia avenue, for John H. Blauvelt, cost $2,462. Two two-story frame dwellings, 34x52, Pavonia avenue, near Chestnut avenue, for Thos. E. Bray, $5,600. One three-story frame dwelling, 22x40, Academy street, near Summit avenue, for Mary E. Price, cost $2,800. Three three-and-a half-story brick dwellings, 16.8x50 each, Madison avenue, near Bramhall avenue, for Geo. W. Helme, cost $16,500 together. One three-story brick tenement, 25 and 42x50, corner of Jackson and Virginia avenues, for Jas. Wilkinson, cost $9,500. One two-story frame dwelling, 20x40, Danforth avenue, near Avenue E, for Wm. J. Bancker, cost $3,000. Two four-story brick tenements, 25x54 each, at 48 and 50 Bright street, for Lewis & Tremble, cost $16,500.

Real Estate Notes.

The blocks east of the "L" road, as it turns into 8th avenue below Morningside Park, present a very picturesque appearance. The truck gardeners who lease these properties add very materially to the looks of the land by the order in which they lay out and maintain their vegetable beds, etc.

There is much said in praise of the new stores and warehouses recently erected in the 15th Ward, west of Broadway. Two structure which are particularly pleasing to passers-by are the buildings on the southwest corner of 3d and Mercer streets and the southeast corner of Washington place and Greene streets. The material used is varied but very pleasant to look upon, and one cannot help feeling impressed by the substantial construction everywhere visible.

We learn that John Mayer, of Mahway, N. J., is a son-in-law of Theodore Havemeyer, of the same place. Mr. M., it will be remembered, recently took title to the block front on the easterly side of Church street, between Cortlandt and Dey streets, for which something like $400,000 was paid, and last week the southwest corner of Liberty and Greenwich streets was transferred to him at $168,000. Another Havemeyer (Chas. F.) a couple of weeks ago became the owner of a tenement on the southwest corner of Cortlandt and Washington streets, for which he paid $100,000.

The Board of Street Openings has authorized the opening of Audubon avenue, from 165th to 175th street, and 168th street from 10th to Audubon avenue.

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment has refused to authorize the Board of Education to purchase a plot of five lots on the southwest corner of Park avenue and 59th street as a site for a new building for the offices of the Board.

Mr. Theodore Havemeyer owns about 2,700 acres of land at Mahway, which cost him about $100 an acre. We understand he is laying out a beautiful park and that altogether he will spend something like $2,000,000 in improvements. The latter will include the building of a number of handsome cottages, on the erection of some of which $15,000 will be expended. Mr. Darling of the Fifth Avenue Hotel, is a neighbor of Mr. Havemeyer, and he, too, is making extensive improvements. In the way of trains it is said that about sixty a day pass to and from Mahway.

Builder Bernard Wilson improved the westerly front on West End avenue, between 89th and 90th streets, and failed about the time the houses were completed. Mr. Wilson was a pioneer in the section referred to, but his ill-luck has not deterred other builders from operating in the same district, for at the present time block after block and row after row of houses have gone up and are being erected near the Wilson block. There are about five of the Wilson houses still unsold.

"Owning tenement property is not all it is cracked up to be," said an east side tailor to the writer the other day. It transpired he had recently purchased an improved tenement with store, paying therfor a big figure. A large rent-roll influenced the purchase, and when the tailor went to make collections the rental stated failed to materialize. For example, the store was leased for five years at $100 per month. A portion of the first month's rent was collected after many calls, and shortly after the owner had a store "To let."

"I will build to suit a good tenant," said Oscar Hammerstein, proprietor of the Harlem Opera House, the other day. He referred to the improvement of two lots which he has just leased for twenty-one years at an annual ground rental of $2,500, and taxes. The lots are on the north side of 125th street, opposite the new theatre Mr. Hammerstein is building.

A Talk on Rapid Transit.

SUGGESTION BY A GRAND STREET MERCHANT.

Isaac Lichtenstein, of the firm of J. Lichtenstein & Sons, of Grand street, was called upon by a reporter of THE RECORD AND GUIDE to obtain his views on rapid transit. He said:

"The people of this city must have better rapid transit facilities, especially on the west side and north of 125th street, as far as Kingsbridge and even beyond. Take Washington Heights and the territory to the north of it for instance. There is a section which is high and healthy, and which ought to hold the residences of thousands of people, but it is sparsely built upon, because people cannot get from and to it quickly."

"How many people do you employ, and how many live out of town?" asked the reporter.

"Between 700 and 800 people, and of these I should judge about fifty live out of town—some in Brooklyn, others in Newark and Morristown, N. J., and others in Mount Vernon, Yonkers and other parts of Westchester County. But nearly all these, if not every one of them, would prefer to live in New York instead of being at such a distance from their work, if they could get quick transit to the northern parts of New York, Yonkers and other places near the city boundary line. I am strongly in favor of the calling of a public meeting of our principal citizens and of their passing resolutions imperatively calling upon the Legislature, both Senate and Assembly, not to adjourn without passing some measure of rapid transit. I do not care anything about parties. The people of New York City, I am convinced, do not want to make this a party question, and if the Legislature adjourns without taking any definite action on this important question, the voters will have to make a test question of it at the next elections, so that that no man shall be sent to Albany who is not pledged to pass some measure which will give us relief. The storekeepers, the merchants and men in all branches are losing business through our inadequate rapid facilities, which are driving people to live in Brooklyn, New Jersey and other neighboring places."

Real Estate Department.

This has been a good week in real estate circles. The properties offered on 'Change have in the main sold well, and in one or two instances more than well, while at private sale some important parcels have changed hands. The auction sales bulletined for next week are quite numerous, as will be seen from the announcements below.

On Monday the sales, with one exception, were all under foreclosure proceedings. The most important of the latter was the entire front on the east side of St. Nicholas avenue, between and on 118th and 119th streets, with ten five-story brick flats thereon, the property being sold to Andrew T. Judge at $306,100, the first bid having been $306,000. These flats, it will be remembered, were built by George E. Beaudet, and the amount due on them, under the foreclosure suit, was $74,059, with interest from December, 1888. The suit was undertaken by the Washington Life Insurance Company. There are other encumbrances on the property, the total amount of which has not transpired.

On Tuesday what is known as "public auction" sales preponderated, the foreclosures being few and for the most part adjourned. One of the most interesting sales was that of the five lots on the northeast corner of Riverside Drive and 106th street, to Edward J. Woolley at $84,500. They are situated in one of the most improving sections of the Drive, and reference to the files of THE RECORD AND GUIDE shows that they cost the owner, Richard S. Grant, considerably less. He purchased the frontage of 100 feet on the avenue, with 25 feet on the street, on March 15, 1888, for $25,000, the lot on the street adjoining on July 14, 1886, for $10,000, and the other three lots, with a number of other parcels on January 14, 1878, at a rate which would give an average cost of about $1,000 each. There is considerable rock on the property. Four lots on the north side of 106th street, 100 feet west of West End avenue, and near the above named lots, went to Joseph Warren at $5,100 each. Three four-story flats at Nos. 257 to 261 West 128th street, 27.11½, 39.11½ and 40¼ feet in frontage, respectively, were bought by Benj. Stern for $84,000. Dealer Timothy Donovon, who rarely allows a week pass by without securing something, invested in No. 226 West 121st street, an 18-foot flat, at $18,700; three lots on 107th street, 100 feet west of 10th avenue, went to G. M. Gillies at $5,400 each, and two on the southwest corner of West End avenue and 107th street to Walker & Lawson, the builders, for $12,000 and $7,200 each, the former for the corner, which is 25.11x100. J. M. Lichtenauer and Chas. B. Curtis secured seven lots between them on 111th street, east of 11th avenue, the former paying $4,050 each for three and the latter $4,000 each for four. Mr. Lichtenauer also bought two at $4,500 each on 112th street in the rear of the others. Arthur P. Hilton, a New York lawyer who resides in Brooklyn; J. D. Cooper, Jr., Capt. Ben. P. Fairchild, Wm. R. Bracken, the plumber, and others, obtained lots on the Bronx River road and on 4th avenue, near 1st street, 24th Ward, for from $135 to $365 each, which shows that lots can be bought more cheaply in New York City than they can in many Brooklyn and New Jersey suburban districts, and that with good rapid transit access many people could remain in New York City proper without being forced over the East or North Rivers.

On Wednesday one or two rather important parcels were offered, the largest of these was the five-story brick office buildings at Nos. 48 and 50 Maiden lane, east of Nassau street, running through to and including Nos. 33 and 35 Liberty street, the ground being 47.10x110.4x48.4x118.8 in size. The property rents for about $24,000, and was sold to Richard H. Cudlipp for $283,000. A reference to the files of THE RECORD AND GUIDE shows that this property was sold to August Heckscher on June 1, 1888, at $262,856. We are informed that the property was held by the latter at $310,000. No. 462 Grand street and No. 5 Pitt street, being the northwest corner, containing four and five-story brick buildings, on a lot 25x100, went to Henry Roeder at $42,750; only two weeks ago this corner changed hands at $41,750. Alexander Bros. purchased No. 9 West 4th street, adjoining the northeast corner of Mercer street, a two-story brick building on a lot 20x80, for the extraordinary figure of $40,000. The corner itself, which is the same size, with a four-story brick store and tenement thereon, only brought $37,000 on April 23, 1889. No. 9 was conveyed to the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company on May 18, 1874, at a nominal consideration, or it would have been interesting to compare the price of 1874 with that of 1890. While on this point it may be worth stating that a search at the Register's Office shows that the northwest corner of Mercer and West 4th streets sold to Geo. Barclay on April 25, 1848, at $9,000. No. 19 West 4th street, 25.9x75, sold on February 25, 1845, to Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt for $5,500; No. 17 sold to Geo. Barclay on February 28, 1845, lot 25.9x75, for $11,500. Other sales on Wednesday included the three-story house at No. 121 West 44th street, lot 16.8x100.4, which went to J. W. Walsh at $18,350; No. 281 Bleecker street, on the northeast corner of Jones street, with a three-story front house and a two-story rear, lot 25x75, was purchased by Hugh Slevin at $27,100; the southeast corner of 9th avenue and 103d street, three five-story flats, lots 25x80, were sold to Wm. J. Fanning and W. J. Light, the former having bid for the corner $39,167, and the latter $24,364 for each of the two adjoining houses.

On Thursday the sales were, on the whole, unimportant. W. Jacobs bid in Nos. 190 to 194 Waverley place, near 10th street, three five-story flats, 25x75 each, one for $26,900 and two for $26,750 each. These flats were transferred a few weeks ago at $85,000. M. A. C. Levy secured No. 332 Lexington avenue, corner of 39th street, a four-story house, lot 20x75, for $33,500. Quite a little interest centered in the Astor leasehold at Nos. 240 and 224 1st avenue, on the northeast corner of 14th street. School Commissioner and Lawyer Randolph Guggenheimer made the first bid of $10,000, and the price ran up to $21,700, at which figure he secured it, for a client. The property comprises two four-story brick buildings, on lots 26x94 each, and the lease has twenty years' to run from February 1, 1890, there being $2,000 per annum ground rent, exclusive of taxes, assessments and water rent. Of eighteen three-story dwellings offered on 119th street, west of 5th avenue, fifteen were withdrawn, after three had been knocked down to J. Hogan.

Yesterday the only sale announced to take place was adjourned.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

[For prices see pages XI., XII., XIII., and XV.]

BRICKS.—The developments upon the market for Common Hards have been of a somewhat more promising character and there is a reasonably hopeful feeling at the close. In the matter of price, current figures appear to be about the same as at our last writing and $7.25 is practically the top of the market, anything higher being of a special character, and sort of scratch sale, but the gain is to be found in the enlarged outlet for stock. The arrivals during the week were greater than for any corresponding period during a month or more, yet this supply in conjunction with the accumulation brought over appears to have about all found sale and receivers now feel comparatively cheerful. The growth in demand is attributed principally to a comparatively protracted period of good weather through which work has been pushed along nicely and compelled consumers to go beyond the limits of their piles in seeking a supply for immediate consumption. Pretty much all the offering has come from the Hudson and Jersey, the Staten Island stock being about exhausted and Long Island only likely to come along as it may be wanted. Pales were pretty dull early in the week, but latterly have met with greater attention and steadied up in tone at about previous rates. At primary points the work of cleaning up yards and generally getting matters into shape for the commencement of the next season is progressing as rapidly as circumstances will admit, and from what can be learned the capacity will be about the same as last year, but we understand that in many cases manufacturers are about to discard old and put in new machines which will help quality and may add a little to the out-turn of stock. General prospects for consumption are good and will be much enhanced if the East River tunnel scheme is carried out.

HARDWARE.—Business has been dragging along somewhat slower than expected in most lines of staple hardware, and even builders' assortments do not meet the favor calculated upon. There seems to be no special reason for the dull trade except the extreme spirit of caution prevailing among buyers and possibly some calculations upon lower rates. Metals have eased off, and the theory of some reflections upon the value of their product is natural. As yet we hear of no radical changes in list rates, but on augers and auger bits buyers are getting better terms, and the same is said of locks. On pretty much all grades of wood screws cost is well supported.

LATH.—It has generally proven quite a satisfactory market since our last, and while receivers in some instances seem slightly dissatisfied because no higher rates are shown, they managed to maintain former figures, and the latest reported sale of first class stock is at $2.65 per M. Some fresh arrivals come to hand from Maine and the Provinces, for which prompt sale was secured, making an excellent balance against the small additional shipments, so that the quantity afloat is not increased, and from St. John consists in the main of deck loads on ice vessels, all of which could be taken care of by one ordinary trade purchase. Since our last sales were made of 300,000 Northern Pine stock at $2.30 and 325,000 do. at $2.35, understood to have been some time on a canal boat.

LIME.—Recent arrivals have been quite full, and it is not yet determined how promptly they will sell, though receivers seem to expect finding a comparatively early outlet, and, of course, under ruling conditions no change in price is admitted at least. Some State stock comes along by rail as ordered, and there is a moderate quantity of St. Johns afloat, for which receivers expect full rates. The petition published last week received a liberal number of signatures, and has been forwarded to Washington.

LUMBER.—There is an absence of any special degree of animation on the general market. Now and then some one or more descriptions may have a temporary flurry of full attention, and about the time sellers are preparing to push advantages the demand is very likely to peter out and some other grade of stock come into prominence. The general course of inquiry, in fact, seems to show quite conclusively that while buyers do not feel any special objection to handling thoroughly standard grades, or in placing a moderate number of schedules to be cut to order, they by no means labor under any serious apprehension regarding the future and abstain from worry and fret so far as the majority of stock is concerned. Even on the grades for which exceptional strength is claimed the inquiry is not quite up to the mark of expectation, owing, possibly to extreme line of valuation. Among agents and receivers, however, there seems to be a pretty fair amount of faith and thus far offerings have been made carefully and upon comparatively firm basis of valuation.

On the market for Eastern Spruce the run of reports is preached from the same old text, and the shortage of supply for a long while ahead is the prominent idea suggested. It is the theory of receivers that to a certain extent the crop of logs may be left out of the argument for the moment, or indeed until more liberal transportation facilities are secured, and that for three months at least buyers will have to pay well for every foot of stuff in which through necessity or choice they invest. Northern stuff, too, promises a firm market, the advance $1.00 per M made some time ago being well sustained, and the primary markets well cleaned up, large amounts having been taken during the winter for the construction of special icehouses in the upper section of this State. A gentleman recently returned from the head waters of St. John River, estimates the total lumber cut there this year at 120,000,000 feet, and reports about 40,000,000 feet of last season's cut as still in the streams.

Piling remains in a firm position, the development of a better call having been obtained as expected, while the chances for supply are quite meagre for the same reason that influences the movements of pretty much all other merchandise from the Eastward except ice. For choice stock fancy prices are not unlikely.

Hemlock has a strong market for desirable stock, and is thought to be in a position to maintain ground. The best of the Pennsylvania product is so well sold ahead that some of the mills refuse further orders, no matter how full the bids, and reported offerings of stuff at considerably below top quotations do not appear to be of a character to satisfy buyers who are in any way particular about their selections. There is an impression that the State product will not be offered very low this season, at the outset at least.

White Pine is meeting with more or less call in various ways, and now and then an operator can be found who is very well satisfied with the market. The deal, however, is by no means a free one, and we find some of the trade who are ordinarily very careful and acute in their judgment still unwilling to commit themselves upon the general prospect for the season. So far as anything has been accomplished former rates were obtained, but the offerings appear almost too free for any buoyancy.

Yellow Pine operators have a pleasant time of it, the inquiry sustaining fair general volume for regular goods and a great many specials dropping in, with something in the way of an f. o. b. business occasionally to be found. Production is well managed, the dealers work harmoniously and prices find support without strained assistance.

Carolina Pine finds good and increasing demand for all kiln dried stock and commands full rates readily enough. Rough boards are expected to sell well again though the largest deal is indicated in dressed stuff prepared at either primary points or here. In view of the indicated high cost of spruce it would seem to be a likely season to try the introduction of timber again with some freedom.

Hardwoods present no new features at the moment. As usual reports differ over the size and strength of the movement, but the volume of trade is in the aggregate very fair and the results satisfactory on first-class stock. Quartered Oak keeps the lead in point of popularity, but we are requested to continually repeat the warning that it is only carefully cut and judiciously selected stock wanted, and upon poor stuff low figures must surely be accepted. Private advices from abroad speak well of the general prospect of demand, but with the proviso that the offering is to be of high quality.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

The Timberman as follows:

Notwithstanding the scarcity of snow in the lower peninsula of Michigan, the log crop of some sections makes an excellent comparative showing. Mr. Fred. Hodskins returned recently from a tour of inspection of the logging camps on the upper Manistee River, and from the scalers' reports at the several camps, finds that 96,150,000 feet of logs have been put in the river this winter up to March 1st. This is a better showing than was made last year, for although there was considerable more, and perhaps better sleighing up to the same date, only 94,175,000 feet were put in the river.

Although the late cold snap has prolonged operations somewhat in the logging districts of the Northwest quite a number of camps in the more southerly districts are already breaking up. Along the lower part of Black River, in Wisconsin the breaking up has been general, and very few are left. The loggers along that stream have not been so well favored as those further North. Lack of snow has been the chief complaint, and a little warm weather soon softened it beyond use. Several weeks ago a number of camps broke up, but as another cold snap visited this section, they resumed operations. Notwithstanding all the difficulties that have hampered the jobbers, a fair amount of logs have been banked, and with what were carried over, will bring the total to about the usual cut.

In the St. Croix valley and through Northern Wisconsin, Minnesota, and the upper peninsula of Michigan, the logging season has been very successful, and many of the logging camps are about breaking up. Hauling still continues excellent, the roads being in a perfect condition, and the lumbermen are naturally in a very complacent frame of mind. The present season, throughout this section, will be one of the busiest in many years among the mill men. Lumber sales are still increasing, and in Stillwater it is stated that the lumber yards can with difficulty keep up with the orders received.

The Mississippi Valley Lumberman says:

There have been seasons when log driving had fairly been commenced by April 1st, but such will hardly be the case this year. The loggers are still at work and doing good work, although a good many of them are coming out of the woods simply because they have banked all the logs they want, or have contracted to get. The season has been a long one and logs have been put on the landings probably as cheaply as they ever were banked. The sun is getting high enough to warrant the belief that when the vast quantities of snow in the woods disappear, that there will be a good stage of water for driving purposes in the streams.

The mill men who cut hardwood logs have shared the fortune of the white pine men and have secured a very large stock of hardwood logs. Every mill yard is piled with logs, and a great deal of hardwood lumber will undoubtedly be made in this year of 1890. But stocks are exceedingly light, and the market is in condition to stand a very large product at the mills.

Referring to the Chicago yard trade, the Northwestern Lumberman says:

There is good deal of talk about prices. Complaint is made that dealers are not living in sight of the list. As the spring advances prices seem to be weakening a little. Country trade has not been as large as was hoped for in March. The old-time spring rush countryward is lacking. For this reason dealers are anxious to unload, and are trying to do so by making concessions in price. They do not realize that stocks are being rapidly depleted by the local trade, while receipts are very light for the time of the year. The heavier shippers cannot forget old times, and unless they see long trains of loading cars in their yards they think that trade is going to the dogs. One would think from the anxiety to sell, and the apathy about buying, that all the yard concerns were to close out by May 1. It seems as if each one wanted to clean off all its stock this spring and begin with one entirely new. Probably dealers believe that there is plenty of dry lumber to come forward as soon as navigation opens, and that they will have an opportunity to buy all they want at low prices for their late spring and summer trade. Another feature of the matter is that the dealers have been carrying a load on borrowed money. They want to turn this load into cash, so that they may be in funds for the coming season's market.

Observations here made are in respect to common and cull lumber. Selects and uppers are not overplenty, while prices are relatively better and firmer than those on coarser grades.

As a general thing dimension less than 18 feet long is selling for about $11 a thousand. Some 2x6 is said to have changed hands at less than that price. Passing to 18-foot and over, a dealer gives the following range of prices, declaring positively that lumber is selling at the figures named in dealings between yards. Eighteen-foot 2x6, 2x8, 2x10, $11; 2x4-18, $11.50; 2x6, 2x8-20, $11.50; 2x10, 2x12-20, $12; 2x6-22 and 24, $13.50; 2x10-22, $13.50; 2x10-24, $13.50; 2x12-22 and 24, $14; 2x8-22 and 24, $12; 26-foot stuff, $16 to $18. No. 1 fencing he puts down for $13.50 and $13.75, and No. 2 at $10.25 and $10.50. Cull boards are selling at $10.25 to $10.50. Twelve-inch 16-foot boards are scarce, cull being particularly wanted. Miscellaneous widths are plenty, and dealers are anxious to unload. Fencing should be considered first-class property in view of the vast amount that will be required throughout the season for floors in the city and suburbs.

There is a good demand for short car factory lumber. The leading car works are running full blast on big orders, and there should be no lack of requirement for strips.

GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON.

The Timber Trades Journal of London says:

In the pitch pine trade the market is said to be firmer, the forward sales, which had been causing such depression, have come to an end, and there is a perceptible hardening in prices. Freights are also reported to be firmer and ships much more difficult to obtain than they have been.

We understand that the large parcel of American ash timber which was sold by the Clement's Lane brokers a fortnight ago is being largely sold to country buyers, some of it, we have heard, going even so far as Devonspire, rather an unusual quarter for the demand to come from, but the low price doubtless was the temptation.

American Black Walnut.—There is still a good inquiry for large, well-grown logs for cutting into boards and veneer purposes, everything that has come over lately at all answering to this description has been quickly sold at full prices. Lumber of the better class has also gone into consumption freely, and is likely to continue in good demand.

American Whitewood.—Logs are rarely inquired for, but lumber continues to move off freely; unplaned stout inch boards are very saleable, as is also planed inch, if sound and free from knots. Prices are satisfactory and seem likely to be maintained.

American Oak.—In lumber recent transactions have been very satisfactory, there being still a considerable consumption, not only for cabinet-making purposes but also largely in the building trade. Logs are not often asked for, but there are purposes for which they alone are suitable, accordingly the supply should at all times be kept within strictly moderate compass.

GLASGOW.

Rates of freight on parcels per steam liners from the States are still so high as to restrict imports considerably, and of walnut and whitewood log few have been coming forward of late, but easier rates it is anticipated will be brought about soon with the result of larger shipments, and in the meantime a good opportunity exists for working off old stocks. One or two shipments of whitewood, lately landed, were readily sold ex quay.

VOL. XLV. APRIL 5, 1890. No. 1,151.

It is a pity that it has to be pointed out that the daily press, and with it the good public, are possessed of expectations very much too large regarding the gain which is likely to be made for the cause of good government in this city of ours by the Fassett Investigation Committee. Anyone who thinks that a wholesome, intelligent honest management of municipal affairs is to be procured for the metropolis by a legislative inquiry that was originated without the request of citizens by our most "honorable" representatives in Albany, has not correctly diagnosed the disease with which we are afflicted. Nor does he understand the real nature of the supposed remedy. The Fassett Committee is the creation of "politics," and the game it is hunting for is political rather than righteous. So far the "disclosures" that have been made concerning the abuses in the Sheriff's office are to be credited to the Herald, and not to the committee; the disinterestedness of whose motives will be best seen when it turns its attention to other city departments, some of which are undoubtedly as "ripe for the harvest" as the Sheriff's office proved to be. But, if any fact has been demonstrated by our experience in municipal government, it is that honest and intelligent administration is not to be obtained through "investigations." If "investigations" were curative for official corruption and inefficiency, then in all conscience New York ought to be a model of a well-governed city. For the last quarter of a century at least, the government of the metropolis has been the subject of "investigations" and "exposures" on the part of committees, and consequent criticism, denouncement and disgust on the part of decent citizens. That nothing has been achieved is only too apparent after the Boodle Aldermen trials—the ending of which, by the way, is as disagreeable a reflection on our administration of justice as the beginning was upon our Common Council—the fruitless scandals concerning the Public Markets and the Dock Department, and the more recent abomination of the Sheriff's office and the prostitution of the Bench in the Flack case. Is not what the commission of 1876 said as true to-day as when it was uttered thirteen years ago: "In truth, the larger part of the city debt represents a vast aggregate of moneys wasted, embezzled or misapplied;" and, "a large number of important offices have come to be filled by men possessing little, if any, fitness for the important duties they are called upon to discharge." These men are characterized in the report as "animated by the expectation of unlawful emoluments;" and, black as the picture of government painted by the commission was, it added: "Yet this picture fails altogether to convey an adequate notion of the elaborate systems of depredation which, under the name of city government, have from time to time inflicted our principal cities."

There is not a circumstance in the case, nor, so far as can be seen, an example in the past to warrant the assumption that any real permanent good will result from the present washing of dirty linen in public by the Fassett Committee. Changes in the personnel of the government may be made; the wrong-doing of individuals may be exposed and perhaps punished; modifications in the machinery of government may be proposed and some of them may be made, but a government of, by and for politicians will continue, with its inevitable peculation, maladministration and vulgarity, until there is considerable improvement in the tone of our public life, in the sentiments and ideas of our people. We cannot too quickly appreciate the fact that the government of this city is a reflection of what the people of this city are as a whole. It corresponds, as all governments do, to the average of the character of our people. It is foolish to lay the flattering unction to our souls that the great majority of our citizens are noble, high-minded, educated men, and that the government is wholly the product of a miserable few. Nowhere in the world is this true; and there is as little truth in it stated of New as of any city. The fact that we tolerate official iniquity, and remain quiescent while the government of the city is turned over to a very inferior order of men, is a certain indication of a blunted moral sensitiveness. We cannot escape this conclusion. Moral sensitiveness accompanies morality, and the one increases with the other. Hitherto we have always excused ourselves, when charged with the rottenness of our government, by saying that our "best citizens" will not meddle with politics. But this is not a satisfactory excuse, nor is it a satisfactory explanation; for it leaves unexplained the reason that lies at the bottom of the fact, as stated, that our "best citizens" do not interest themselves in politics. Either they know that their influence would be ineffectual if they did meddle in politics as it would be overcome by the stronger influence of others, or their moral sensitiveness is too blunt to be stung to action by evils with which there is scarcely any effort at concealment. Nothing new has been disclosed concerning the Sheriff's office. All that the Fassett Committee has "discovered" has been common knowledge, just as people know to-day that the hundreds of beer saloons that do business on Sunday in defiance of the law could not be open without the connivance of the police. The lawyers of this city no doubt consider themselves, as a class, a body of respectable, high-minded men, and would resent any imputation that they are responsible for the misdoings in the Sheriff's office, exactly as our "best citizens" would repel an accusation that they are responsible for the bad government of the city. Yet, for years the lawyers of New York have tolerated the system of blackmail and extortion in the Sheriff's office, have charged and probably recommended, beforehand, their clients to pay these illegal "expenses" to Deputy Sheriffs and others, and not one has raised his voice against the iniquity, as a lawyer, of all others, could so easily have done. Is this the action of morally sensitive men? No, the Fassett Committee can do little for us; investigations and changes in our municipal machinery can do little for us. Not until there is a vigorous public opinion, keenly sensitive to vulgarity, immorality and the low tone generally of pot-house and ward politics shall we have a government in New York City, of which decent men need not be ashamed.

Unfavorable Symptoms.

It is necessary that a word or two of caution should be uttered concerning the present condition of the building market. Last fall when THE RECORD AND GUIDE published a review of the previous twelve months' operations on the west side it was shown that of 334 buildings completed 221, or 64 per cent., were unsold. As the average cost of buildings in that section of the city is about $22,000 the capital lying idle in these unmarketed houses, and devouring interest, amounted to nearly $5,000,000. Since April, 1889—the end of the period considered in the review—building on the west side has been most energetically carried on, and there can be scarcely any doubt that an inspection of the situation would show a much more unsatisfactory condition of affairs now than last fall. Upon the top of this, scores of plans have been filed at the Building Department in the last few months for structures, the first brick of which has not yet been laid. On the east side, north of 59th street, a somewhat similar condition prevails, and in Brooklyn, in the newer wards, the unsold houses can be counted by blocks. To add to the gravity of the situation houses are not only unsold but apparently they cannot be rented. It may be asked why, if the supply of buildings is so much greater, manifestly so much greater than the demand, the work of construction is still carried on by a class of men who are not lacking in business shrewdness? The answer is an easy one to make. In the first place, so far as the west side is concerned, a considerable amount of new work was started in anticipation of the World's Fair; but this is only a secondary reason. As is well known a very large part of the building done in the districts under discussion is carried on by speculative builders upon borrowed capital, and unless this class sell their buildings within a reasonable time after completion, they must start at once upon other work to save themselves from "going under." As the saying is, one hand has to be made to wash the other, and part of the money received for work under way is often used to carry work previously completed. It is plain, however, that the process of meeting obligations due to Peter with the money of Paul cannot be carried on indefinitely. Sooner or later the builder's indebtedness must overtake his borrowed resources. More than once lately we have had to record the failure of some speculative builder. Most often the failure is a silent one. The casual observer would pass it over without notice, as it takes the form of a foreclosure or a transfer of property to creditors or the operators that made the building loan. A part of the operations now under way are of this forced character. They are not due to the necessities of the market; they are not business ventures entered into by the operator because of previous success, or upon the warrant of the condition of the market. On the contrary, they are due to the force of unhealthy financial circumstances. The manner in which these operations are carried on is well illustrated by the case of a speculative builder who recently became financially involved. His first purchase embraced a number of lots on the upper west side, on which he erected several flats, none of which were sold. He went right on, took title to a plot on the upper east side, on which the same kind of buildings were erected. He met as poor success with these, but was not deterred from going in on a still larger scale. He bought an entire block front, and again built flats. About the time the latter were completed, he had run the length of his rope, having built all the houses by the aid of building loans. His creditors came down on him ; part of the property was transferred to secure his debts, and the balance is likely to come under the hammer by foreclosure at an early date. Under these conditions, is it not necessary to put up the caution signal along the entire line?

The amendments to the building law finally reached Albany a few days ago. The bill is in charge of Assemblyman John Connelly, Democrat, and Senator Lispenard Stewart, Republican. The Assembly Committee on Cities will give a public hearing to all interested in the matter on Tuesday next, the 8th inst., at 3 P. M. Here is a bill second in importance to no measure that has been introduced in the Legislature this session, affecting the comfort, safety and health of all persons in this city, transient as well as permanent residents, yet the daily newspapers pass over it with a line or two of reference, one paper facetiously remarking that the bill was too big to go in the bill box. Let a bill be introduced creating some petty office, or to give one political party a little advantage over the other, or containing elements for retailing scandal or gossip, and columns will written by the Albany correspondents of the press and eagerly read by the public. The technical matters relating to the construction of buildings were probably too deep for the understanding of writers of sensationalism, and the bill as a whole altogether too dry for their purposes.

Fortunately for those who erect buildings aggregating in cost upwards of sixty millions of dollars yearly, and fortunately for the occupants of such structures, the bill has been drafted by competent, experienced and honest men, representatives of the various building trade societies, and the amendments are in the interest of the general public. The bill is a voluminous one, but this is more apparent than real. As amendments of more or less importance were made to nearly every one of the forty-seven sections of Title 5 of the Consolidation Act of 1882, those sections being commonly called the Building Law, it necessitated the reprinting of nearly the entire title, together with the amendments that were made in 1885, and again in 1887. The work of revision has been arduous and prolonged, and this time without friction between the committee in charge and the Fire Department, the Superintendent of Buildings having been as earnest and liberal as any of the other members of the committee. The completed work is heartily approved by the Fire Commissioners, and the proposed new law will be more acceptable to architects and builders than ever before.

The prospects for rapid transit legislation, we regret to say, do not appear to have improved during the past week. The amendment which Senator Fassett made to his bill giving the Governor, under certain restrictions, the power to appoint the commission has not met with favor. There have been rumors of deals between Tammany and the Republicans, which have been stoutly denied as soon as announced. The whole affair has been shrouded in an atmosphere of mystery—at least to the outsiders, who alone have a legitimate, personal interest in the matter. Senator Fassett has announced that he would bring the bill up again next Tuesday, amended, however, in a way which he refuses to divulge. Meanwhile the Real Estate Exchange has had its meeting, passed its polite memorial, and President Scott has appointed his hundred representative citizens, whose grateful task it is to go up to Albany and impress upon our legislators what it is the sovereign people demand. It is to be regretted that we do not find either in the newspapers or in the words of the speakers at the meeting last week a proper indignation at the shameful way in which the vital propertied interests of this city are being played with by the unscrupulous gang of Albany politicians. It was right and necessary that the Real Estate Exchange should memorialize the Legislature on the question ; it was right that they should decline to enter into the political squabble ; it was right that they should insist that the problem be solved at the present session; but it would have been expedient likewise to show Messrs. Fassett, Grant, Hill & Co.—including the silent partner, Thomas C. Platt—that they all would be held strictly accountable for a failure, and express in no measured terms a hearty indignation at their dickering. Mr. Disbecker's addition to the Real Estate Exchange memorial touched upon the point, but its temper was too much that of a drawing-room. It would be useless to ask a lot of Italian banditti, please not to be bad and wicked, and please to let a man walk the highway unmolested. It is just as much the part of a politician's business to subject public interests to partizan ends as it is for a road agent to "lift" coaches ; and the former should be treated with as little ceremony as the latter, for the effect on the public well-being in both cases is about equally paralyzing. It remains to be seen how far the Legislature will immediately accede to the request and treat the question solely on the grounds of public interests. As well might you expect to see a silk purse made out of a sow's ear.

Our Foreign Trade and Our Present Opportunity.

As a people we never grow tired of talking among ourselves of the superiority of our manufactures ; and an impression more or less vague is not lacking that somehow our wares are pushing their way in the markets of the world, and that our foreign commerce in articles other than agricultural produce is growing. The daily newspapers are repeatedly telling us about shipments that have been made of American locomotives; how great is the demand abroad for American machinery, in how much favor our bridges and hardware and furniture and cottons, etc., are held abroad; so that it is not to be wondered at that the general public have become possessed of an idea that the position our manufactures hold in the commerce of the world is a very much more important one than it really is. As a matter of fact, our export trade in manufactured goods is best described as insignificant. It can scarcely be said that we occupy any position at all in foreign markets. Great Britain exports considerably over one billion dollars worth of merchandise annually, nearly all of which consists of manufactures. Holland (with a population not any larger than that of the State of New York) exports more than four hundred million dollars worth of goods, of which a large part are manufactures, whereas the United States sold abroad last year only $130,000,000 worth of manufactured goods of every kind, about equal to the foreign woolen and leather trades of France.

That our foreign commerce in manufactured goods is so small is due to many causes, and is not to be attributed to any one alone, as is so often done by those who are riding some particular theory, economical or commercial. No doubt, with a lower tariff, at least on raw materials; with the prevalence of lower wages; with more extensive banking connections in foreign countries; with a more liberal credit system; with more attention given to the peculiar wants of customers; with more push and enterprise on the part of our manufacturers and exporters, a much larger share of the commerce of the world would fall to us than at present. But the chief cause why we do not export more than we do is not the tariff, or our inability or our unwillingness to give long credits, or even the lack of effort on our part to adapt the quality and character of our wares to the wants and tastes of other people, but that with (1) any given quality of the staple articles of commerce the foreigner can, and as a rule does sell cheaper than we can, and (2) he is much more industrious in obtaining, keeping and extending his markets.

Lately, however, an opportunity has arisen of which our manufacturers should energetically avail themselves.

In a general way it is known that wages have advanced throughout Europe, especially in Great Britain and in Germany; but the extent of this advance is not generally known, and, consequently, the opportunity which hangs on it is not widely appreciated as it should be.

In the English coal trade, for instance, wages have advanced 50 per cent., and the colliers are demanding further "concessions." The price of coal is 80 per cent. higher than it was; and the significance of this fact can be adequately understood only by considering how important a factor coal is in the production and transportation of manufactured articles. In addition to this, wages generally, even in unskilled labor, such as that of dock hands, have, as is well known, advanced materially—in few trades is it less than 15 per cent. In Germany much the same conditions are reported; and in Tuesday morning's press dispatches alone there were accounts of strikes for higher wages from Madrid, Vienna and Berlin. In view of these facts, and of the important part which machinery (largely dependent for its "vitality" upon coal) and the cost of labor play in determining the selling price of goods, it is not to be wondered at that many articles are considerably dearer in Europe to-day than they have been for some years past. It is due to this fact that in several cases New York importers find they cannot complete their contracts without loss at figures that were satisfactory a few months ago.

Now, it happens that with this condition of affairs abroad, coal is cheap here at home, and wages are relatively lower, in comparison with European standards, than they have perhaps ever been. Clearly, then, in this our manufacturers have a chance not only to increase their hold upon the domestic market, but to carry the war into Africa itself and meet the foreigner in neutral markets as well as at home.

There would be nothing new in this. It was done, it will be remembered, with considerable success toward the close of the period of depression which followed the year 1873. In 1878 and in a portion of 1879, that is, before the revival of trade which set in during the latter year, we exported hardware and cotton goods to England and sold them actually within the shadow of Sheffield and Manchester factories ; and it was partly in consequence of this that the "Fair Trade" movement attained to sufficient vigor to puzzle British politicians and cause among political economists a furbishing of the old armor that had been laid aside since the close of the free trade crusade.

How low prices were in this country at the time we speak of may be judged from the following facts: In July, 1878, the American Iron and Steel Association reported prices "so low as to warrant the impression that they can be no lower." Pig iron, which sold for $53 per ton in 1872, sold for $16.50 in 1878. In 1878 the depression of business and the decline in prices was made the subject of an investigation by Congress. In 1876 the cost of mining 100 bushels of coal was $2.50, whereas in 1882 it was $4, and the price of the same quantity of coal on the dates given was $5.50 and $7.50. The years 1873 to 1879 were years of low prices and low wages in the United States, and, years of relatively large exports of manufactures to Great Britain, Austria, France, the Netherlands, Russia and other countries. In 1878 and 1879, but more especially in 1878, there was a marked increase in our foreign trade in agricultural implements, bricks, manufactures of cotton, glass, India rubber goods, machinery, railroad iron, locomotives, stoves, leather goods, manufactures of wood, etc. In none of these was the increase remarkable, but it was marked. In 1879—the beginning of better times, higher prices and wages—our exports of manufacturing goods declined, though the total value of our foreign trade was greater than in 1878, due to abundant harvests and the large amount of agricultural produce that in consequence was sent abroad. With the return of higher prices and a more prosperous domestic market we lost the ground we had gained abroad, and since then our export trade in manufacturing goods has grown slowly and increased but little. Strange as it may seem, a continuance of hard times at home ten years ago would have greatly improved our position in the markets of the world.

To all appearances, another opportunity such as that which arose in 1878 presents itself to-day. The increase in the price of goods abroad is equivalent to an increase in our import duties, so that our manufacturers are surer of the home market than they have been for years; indeed, the advance in prices in Europe in the last twelve months is probably equivalent to a 10 per cent. higher tariff; and this has been accomplished without the aid of politicians. Wages in Europe will not be so easily reduced as formerly, owing to the completer organization of labor that exists to-day and the fact that the "unions" have more support and sympathy from the public and legislators than ever, so that a continuance of these conditions for a longer period than in 1878 is certain. The probability, however, is that our own labor organizations will ere long be following in the footsteps of "labor" abroad and will demand higher wages, so that any advantages that the American manufacturer now possesses over his competitors will be lost or neutralized. But our manufacturers should at once recognize the opportunity that is theirs and make the most of it. Will they do it?

The following is a letter from a prominent legal firm of this city, and opens a question which is of interest to our readers:

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

I inclose a suggestive extract from a daily paper. Many of our clients are property-owners who have been grievously damaged by the "L" structures. Vice-President Hoyt of the original "L" road tells us that in 1873 the "L" directors knew that they ought to pay the abutters. They made an issue of bonds at the rate of $500,000 per mile for that purpose. Later, Mr. Hoyt says, they concluded to change their construction contract so that these bonds were absorbed, and did not reach the property-owners. I can tell you of cases where one-third of what the Manhattan Company pays goes in legal expenses to its lawyers and detectives and experts and printers, etc., etc., and where finally it has had to pay the property-owners double what they would have accepted if they could be relieved of litigation and detectives and the other annoyances to which the "L" road thinks it policy to subject every property-owner.

Does not THE RECORD think that an honest policy of settlement would pay the company, and be but justice to the property-owners?

LAWYER.

The extract to which our correspondent refers is the report of the decisions in nine cases handed down by the General Term in regard to the rights of property-owners on South 5th avenue and Greenwich street, in cases where they had acquiesced without objection to the construction of the road—the Judges holding that the property-owners could not be expected to know that they had a legal remedy for the damage until after the Court of Appeals had so decided. In reply to the question with which the "Lawyer" winds up his letter, we return an unqualified affirmative. Our only interest in the matter is that strict justice should be done to all parties interested, including the general public. Whenever any property is injured by the elevated structures, the Manhattan Company should pay for the injury; it can afford to do so, and, as we understand, it would not object to doing so, provided the damages are fairly assessed, and due allowance is made for any concurrent increase of value which has resulted from the construction of the road. Undoubtedly, also, much money has been unnecessarily spent by the prolonged litigation in which the company has been involved; and much confusion has resulted from the conflicting decisions rendered by the Courts. It would be well if the whole business could be taken out of the region of legal technicalities, and jurisdiction given to a competent Commission; but efforts in that direction have been as unsuccessful as in the other. There is no alternative but to let the parties interested fight it out. If the Manhattan Company adopts a wasteful course of procrastination, why it will have to bear the consequent losses. Meanwhile the public suffers because of the squabble, which binds the company's hands, and prevents it from taking more vigorous measures to extend its system. In the end, the property-owners will have been put to a good deal of unnecessary trouble, and the Manhattan Company to a good deal of unnecessary expense; but, as is generally the case in legal contests, the public will be the greatest losers and the lawyers the greatest gainers.

It is quite obvious that the Investigating Committee have pretty well sifted out all the iniquity there is to find in the Sheriff's office, and a very creditable showing it makes—for the Investigating Committee. Mr. Ivins has announced that he will next turn his attention to the Police Department, where he also expects to reap a rich harvest. It is very much to be doubted, however, whether anything of interest to citizens who like to read of the misdoings of their rulers will be elicited by the Fassett Committee, simply because the Republican organization of this city has in part controlled the Police Commission, and it is no part of the duty of Mr. Fassett's Committee to show any wrongdoing in offices where the Republicans have a footing. In fact, we are very much afraid that the present investigation has been productive of just about as much valuable information on the inner workings of our City Departments as we can expect, simply because Mr. Platt has, or thinks he has already accomplished his purpose. Tammany has certainly received a staggering blow, and that presumably was all that Mr. Platt has been aiming at. The equilibrium of the city organizations has been restored; the Republican nominee for Mayor next fall may very well slip into the office, and in that case it is perhaps just as well that the nooks and crannies of most of the departments should remain unexplored. It may seem unjustifiable to assume that there is anything to conceal in the other departments, but we are sorry to say that the dishonesty and incompetency which is being continually brought to light in every direction places the burden of proof on the man, not who wished to show that an office is badly administered, but on him who desires to prove the reverse. The real contest, after all, is not the Tammany machine vs. the Republican machine, but the politicians vs. the taxpayers. And we very much fear that the contest is one-sided to an extreme.

Although in its result the annual contest between Governor Hill and the Legislature on the question of ballot reform is just as fruitful, as it has been hitherto, that is utterly sterile. Yet we judge that this year our Governor has escaped from the fray with less wear and tear than usual. To many simple-minded people who are not versed in the devious ways of politicians to whom electioneering devices are of no importance whatever, and who can see nothing but waste of time and material in casting iron on the water in the apparent expectation that it will float, the question will doubtless arise how far our Republican politicians are sincere in their professions and actions in favor of ballot reform. It is one thing to pass a bill which they know will be vetoed, it is another to pass one which is sure to become a law, and we shall have no test of their sincerity in the matter until this legislative tinkering produces a pot. Be that as it may, the Governor has stood his ground this year better than ever before. There was a superficial fairness in his offer to submit the question of the bill's constitutionality to the Court of Appeals; but he knew very well that the compromise could not be accepted by the Republicans, because it would be an admission that there was some doubt in their minds as to the validity of such an objection. As an honest man he had no alternative but to veto the bill in case he considered it unconstitutional, with or without a favorable brief from the Justices of the court, and in spite of any popular opposition to his course. This proposal was simply an electioneering trick; it gave the Democratic orators a more or less plausible excuse to "talk back," and call the Republicans insincere. Now that it is all over, ballot reform is as far off as ever. The spectacle with a few circumstantial variations will doubtless be repeated next session. Why not?

A gentleman well known in New York financial circles, who went to England recently on an errand that brought him into close contact with many English financiers, expressed upon his return his surprise at the number of men in that country who conducted large businesses from dingy offices and who at any moment could draw their check for a hundred thousand pounds. And, indeed, it would be difficult to realize the number of moderately wealthy Englishmen were it not for the enormous extent of their loaning operations to other countries. One reason is, doubtless, that a very wealthy man in that country, unless, like Col. North, he forces himself on the public, or, like the Duke of Westminster, unites a title with his money, is not brought before the public by the newspapers in the way the wealthy men are on this side. Furthermore, it is quite possible that wealthy men there are satisfied with less. We seldom hear of a rich American retiring after he has accumulated a few million dollars, whereas in England we judge this is far more common. However, be all that as it may, the amount of money English capitalists have lent to foreign governments or foreign corporations is something enormous. In London there was recently held the eighteenth annual meeting of the Corporation of Foreign Bondholders. This association was formed in order to protect English bondholders in all cases of default or injustice on the part of foreign governments or private companies. We need not go into the details of its plan of organization, nor into any consideration of its methods or its success in realizing its object. In several cases the organization has been instrumental in adjusting seemingly insuperable difficulties; and in nearly every way has it benefited its members without pressing too hard on delinquent governments and corporations. But what we do wish to call attention to is the magnitude of its operations. During the last eighteen years it has effected some thirty-five death settlements, dealing with defaults of from one to fifty years' standing, and embracing an indebtedness of no less than £749,500,000 of principal and of £106,500,000 of arrears of interest and drawings, making the gigantic total of £856,000,000. We think the chairman of the evening was justified in saying that "an association which is, after all, only a combination of private individuals, should have acquired so great an influence, and should have dealt with debts amounting to the enormous total of £885,000,000 seems almost fabulous—a fairy tale of finance."

Three Months of Real Estate.

During the first three months of 1890, there has been a decrease in the number of conveyances over the same months in 1889, but an increase in the amount involved. The number of conveyances for 1890 is 3,762, against 3,810 in 1889, a small falling off, while the increase in the amount involved has been from $68,484,407 in January, February and March in 1889, to $71,825,196 in 1890. A comparison of the filings month by month shows that the largest part of the decrease in the number of transactions has taken place during the month of March, while the increase in the aggregate consideration is pretty well distributed between January and March. The number of conveyances for nominal sums show a considerable increase, while there is a perceptible decrease in the number of transfers in the 23d and 24th Wards, although the amount involved by them shows an augmentation.

The number of mortgages filed during the same period show an increase of from 3,530 in 1889 to 3,788 in 1890, and the amount involved by them subtracting the general mortgages given by the Manhattan and the Edison Company's has increased from $45,561,681 to $48,868,942. It will be noticed that the number of the mortgages have increased, while the number of conveyances have decreased, and that the amount involved by the mortgages has increased in a larger proportion than has the amount involved by the conveyances. This cannot be regarded as a healthy sign.

New Buildings.

A DECREASE IN THE FILINGS—THE FIGURES ANALYZED AND COMPARED WITH FORMER YEARS.

The filings for March show that fewer buildings were projected than during the corresponding month last year. In March, 1890, the number of buildings projected was 350, or 40 less than during March, 1889. The cost of the 350 buildings was placed at $6,709,488 against $6,825,325 for 390 buildings in the same month last year. The districts south of 59th street, and between 5th and 8th avenues, 110th and 125th streets, are the only ones which show an increase in the number of buildings. East and west of the Central Park, between 59th and 125th streets, there is a material decrease both in number and cost, there being only 96 buildings planned in March, 1890, at a cost of $1,951,850 compared with 149, and $2,894,100 the figures for last year. North of 125th street, and beyond the Harlem, there were also fewer buildings projected. Inadequate rapid transit facilities are clearly responsible for the reduction in a section which is dependent for development on the frequency and speed of trains to and fro, from the business and manufacturing centres. The fact is there is quite a movement in realty south of 59th street, and, as has been often stated in these columns, at constantly advancing figures; also an increase in the number of new buildings. The tables given elsewhere, showing the number of conveyances for the first quarter of 1890, compared with 1889, disclose a decrease in transactions, which is clearly due to inactivity in property north of 59th street. If it were not for the improvement down-town the decrease in the totals would be more pronounced. All of which emphasizes the necessity for increased transit facilities. Here are the figures for March for the last three years divided by districts:

The figures for the quarter ending March 31 compared with the filings for the first quarter in 1889 and 1888 are given below. The year 1890 is behind 1889 so far as the number of buildings go, but the cost this year is over $2,500,000 greater, which increase is accounted for by the increased number of costly office and business buildings recently planned south of 59th street, where 216 buildings projected this year will cost over three million dollars more than 198 planned last year. In all that part of the city north of 59th street, including the 23d and 24th Wards, 678 buildings to cost $9,589,403 were planned this year against 735 buildings to cost $10,382,240, the figures for 1889. A study of the tables discloses that in each of the five districts north of 59th street, without exception, last year's figures are larger than those for 1890. Here is the table:

THE BUILDINGS CLASSIFIED BY DISTRICTS—AN INTERESTING TABLE.

An inspection of the table which follows shows that the decrease in the figures for March is owing entirely to the fact that fewer private houses are to be built. In the way of flats and tenements, as well as the other kind of buildings, the filings are about the same as in March last year, a decrease of 39 in the way of dwellings being equal to the deficiency in the filings for the month. Three of the 15 flats and tenements and 1 of the 11 private houses to be built on the east side will be erected by owners other than builders and architects and persons engaged in the building trades. On the west side 12 of the 31 flats and 6 of the 26 dwellings will be built by owners and capitalists who are not engaged in the building business. Only 9 of the 64 dwellings to be built north of the Harlem will be of brick, the others being frame, the average cost of the 64 dwellings being less than $2,500. A comparison of the figures for the quarter shows that although fewer flats and tenements were projected this year than last, the cost in 1890 averages over $23,000 against $21,000 last year. In the way of private houses, the number planned is also smaller and the average cost in round figures only $9,900 compared with over $11,000 last year.

THE COSTLIEST BUILDINGS.

During March the most costly buildings planned are mentioned in the table which is given below. Nine buildings, or less than 3 per cent. of the total of 350 will cost $1,785,000 or over 25 per cent. of the aggregate, viz.: $6,709,488. Plans for one of the nine buildings were also filed last October when the cost was given at $285,000. The building referred to is the seven-story hotel, which is to go up on East 33d and 34th streets, part of the block made famous by the dispute between S. T. Meyer and the Armory Board.

The filings for the month embrace a great variety of buildings. Costly hotels, flats and warehouses appearing with storage sheds, ice storage, boiler and machine shops, tent and frame structures for Barnum's Circus, a church, club-house, and theatre for viewing surgical operations. Besides all these there are tenements, dwellings, factories and stables, and last but not least a factory for manufacturing ice. This is truly a wonderful collection for even a cosmopolitan city like New York.

Real Estate Exchange Matters.

COMMITTEE ON LEGISLATION.

The weekly meeting of the above committee took place on Tuesday, Wm. C. Orr in the chair, Thos. F. Murtha being appointed secretary pro tem. Among others present were C. A. Andrews, C. F. Hoffman, Jr., Frank R. Houghton, Geo. S. Lespinasse, Sinclair Myers, Edward Oppenheimer, E. H. Martine, John P. Windolph, Myer Finn, Abraham Disbecker, B. F. Romaine, Jr., and Alfred E. Marling.

The Sub-Committee on Rapid Transit reported progress.

The Sub-Committee on Taxation and Assessment reported as follows:

Your committee respectfully report that they have examined Assembly bill No. 111, as instructed, and believe the bill under consideration to be one of a class that the Exchange should always oppose, as if the bill should become a law, it will increase to every real estate owner of improved property the cost of carrying same in advanced rates of fire insurance without any corresponding benefit. The bill is an "old stager," one of a class that year by year appear at Albany, and year by year have to be actively opposed. Mr. Robert A. Maxwell, Superintendent of the Insurance Department of the State of New York, in his report to the Legislature this year, which was presented after Assembly bill No. 111 had been introduced, is most emphatic in his opposition. Your committee fully indorse Mr. Maxwell's views, and would respectfully recommend that a circular be sent to every city member of the Senate and Assembly, requesting his assistance in defeating the bill, and expressing the views of the Real Estate Exchange. (Signed) Thos. F. Murtha, Ed. H. Martine, Frank R. Houghton, Charles A. Schermerhorn.

On motion it was ordered that a protest in writing, signed by the chairman of this committee, be sent to Albany in the name of the Exchange.

The Sub-Committee on Pending Legislation reported adversely on Assembly bill No. 1122, which is similar to the objectionable "Dempsey, Larmon and Pearsall" bills introduced previous to this session. It provides for an inquisitorial system of listing all real and personal property subject to taxation; heavy penalties for the failure to furnish information touching the same; taxes, mortgages and judgment liens in the place where the real property affected is situated; declares any contract void that provides that a mortgagor shall pay a tax on a mortgage, at the same time exempting all railroad, telegraph, telephone, electric light and power property. It is a very dangerous measure, they say, and would create a panic in real estate circles. They advised sending a protest to Albany. This protest has already been wired to the Capitol.

Geo. S. Lespinasse brought up the subject of the committee from Washington, now examining the Harlem Canal, and referred to the report of the Washington Heights Taxpayers' Association thereon, and moved that this Exchange do indorse the recommendation of that committee.

The matter was referred to the Sub-Committee on Federal Relations, with power to act.

On motion the Blackwell's Island Bridge bill was referred to the Sub-Committee on City Improvements.

Several bills were referred, and a letter was read from Senator Lispenard Stewart to the Secretary of the Exchange, in relation to the parks in the 12th Ward, in which he says: "I do not think it will be necessary to appear before the committee. In case there should be any probability of the city's committee reporting the bill favorably, I will notify you, in order that a proper hearing may be had." The committee then adjourned.

Investments—Good and Bad.

BURLINGTON & QUINCY.—President Perkins of the C. B. & Q. takes the opportunity, in presenting his annual report, to urge an amendment of the Interstate Commerce Act, and to deprecate Granger legislation, so that railroads "can be managed as business undertakings on business principles, and conservative investors can safely hold railroads as property." He advances the opinion that present returns do not encourage the investment of additional capital in railroads. The report for 1889 does not make such a bad showing as might be expected from such remarks, while at the same time it justifies them to a considerable extent. For instance, as will be seen in the figures given below, gross earnings from traffic were only about $50,000 more than the year 1886, although the operated mileage increased by more than 1,200 miles, or about 30 per cent., and in the year 1887 gross earnings were greater, although the operated mileage was less by about 730 miles. The increase of results in 1889, over 1888, is not significant, because the latter was the year of the great strike, which cost the Burlington Company $5,000,000. The gross earnings per mile were, in 1889, $5,389; in 1887, $6,505, and in 1886, $7,140. Net earnings per mile were, in 1889, $1,829; in 1887, $2,707, and in 1886, $3,269. The result of the operation of the proprietory roads was a net surplus of $354,306, compared with a deficiency of $121,431 in 1888, and with the larger surplus of $880,635 in 1887. The amounts paid to Burlington & Quincy by the proprietory roads were effected by the causes which reduced the figures previously given. In 1889 the amount so paid was $636,436; in 1888, $105,480, and in 1887, $720,689. With almost stationary earnings, operating expenses have largely increased. This is the bad side of the picture. There is another side, and that is: the company earned the dividends which it paid, and while the result is small compared with the old-time record of Burlington & Quincy, it is not worse than has to be borne by the stockholders of New York Central, whose security pays only 4 per cent. Northwestern roads do suffer from the inconsiderate action of the legislatures controlling them, and probably from the Interstate Commerce Law, though that is open to question, but their managers are not likely to make the least of their grievances, and it is for outsiders, particularly investors, to put the case in the right light. The following table gives the results of operating the Burlington & Quincy for the four years named:

	1889.	1888.	1887.	1886.

The Burlington & Quincy management has adopted a form for its monthly statement which cannot be too strongly presented to the managers of other properties for imitation. By giving, in addition to gross earnings, operating expenses and net earnings, the amount of the charges for the month and the surplus remaining, the stockholder is kept as well informed as it is possible to make him of the condition of the property, particularly affecting his own security. If such monthly returns were general, as they ought to be, a stockholder would not have, as is more generally the rule, to wait a year to know actually the value of his holdings, and would not be, as he often is, the victim of manipulated market quotations. The holder of Burlington & Quincy can see at a glance from the last statement made by the company that in the months of January and February the property earned $221,085 in excess of charges, as against a deficiency of charges in the same two months of last year of $250,996, an improvement of $472,081. This return, too, coming before the public at the same time as President Perkins' statement, will not be likely to make people believe that the condition of affairs is quite as gloomy as he says.

MEXICAN CENTRAL.—The price of Mexican Central has been creeping up of late until it is very little below that of the Second Income bonds. This movement has not attracted much attention, principally because most of the transactions have been effected in Boston, where the securities of the Mexican Central Railway Company are more generally held. But undoubtedly New York parties are acquiring the stock, and it would not be surprising if the control were transferred to New York in the near future. A New York house identified with Gould operations has been the receiver of the stock here, and the not unnatural inference has been drawn that the buying is for the purpose of permanently securing to Texas & Pacific and Gould's other Southwestern properties, the constantly growing business of the Mexican Central. Texas & Pacific connects with the Mexican Central at El Paso, as does also the Southern Pacific and the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe. The Missouri, Kansas & Texas may be expected to make that a terminal point when it is out of its troubles and can continue the building of its line through the Indian Territory, though that is some way off. The reorganization of Mexican Central, which was effected last year, has placed the company on a good financial basis, and earnings have improved considerably since. President Wade said last summer that the earnings for the half-year to June 30th, were equal to its full interest for that period on the mortgage bonds issued upon operated mileage, and the subsidy received from the Mexican Government was sufficient to have paid interest on the bonds issued upon the division undergoing construction. Net earnings from January 1st to June 30th, 1889, were $1,495,655, compared with $1,129,540 in the same time in 1888. For the year ending December 31st last, net earnings were $2,825,399, against $2,355,494 in 1888. Deducting the net earnings of the first half of 1889 from the total for the year, we have $1,329,744 for the half year from July 1st to December 31st, and in the light of President Wade's statement it may be assumed that the property earned its fixed charges in 1889. But the figures do not justify hopes of more than that. Moreover net earnings for last January were $218,159, or a decline of $23,247, compared with the same month of 1889. This decline is remarkable, because gross earnings for that month increased by $70,373 over the same time last year. The falling off in net is probably explainable by extraordinary expenditures which will reduce the cost of operating in other months. The improvement in earnings warrants a rise in the stock, but the fact that the price is within a few points of the Second Income bonds, of which there are about $10,000,000 outstanding, and that interest is not paid on the first incomes, of which there are nearly $15,000,000 outstanding, support the belief held in some quarters that purchases are being made for control.

Important Meeting on Rapid Transit.

THE REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE SPEAKS.

One of the most important meetings ever held within the Real Estate Exchange took place on Monday at 1 P. M. It was a mass meeting of the members, who had been called together to act in relation to the rapid transit question, and to take action especially by asking the Legislature not to adjourn before passing some measure which would be likely to give New York city increased rapid transit facilities. Invitations had also been issued to prominent citizens and taxpayers who are not members.

The chair was occupied by Geo. H. Scott, the president, who had on his right Secretary Fromme. Among those present were Messrs. Constant A. Andrews, Chas. Coudert, Geo. De Forest Barton, O. L. Shepherd, U. S. A., Wm. Cruikshank, G. H. Tilton, Chas. A. Schermerhorn, Geo. S. Lespinasse, J. H. Hunt, Z. J. Halpin, A. J. Robinson, Cyrus Clark, Geo. F. Johnson, E. De F. Shelton, Amos R. Eno, Frank R. Houghton, J. Romaine Brown, H. H. Cammann, Charles Buek, James Richards, Wilson H. Blackwell, Henry Miller, Wm. Campbell, Nathan Wise, J. S. de Selding, H. F. Schellhass, M. H. Moses, J. G. Folsom, E. H. Hines, G. B. Crumbie, C. W. Luyster, James Wilson, C. H. Gilman, Wm. P. Seymour, Wm. Lalor, B. F. Romaine, Jr., Wm. C. Lesster, Morris Littman, Samuel McMillan, W. C. Orr, Herbert A. Sherman, J. A. Effray, Fernando Wood, Miss A. K. Murphy, C. F. Hoffman, Jr., B. P. Fairchild, Wm. Mulry, Adolph Hoffstadt, Charles Wolinsky, Isaac Metzger, Robert Friedrichs, B. Boniface, R. E. Marling, N. Cowen, James S. McQuillen, Ed. H. Martine, L. J. Adams, F. G. Bourne, Thomas Monaghan, Edward L. King, Walter Lawrence, Samuel W. Clark, A. Disbecker, E. A. Morrison, Jas. E. Levinesss, Sinclair Myers, Henry W. Donald, Arnold Lustig, Horace S. Ely, J. Edgar Leaycraft, Wm. Reynolds Brown, W. G. L. King, R. E. Dowling, Alex. D. Duff and many others. It will be noticed that these names include many who are rarely seen on 'Change, and it is evident that the question of rapid transit must possess considerable interest for them. The names comprise members and representatives of some of the most important estates in the city.

The meeting was opened by President Scott, who referred to the deep interest taken by the Exchange and property-owners in rapid transit. Ex-Mayor Hewitt, he said, had suggested extending the Harlem road to the Post-office. Mayor Grant had endeavored to effect the desired object by means of legislation providing for a commission to lay out the most suitable route. In the meantime the city's progress had been impeded, and the increase in values, and, consequently, the assessable value of real estate checked. The Exchange, while favorable to any sound legislation that would deal with the problem, has not identified itself with any of the plans suggested. The Legislative Committee of the Exchange, seeing there was practically a deadlock at Albany, had requested the meeting to be convened, which was the reason of their presence that day. He then called upon Chas. Coudert.

Mr. Coudert, who was received with applause, spoke at some length. He began by referring to Boss Tweed's well-known exclamation, "What are you going to do about it?" and showed how, a few months later, he was a fugitive from justice and finally ended his existence in Ludlow street jail. To-day the men who control the destinies of the city are inclined to laugh at us and ask the same question as Tweed did. "In this great city," said the speaker, "the metropolis and pride of America, with its population of nearly a million and three-quarters and its wealth of thousands of millions of dollars, we stand in the greatest need of a local improvement, the absolute and pressing necessity for which is manifest to us all. Its want is one of the crying necessities of the hour. The daily comfort of many thousands of our citizens is disturbed; their ability to attend to their affairs is impeded, and even, by reason of the crowded condition of the trains during many hours each day, their health is imperilled. The whole population is unanimous in its desire. There is no special difficulty of engineering; the cost is not an objection; our capitalists are more than ready to furnish all the money required for its construction, and still we cannot obtain from the Legislature the passage of an act allowing the work to be done. It is being denied to us by the very men who are in conscience and in honor bound to protect us. Why is it that year after year goes by without relief? It is because the men who live by so-called 'politics,' who fatten on the spoils of the people, whether in or out of the Legislature, see in the building up of a system of rapid transit an opportunity of plunder or of perpetuating their authority and influence. It is not desirable that men known as 'professional politicians' shall control any measure looking toward rapid transit, and especially that men who live by politics shall have anything to do with it. The Chamber of Commerce, this Exchange, and the exchanges of the city generally, contain men who could and should properly participate in the direction of the work. Mr. Coudert concluded by offering the following memorial:

To the Honorable the Senate and Assembly of the State of New York:

The memorial of the Real Estate Exchange of the City of New York

SHOWETH: That your memorialists represent among the members of this Exchange an ownership of property equal to one-third of the total taxpayers of the City of New York.

That this city is in urgent need of further facilities for rapid transit beyond those that already exist. That the existing roads are altogether unable to cope with the enormously increasing traffic caused by the constant extension and building in the upper parts of the city.

That the comfort and convenience of the present inhabitants is greatly hampered thereby, and that the values of real estate are prevented from assuming their normal growth and the influx of population driven to other towns and States for want of necessary legislation to accomplish this result.

That your memorialists are wholly independent of any of the opposing bills now under consideration, but they contend, on behalf of the taxpayers of the City of New York that a grievous injustice will be done to the interests of this city if the question of rapid transit remains unsolved during the present session.

Difficulties far greater than those which have to be met in this city have been undertaken and overcome in other cities, where the problem has been efficiently met, and this Exchange appeals to the Legislature to regard this subject simply in the light of its vital importance to the City and State of New York.

A. Disbecker moved that the resolution contained in the report of the Sub-Committee on Rapid Transit of the Exchange be added to the memorial, which was carried. This reads as follows:

Resolved, That the Real Estate Exchange of the City of New York earnestly and respectfully urges the Legislature to act promptly upon the rapid transit question, by passing an act which shall confer the power to select some method which shall give the needed relief.

Mr. Disbecker then moved that the following resolution be also added to the memorial, which was carried:

Resolved, The suspicion is abroad that a measure for rapid transit cannot be passed unless some concession of a political character shall accompany it, and the delays interposed to its progress and the circumstances surrounding its opposition seem to justify this suspicion. This is a reflection on the Legislature which should be promptly removed. The measure is not a political one. Political promises or considerations should not be exacted as a condition of its passage. It is emphatically the people's measure, and it should be fairly treated and honestly considered upon its merits without bargainings or promises of any kind.

George De Forest Barton moved the following resolution, which was carried:

Resolved, That a committee of 100 members of the Exchange be appointed to appear before the Legislature at Albany, and to present the memorial of this Exchange, such committee to be appointed by the president.

Also, that the president of the Exchange be ex-officio chairman of such delegated committee.

On motion of Samuel McMillan it was resolved "that the presidents of other exchanges, and of other bodies interested in rapid transit be notified of the action taken, and requested to lend their indorsement, and, if possible, appoint delegations to act with the committee appointed by the Real Estate Exchange."

A motion was offered by Geo. S. Lespinasse to appoint a committee to represent the 100 members of the Exchange at Albany. H. H. Cammann dissented from the motion, which was lost. Mr. Cammann's amendment, leaving the selection of the members to the president, in conjunction with the Board of Directors, was carried.

President Scott then read a letter from Tax Commissioner Coleman regretting his inability to be present. In the course of this letter, the commissioner says:

We have arrived at that point where to delay matters will injure the future prospects of this city. While we are standing still our neighbors on all sides are reaping the benefit.

Bills for bridges to Brooklyn, Williamsburg and Hunter's Point are now before the Legislature—all caused by the necessity of accommodating people compelled to do business in this city, and while these tendencies are moving we stand still, and see the best citizens driven away by not finding accommodations to reach homes in this city; therefore, it is your business to lay this matter before the proper committee, and urge upon them prompt and energetic action.

The meeting then adjourned.

Making Active Capital of Real Estate.

[COMMUNICATED.]

The way in which the Holland Trust Company lends money on a two or three months' promissory note, without indorser, taking an assignment of a New York City or Brooklyn at first bond and mortgage, with title guarantee policy as collateral security, makes active capital of real estate. The Trust Company has lent some $2,000,000 in this way since it inaugurated the system; it could not get better security. The guarantee policies of the German-American Title Insurance Company are also accepted by it.

Real Estate Notes.

Jacob B. Smull, Rev. Edmund Guilbert and P. T. Radiker are carrying on operations on the west side as "House Merchants;" that is, buying houses from builders at wholesale and selling them at retail. Handsome profits have been realized in this business, the introduction of which was noticed in these columns months ago.

The quick resales of properties at increased figures after they once change hands is the subject of much comment in and around the Exchange. This is particularly true of parcels which have been held for years by one family. Only last week a house on West 4th street was transferred three times, first at $16,500, later at $17,500, and finally at $21,000. We know of still another parcel on the same street—nearer 6th avenue—which has also been sold three times, but on which title has not yet passed. The figures which show a surprising advance are as follows: $25,000, $30,000 and $32,000, respectively.

More than once we have referred to the frequency of exchanges of city realty for out-of-town properties, and last week we heard of a plot of eleven lots on West 95th and 96th streets which have been traded for a plot of improved property in Minneapolis. The figures for the city lots was $110,000, and for the Minneapolis parcel $50,000.

On the north side of 20th street, west of 6th avenue, five handsome dwellings are to be torn down May 1st to make way for an extension to O'Neill's dry goods store. The houses are in such good condition that it seems reckless to destroy them, but then you know "business is business."

Signs on 8th avenue, near 28th street, and 15th street, near 8th avenue, announce that the old structures now on the sites will be razed May 1st to make way for modern buildings.

Taxpayers are again reminded that the taxes for the year 1890 are open for examination and correction until May 1st next. Applications for correction of valuations must be made before said date.

President Scott has appointed the Committee of One Hundred and has requested each member to reply, stating whether he will be able to go to Albany. The deputation, with members of other Exchanges, is expected to go to the Capitol early next week.

Real Estate Department.

The week in real estate circles has not been a particularly good one. While a considerable business was transacted on 'Change, many of the parcels were bid in for owner's account. Our "Gossip" shows some important sales consummated at private contract. Next week a large business will be transacted on 'Change, if the sales announced to take place are any criterion.

Trading continues to be a feature of the market, many improved and unimproved parcels being exchanged. A recent deal embraced the trade of eleven lots on the west side for a parcel in Minneapolis. Something like $160,000 was the figure at which the properties were estimated.

The official filings disclose the fact that there is a speculation under way in down-town property available for improvement. This is not only seen in the quick resale at advanced figures of parcels in the business districts, but is also true of property suitable for tenements. Here are a few specimen sales, to illustrate:

	First sale.	Resale.
Wooster st, Nos. 186 and 188, old buildings	$48,000	$54,000
Norfolk st, No. 152, old building	18,000	20,500
Morton st, Nos. 34 and 36, old buildings	28,000	30,500
Prince st, Nos. 115-121, old buildings	127,500	130,000
3d st, No. 50 and 52 W., old buildings	38,000	40,000
Delancey st, s w cor Pitt	34,000	40,000

Talking of increasing values, just consider the difference in the figures obtained for the northwest corner of Bleecker and Greene streets a year ago, and the price realized only the other day for the northeast corner of the same streets, viz.:

		Per sq. feet.
N w cor plot, 50x100, 5,000 square feet	$100,000	$20
N e cor lot, 25x125, 3,125 square feet	106,500	33.92

Then, again, the former plot had a frontage of 50 feet on Bleecker street, where lots are worth more than on Greene street.

On Monday the sales were mostly of a legal character. They included an assignee's sale of No. 38 Maiden lane and No. 30 Macdougal street, property belonging to the estate of William Whaley. The four-story brick dwelling on Macdougal street was sold to Grace T. Wells for $36,000, and the five-story store on Maiden lane to James P. Brown for $67,000. This latter property was purchased by its late owner on March 8th of last year for $66,000. A plot of six lots on the south side of 64th street, west of 8th avenue, was sold under a partition decree by order of court to George E. Hyatt, for $116,600. This was the largest sale of the day.

On Tuesday the sales were few and unimportant. Nos. 1 and 3 Cornelia street, and Nos. 164 and 166 West 4th street, were sold to Builder William Rankin for $36,600. This property could have been sold for $45,000 a few months ago, but the sale fell through because of a hitch in the proceedings. It was on the broker's books at $40,000. No. 2072 5th avenue is reported sold at private sale for $25,000. At an auction sale a couple of weeks ago it was knocked down for $27,500, but the parties failed to complete their purchase.

On Wednesday was presented the largest list of the week, although none of the parcels were of particular importance or interest, unless it was the sale to close the estate of Homer Morgan. The sixteen vacant lots on 102d, 103d, 104th and 105th streets, just west of 8th avenue, brought $83,350. The buyers included Ottinger Bros., Sonn Bros. the grocers, E. Johnson, Thos. Drummond and Owen McCrorken, who invests the surplus remaining from his liquor business in real estate. Among the other sales was that of No.

27 West 30th street, sold by order of the executors. It was purchased for $46,500, by Mrs. A. C. Van Brunt, one of the heirs, who resides in it. The sale attracted a number of fashionably dressed ladies around the auctioneer's stand, among them being Miss Van Brunt, Mrs. Clarence V. Kip and the purchaser, for whom a gentleman near Auctioneer Harnett did the bidding. No. 1530 9th avenue, a five-story flat and store, was sold for $34,000 to Louis Guck; No. 35 East 62d street to Joseph Egan for $24,000; and No. 37, adjoining, to J. Bergman for $18,900.

On Thursday, as on the previous days of the week, there was a large attendance, but the bidding was slow and evidently unsatisfactory. Many of the parcels were undoubtedly bid in. None of the sales were very large, and some of the most attractive properties were adjourned. Ten uncompleted flats on the west side of 7th avenue, between 128th and 129th streets, were sold under a decree of foreclosure with mortgage and costs of $20,715 and prior mortgages of $225,000. They were knocked down for $172,800 to David Frank. By a mistake John R. Foley bid on the property, and after the sale transferred his bid to Mr. Frank, who made the building loan on the flats. In partition by order of court No. 2191 3d avenue was sold for $60,000 to John Müller, and six lots on 128th and 129th streets, between 5th and Lenox avenues were sold to S. L. Simpson for $7,750 each. Nos. 152 to 156 Wooster street was sold to Daniel Rosenthal for $66,000. Nos. 252 and 254 West 55th street, a 33-foot four-story house, went to L. Cohen for $46,000. No. 191 Prince street, northwest corner of Sullivan street, sold to close the estate of John J. Borger, was purchased by Michael Egan for $31,000. David Frank secured four lots on 116th street, between Lenox and 7th avenues, for $10,000 each, and four lots in the rear on 115th street for $6,900 each. No 422 West 53d street went to J. Cornelius for $26,400. The sale of No. 204 5th avenue, No. 1124 Broadway and a Worth street parcel were adjourned to April 17th.

On Good Friday the only sale posted at the Exchange was one under foreclosure. It was adjourned for one week.

On Monday, April 7th, James L. Wells will sell twenty-two lots, four of which are on the 11th avenue Boulevard, the southwest corner of 184th street, four on Kingsbridge road, the southeast corner of 184th street, and fourteen on 184th street, south side, between 11th avenue and Kingsbridge road; and two valuable corners, one the southwest corner of Audubon avenue and 187th street, one lot, and the other the southeast corner of 187th street and Wadsworth avenue, one lot.

Special Notices.

The increase in the height of buildings of all classes in recent years has necessitated a very general use of steam pumps for water-service, elevators, steam heating, etc. Many pumps are in the market, but few are really first-class and adequately meet the necessities of builders and houseowners. Among those that can be confidently recommended and have acquired a first-class reputation for efficiency and durability, are the pumps of Henry R. Worthington, of Nos. 86 and 88 Liberty street. In many respects they are the best made. They are certainly the most widely known, and are in use not only very generally in this country but in Europe and Asia, having been selected even by foreign governments and municipalities in preference to the pumps of home manufacture or any others on the market. Builders and real estate owners in this city should inspect these admirable apparatuses which are constructed in different sizes, patterns, etc., to meet all special requirements.

A young man, thirty-two years of age, who has been in the real estate business for over ten years in a neighboring city, is anxious to establish himself in New York, and would like to obtain charge of some flats or tenement property, either from estates or private owners. Will guarantee careful personal supervision and prompt returns. Can furnish abundant references as to character, ability and responsibility. Please address, W. O. M., care RECORD AND GUIDE.

We have received a copy of the Book of Designs for doors, sashes, trim, closets, wardrobes, dressers, etc., just issued by the Buffalo Door and Sash Co. This catalogue should be in the hands of architects, builders, contractors and owners who are using woodwork in the construction or alteration of buildings. Much care has been given to the preparation of the work which contains cuts showing the latest and handsomest designs, all arranged so as to save time in writing out orders. The Buffalo Door and Sash Co. are now locacted in their new and handsome warehouse and salesrooms at the corner of 9th avenue and 124th street. The New York manager is the energetic Mr. Chas. S. Kendall. Six cents in stamps will secure a copy of the catalogue.

Owing to the negotiations for the sale of part of the mammoth hotel at Rockaway Beach not having been completed, the owner, Charles H. Southard, the well-known dealer in secondhand material, will take down the remaining portion of the hotel between now and July 1st. Mr. Southard will therefore have lots of first-class building material for sale. The same contractor has just completed tearing down the buildings on Hudson street, corner of Jay, on which site is to be erected a new building for the American Express Company. Mr. Southard's office and yard is on 9th avenue, extending from 14th to 15th streets.

Builders and owners who, within the next two weeks, wish to have rooms well papered with a good gold paper and a 9-inch frieze, should apply to "Albert" at this office. He will do this work at $3.25 per room. Tinting of ceilings will be done at an equally low price.

Jacob W. Smith, of No. 220 West 29th street, offers in another column some desirable flats for investment. These flats are four stories high, have stores on the ground floor, are 50x85x100 in size, and are situated at Nos. 72, 74 and 76 East 125th street. He also offers five four-story and basement private dwellings, Nos. 146–154 West 121st street, which are leased for two and three years for $1,600 and $1,700.

Builders and others should turn to the advertisement on another page wherein a number of first-class lots are offered for lease on the west side of the Grand Boulevard, between 61st and 62d streets. I. & S. Wormser, of the Mills Building on Broad street, will lease them on most favorable terms for twenty-one years, with two renewals.

The largest flat in the city south of 14th street, as far as the number of stories goes, in now being completed on Abingdon square. It is a seven-story structure, with a front of burnt brick and stone. The cost, according to the plans, was $80,000. The writer has more than once heard passers-by say, "It will be an easy matter to get lost in that house," referring to the twists and turns in the walls, owing to the irregular character of the plot, which is something like 73x66.8 in size.

Talking of flats brings to mind a sign on a flat recently built on Greenwich avenue. It reads: "Four, five and six room apartments to rent." Surely such flats go a great way towards accommodating families both large and small. The architect is a Mr. Goodwillie. In no other section of the city are flats of such odd shapes built as in the district already mentioned.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

[For prices see pages XI., XII., XIII., and XVI.]

BRICKS.—The current of the market for Common Hards appears to be setting in better shape and there is a fractional gain in value over last week. Good weather has kept the demand open and made a very fair balance against the arrivals, especially as many builders and contractors, having worked down their old accumulations, are now compelled to resort with greater frequency to the new offering as it comes to hand. For reasons well known there is not a liberal amount of waiting work this spring and possibly the expansion will be a little slow until after the middle of May, yet there are a great many places where brick can be used to first-rate advantage and consumption will no doubt continue steadily unless the cost is pushed too high. It may be well to note also that the firmness as now shown is developing mainly on the better qualities which are weekly running in smaller proportion, and while strictly choice will command $7.50, and even 7.62½ per M in exceptional cases a great many offerings made up of partially washed stock cannot be sold unless a full allowance for the difference in condition is made. All grades, however, are fractionally higher than one week ago, and we hear of Hackensacks commanding $7.00 with no Keyports now known to be available for less than $5.25 per M. Pales are also participating in the improvement, and quotations range up to $3.50 @3.75 per M with a pretty good demand for all first-class offerings and no surplus left on hand at the close. The accounts from along the river generally complain of backwardness in preparations for new production, the snows and heavy rains which so quickly lost their influence here acting as a check upon the movements of manufacturers. For fronts a generally good season is anticipated with a probability that work will be resumed as soon as the elements are propitious, and quite as full rates as last year are calculated upon. The prices fixed upon by the Trenton manufacturers at about the end of January last were as follows: Pressed brick, Nos. 2 and 9 inclusive, $20.00; pressed brick lighter than No. 2 and darker than No. 9, $16.00@19.00; best pressed paving brick, $12.00; second quality paving brick, $10.00; best stretcher brick, $14.00; best hard brick, $8.00; rough hard brick, $7.00@7.50, and salmon brick, $8.00 per M. Ordinary cost of transportation and handling must be added for cost here.

GLASS.—The demand for foreign cylinders has been very fair, somewhat fuller of late if anything, and the market retains generally good form throughout. Arrivals are not reaching important proportions, indeed have been rather light of late, and with old accumulations small and under control sellers retain the advantage that supports full former rates readily. Indeed the reported scarcity of soda ash is still referred to as a factor likely to eventually raise the line of cost. American glass is also doing pretty well on all the natural outlets, though reports from the primary points have of late suggested a slight shrinkage in trade, through which manufacturers were enabled to accumulate a little stock. Plate goes into consumption steadily, and all reports agree in calling values firm on basis of figures for some time current.

LATH.—In pretty much all essential features the market has remained without change. Demand was not particularly active at any time or from any quarter, yet apparently always full enough to take care of the available supply and even engage some of the stock afloat without raising objections to about former cost and especially on really first-class quality, of which it is claimed the offerings cannot be increased for a long time to come. Toward the close buyers have been a trifle more anxious and business is reported at $2.75, with nothing in the way of slab stock that we can learn of available for less than $2.65 per M and $2.50 quite generally asked on round wood. The quantity afloat has increased slightly this week, but is about all in small lots, and the indications are said to be very favorable for a free, prompt sale of the stock as it comes to hand.

LIME.—Cargoes have continued to drop in from Rockland to quite a fair extent, the fact that many manufacturers own their vessels preventing quite so much diversion of transportation facilities for ice freights as found in lumber and lath. The demand, however, seems to have proven quite equal to the occasion, and about all the supply is reported to have found reasonably prompt sale without difficulty, and at the usual rates. Some St. John stock also secured attention enough to result in sales to arrive at the full valuation for some time current, and operators in the State product tell us they are making some very good contracts and bringing the stock through by rail.

LUMBER.—The season is gradually creeping along and brings with it more or less increase in the volume of business. Deliveries into the channels of consumption are somewhat irregular, and possibly here and there a little disappointing, but complaining operators are apt to forget the comparatively liberal business done during the winter months when the open weather permitted the steady progress of so much work. The draft upon supplies then made is what is helping trade in first hand stock now, as dealers see the necessity for making good deficiencies in accumulation. In regard to general prospects opinions are somewhat contradictory, but no more so than usual at this period when desire is very likely to shape reports quite as much as actual belief, and it is difficult to see how general wants can become very seriously curtailed. Indeed, as we have already noted from time to time, nearly all standard grades of stock are under contract to a considerable extent, and some at even higher rates than last season, with sellers reasonably confident in ability to fully hold the gains they have made. An important decision has just been received at the Custom House from the Secretary of the Treasury with reference to the measurement of bonded lumber. The Collector some months ago, as a result of irregularities discovered in measurements in Burroughs' bonded lumber yard, issued instructions authorizing the collection of 25 cents per 1,000 feet to cover the expense of measuring. Lumber men protested vigorously against the imposition of this fee, and by the decision now received the Collector is required to discontinue it. There were said to be legal objections to its imposition.

Eastern Spruce may fairly be credited with a good demand, and while custom is shy enough at current cost to fight hard for every probably fractional advantage, that does not alter the fact that stuff is wanted and a great deal of it too including all sizes that can fairly be called merchantable. Nor have the chances for supply enlarged to any extent so far as can be discovered, or the ideas of manufacturers modified as the majority of them have orders booked and enough additional awaiting turn to make them pretty easy as to what their mills can find to do for a long while ahead, with the problem of transportation remaining quite a serious factor in the situation. The idea of other woods working in on cheaper lines as competition for a great deal of consumption where the lowest possible cost becomes a prime necessity, is a frequent suggestion, but as yet seems to be largely surmise, so far as anything really new as against last season is shown. Northern Spruce is expected to open firm and without anything in the way of a surplus upon which sellers will be anxious to realize.

Piling does not present any new phases. Between a considerable amount of what is left in chains already under contract, and the anticipated small arrivals unsold forcing a waiting outlet of some magnitude, and expected to grow larger, sellers naturally feel very little trepidation, and some assert that they would not contract now for cargoes to come forward except at a still further advance in cost.

Hemlock receives a certain amount of attack from a few quarters, and there is evidently a desire to bear the market, but the sale of first-class stock is in no way retarded, nor do those who have it to offer find any occasion to reduce the line of cost to attract buyers. Neither is the custom of a character that pays a premium for special terms, but comes from operators who know the market all the way through, and if they refuse to handle stock at some of the alleged low prices ruling it is because they do not consider it as cheap or as useful as that in which they invest.

White Pine is still commented upon in a somewhat irregular and at times conflicting manner, partly because it covers a pretty wide trade and partly because pretty much all operators work upon an independent policy. Many as usual have their regular mills with which to place orders, others are willing to negotiate with agents, either resident or traveling, the former through experience being able to give very good satisfaction in the matter of assortment, and the latter anxious to book an order, frequently offering temptation in the way of cost. Taken on the general run, however, about former rates remain, and as sellers commence to feel the business of other localities they show a degree of independence toward this market that is likely to grow as the season becomes more open.

Yellow Pine probably has the most independent position of any of the leading woods, owing to the fact that so little work is required to keep the market in shape. Dealers preserve harmonious action in the matter of distributive values, and while the manufacturers' combination adheres very closely to the original claim of seeking to regulate supplies only their success in doing so gives excellent support to the general situation. Some very good factory, warehouse and railroad orders have been placed, which in conjunction with a very good demand for stock, makes all in all a very fair trade. Advices from primary sources indicate continued great expectations regarding the Western demand this season.

Carolina Pine is reported upon somewhat irregularly, even by those in the trade and who naturally are expected to say the best they can for an article seeking sale. It, however, seems to be a matter of competition, with here and there a little greater strain of jealousy than common, as the actual run of business is quite as full as calculated upon, and many manufacturers are going right along placing supplies at old rates.

Hardwoods are not generally active, and possibly in a broad sense it might be called a quiet market. Yet for such stock as first-class quarter sawed oak demand really exceeds the supply, and prices rule stiffly, with a possibility that sellers can maintain their advantage readily. Carefully selected ash does well, and poplar holds its proportion in the volume of current business. All the woods mentioned secure some attention from exporters, and walnut also, but for foreign trade the selection must be of the best. Advices from points of supply are somewhat conflicting as regards the quantities likely to be offered, but generally convey an impression that first-class manufacturers more and more appreciate the value of their output, and will ask for it all it may be worth.

The exports of lumber, exclusive of hardwoods, from the port of New York during the month of Marc were as follows:

	1890. Feet.	1889. Feet.
To West Indies	3,931,000	3,048,000
To South America	2,882,000	3,527,000

Total feet	7,702,000	8,006,000
Previously reported	15,548,000	14,460,000

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

From the Timberman as follows:

Down in Pennsylvania, around Williamsport and Lockhaven, lumbermen are getting ready for a good run of timber. The log drivers have been started on the upper tributaries of the river, and millions of feet of lumber will be afloat perhaps before this is in print. The hemlock men are full of hope. The recently announced advance has been made successfully. The supplies of hemlock are not as large as a year ago, or at least that is the talk. The distribution of hemlock since last fall in all Eastern cities has been large, and buyers are now ready to make contracts, and in numerous instances have done so.

The Georgia sawmill men are expecting great things from their association, and declare that its formation is the lumbermen's "declaration of independence," and hope that its virility and weight will be much greater than those of similar organizations in other States. They expect to be duly incorporated under a special act, and have a board of inspection, under whose rules and classifications all the yellow pine lumber in Georgia will be sold, and whose sworn inspectors' certificate shall be final between the buyer and seller. They hope, also, to be powerful enough to compel the railroads to give the great lumber interest accommodations equal to that afforded other branches of trade.

In Chicago the opinion prevails that the market on piece stuff will open at about $10.50 for short lengths dry, and $9.75 for green. In view of this, it seems folly that dealers should continue to sell their present stock at prices that will not average much over $11.50. It may be that they are holding prices down with a view to breaking the market as soon as possible after the opening, but this scheme does not work as well now as in former years, and besides they have most of them sold down so close that their immediate needs will create a demand which will keep cargo prices stiff.

No. 2 boards are getting to be very scarce, and certainly ought to bring more money than they are now doing. They are selling at $11.50@12, which is fifty cents to one dollar lower than it should be.

Fencing is in good demand, both for No. 1 and No. 2, and the supply is rapidly growing scarcer. No. 1, 14 feet, is held at $13.75@14; No. 2, 16 feet, $12, 12 and 14 feet, $11. No. 1 dressed and matched brings $15.50@16.

The Northwestern Lumberman as follows:

There begins to be a little stir in the cargo business around the lakes. At Bay City and Saginaw there have lately been a sufficient number of inquiries to indicate a revival of purchasing interest on the part of dealers, and several important sales have been made. Prices are also reported to be slightly higher than at the opening last year. Corresponding to this late phase of demand in Eastern Michigan is a brisker movement of stocks at Tonawanda and Buffalo, going to show that the Eastern trade is beginning to assume a spring activity. The yard trade in the Saginaw valley is also reported good. At Manistee buyers have begun to put in an appearance, and sales have been made. Dealers in this city begin to quietly slip out of the city and around the lake to see their acquaintances at the mills, and they are more frequently seen on the cargo market in this city than a short time ago. Several sales have been made in the Chequamegon bay district in Wisconsin, some of the lumber to come to this market, and considerable to go East. Altogether the indications are that dealers are coming out of their hibernation, and that within a short time there will be activity all around the lakes. The manufacturers at lake points are getting ready to start their mills. At Manistee there is talk of warming up some of them on April 1st, and at Muskegon two or three mills are running. At Bay City the vessel men are predicting an early opening of the cargo season, and it is thought that dry lumber will be gone off Saginaw River docks by June 1st.

The hardwood trade of the Ohio River and its tributaries, as well as that of Arkansas, is in a peculiar position. This spring railroad, factory and dealers' orders were never more plentiful. The demand for quartered oak, red plain oak, machine ash and timber for railroad purposes has been especially active and urgent. The movement was becoming very large, when floods in the rivers came and nearly placed an embargo on operations. Orders booked weeks ago remain unfilled, and there is poor prospect that the condition will be better for some time to come. This week the Ohio River valley has been visited by another immense downpour of rain, and the water in the streams has risen higher than before. Mills at Cincinnati and Louisville are threatened with inundation. The runs of logs in the tributaries have astonished the oldest river men, and many rafts have been scattered. The loss to log owners and mill men must be great. The floods have checked trade at all the river towns. St. Louis is running short of hardwoods because of the rains and high water down river and in Arkansas. The result should be a stiffening of prices at that point, as well as at others affected by the floods.

A Montreal paper says:

Eight million, two hundred and eighty-five thousand cubic feet is the estimated square timber cut of the Upper Ottawa lumbermen for the season of 1889-90. The selling value of this at the average rate of 26 cents per cubic foot is $2,154,100. This amount also represents in trees cut down, counting fifty cubic feet to a tree, 165,700. This is in excess of the cut of any previous season, due to the brisk demand of last year.

METALS.—COPPER—Ingot, as intimated in our last report, sold with considerable freedom on contract, and rumors of further deals have since continued to float about, with evidence of more or less truth in some cases. There appears to be a disposition, however, to observe more or less reticence regarding whatever may be going on, and it is still difficult to obtain exact information, though it is believed the cost did not vary to any extent from about ruling market rates. Quotations are generally placed at 14½@14⅝c. for Lake and 12½@13c. for casting brands. Manufactured Copper has not changed on the general line of valuation, and while the volume of business varies a little at times, the market on the whole is in fairly satisfactory condition. We quote as follows: Sheets, not above 30x72 in., 16oz. and over, 22c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 23c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 24c.; do, 10 to 12 oz, 25c.; do, 8 to 10 oz, 28c.; do, under 8 oz, 30c. Sheets longer than 72 inches add 1c. for 12@14 oz., 2c. for 10@12 oz, and 3c. for 8@10 oz. Sheets, not above 36x96 in., 16 oz and over, 22c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 24c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 26c.; do, 10 to 12 oz, 30c.; do, 8 to 10 oz, 33c. Sheets longer than 96 inches 22c. for over 32 oz, and add 1c. for 16 to 32 oz, 14 to 16 oz, 12 to 14 oz, and 2c. for 8 to 10 oz. Sheets, not above 48x96, 32 to 64 oz, 22c.; do, 16 to 32 oz, 25c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 27c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 34c. Sheets wider than 48x96 and longer, 22@25c. for 32 to 64 oz. and over, and 27@30c. for 16 to 32 oz. All bath tub sheets, per lb., 16 oz, 25c.; 14 oz, 27c.; 12 oz, 29c.; and 10 oz, 30c. Bolt copper, ⅝ inch diameter and over, 22c. Circles, 60 diameter and less, 3c. above price of sheets of same thickness; circles, 60 to 96 do do, 5c. do; circles, 96 do and over, 6c. do. Segment and pattern sheets, 3c. above price of sheets required to cut them from. Cold or hard rolled copper, 1@2c. per lb. above the foregoing prices. Copper bottom, 26@29c. per lb. IRON—Scotch Pig has in a general way secured a somewhat better position. The demand was not active, and most of the orders for ordinary sized parcels, but the market seems to be getting back into a normal condition once more, and values are steadied up accordingly. We quote at $21 25@26.00 per ton, according to brand. American Pig retains an unsettled tone, as between some natural weakness in the market, and the bearish stories brought to work by interested parties who seem to be flooding their reports with exaggerations if not downright misstatements, operators have in many cases become nervous and apprehensive. All reported sales at low prices, however, have thus far been clearly traceable to inferior iron, with little if anything in the way of standard stock going at any concession. Business is of fair proportions, but most new orders are confined to small parcels adapted to early requirements. We quote at $18.00@19.00 per ton for No. 1 X foundry; $17.00@18.00 for No. 2 X do., and $16.00@17.00 for Gray Forge. Old material partakes of the universal condition of irregularity prevailing for all supplies of similar character, and not many sales of importance have been made public of late, indeed probably none have taken place except in isolated cases. Values in consequence are somewhat uncertain for all descriptions of stock. We quote at about $25.00@25.50 for old rails; $22.50@23.00 for No. 1 wrought scrap; $18.00@18.50 for cast scrap, and $17.00@17.50 for car wheels. Manufactured Iron has probably a somewhat fuller proportionate outlet than the crude materia; but a great deal of it on contract, and of really new demand there is comparatively little, and store trade is also rather slowish. Former list rates are retained, but with some intimation of occasional cutting. We quote Common Merchant Bar, ordinary sizes, at 2.10@2.12c. from store, and refined at 2.30@2.60c.; Rods, round and square, 2.40@2.45c.; Bands, 2.60@2.65c.; Norway Nail Rods, 4@5c., and domestic sheet on the basis of 3.00@3.05c. for common Nos. 10@16. Other descriptions at corresponding prices, with 1-10c. less on large lots from cars. Steel Rails are held with a fair showing of firmness, and agents claim to have a sufficient quantity of work in hand to make them in a measure independent of the market for the present. Demand, however, is also quite indifferent and all the recent new business has been confined to small and irregular orders. We quote at $34.00@35.00 per ton for standard section at the mills and $35.00@36.00 do. at tide water. LEAD—Domestic Pig has found only a limited uncertain sort of demand and the indifference of buyers created an easier feeling, though without materially increasing the offering or the desire to realize. We quote at 3.85@3.90c. as to quality. The manufactures of lead are quoted: Bar, 4½c.; pipe, 6c.; sheet, 6¾c., less the usual discount to the trade; and tin lined pipe, 15c.; block tin pipe 45c., on same terms. TIN—Pig in a speculative way moves only in unison with the pulsations of the foreign market, and on consumptive account the orders continue in the old narrow and unimportant channel, buyers simply preparing themselves against immediate positive wants. We quote at about 2 1/8@20.15c. for round lots, and 20¼@20⅜c. for jobbing parcels. Tin plate has been fluctuating less freely of late, and for the thoroughly standard grades holders are pretty steady, but demand rarely runs into investment against future wants. We quote prices as follows: I. C. Charcoal, ½ cross assortment, Melyn grades, $6.00@6.05. each additional X add $1.50; I. C. Charcoal, ½ cross assortment, Allaway grade, $5.15@5.20, each additional X add $1; Charcoal terne, M. F. grade, 14x20, $6.65 @ 6.70; M. F. grade, 20x28, $13.70@13.75; Worcester, 14x20, $4.50@4.85; Worcester, 20x28, $9.70@9.75.; Deane grade, 14x20, $4.65@4.70; Dean grade, 20x28, $9.30@9.40, D. R. D. grade, 14x20, $4.50@4.60; D. R. D. grade, 20x28, $9.00@9.20; I. C. Coke, Penlan grade, $4.40@4.45; J. B. grade, 14x20, $4.50 @ 4.60; I. C. Bessemer steel, squares, $5.00@5.05 basis; I. C. Siemens steel, squares, $5.10@— basis. Spelter not very active, but the supply appears to be well under control and owners carrying it steadily. We quote 5.05@5.20c. for common Western, according to brand.

NAILS.—The market remains in a more or less unsatisfactory condition, and operators generally are finding fault. A great deal of stock in one way or another is wanted, but buyers seem to act and feel as though masters of the situation, and manage to retain most of the advantages in negotiating, with values on cut nails again somewhat shaded. We quote at $1.90@1.95 per keg for car lots, and $2.00@2.05 per keg for parcels from store.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—There has been some complaint over the condition of trade this week, though nothing of a serious character, and the disposition is to look upon conditions as only temporary, probably due in part to the commencement of the month. Still, now and then comes an admission that the call from jobbers and interior is not spreading much, and while consumption of standard goods is not likely to shrink to any extent, distributors will not buy in anticipation of their wants. Cost remains about steady all around. Linseed Oil secures good average attention, and the situation is so well in hand that values rule quite firmly. We quote at 60@61c. for Western, and 63@64c. for City. Spirits Turpentine has been somewhat more freely offered, and under the supply thus available rates fell away. A little more business was done at the decline, but without renewing the tone so far as could be discovered. We quote 40½@41½c. per gallon, according to quantity, delivery, etc.

TAR AND PITCH.—There is a fair running demand from regular sources, but not enough to develop any unusual feature, and the line of cost remains much the same as previously ruling. We quote Pitch at $1.40@1.50 per bbl.; Tar at $2.12½@2.30, according to quantity, quality and delivery.

VOL. XLV. APRIL 12, 1890. No. 1,152.

A week ago bull talk on the stock market was prevalent, but it was only talk, and as a consequence the first unfavorable news sent prices down. At last week's close there were indications of an advance, but no sooner was a little activity seen than the rates for money became high and unsettled and checked the upward movement. Since that time the continued refusal of the Missouri Pacific to join the Southwestern Association, the cutting of rates and reports on this year's crop prospects have assisted the decline. At the close last night the market was weak, with the probabilities strongly leaning towards a further decline. The reason for Missouri Pacific's obstinate refusal of friendly combination is yet a matter of conjecture, and will only be revealed when it suits the power which controls it to reveal it, but meantime its action on the market can only be bad. United States Express has been prominent among the weak stocks, its weakness being due to the announcement that the company has decided to reduce its dividend from a rate of 5 to 4 per cent. per annum, at which it stood prior to 1887, when the company increased its capital $3,000,000 to $10,000,000, to acquire the Baltimore and Ohio Express, and increased the rate of the dividend paid upon it. Under one of the causes which have depreciated stocks, namely the crop prospects, the grain markets have been favorably affected, but there is no new feature in the reports of business generally, which record, with very slight exceptions, dullness prevalent, as they have not ceased to do for some time. Railroads continue to make gratifying increases in earnings, but this is one of the periods when earnings cease to influence the market value of stocks.

The appointment of a Rapid Transit Commissioner by Mayor Grant undoubtedly is primarily, if not entirely, a political move. The personnel of the Commission he named is quite satisfactory; but its powers are too limited to give the city the rapid transit it needs. Mayor Grant knows this. In May, 1889, after the first defeat of his bill, he said to a reporter of THE RECORD AND GUIDE in answer to the question: "What course of action do you propose taking now that your measure has been killed at Albany?" "I shall have to fall back upon the power which the law at present gives me. I can, on the application of fifty property-owners, appoint a Commission to determine upon the solution of the rapid transit question without waiting till another session. It would only be a waste of time to wait till next year and endeavor to push through another bill." Yet the Mayor did wait till another session, and did endeavor to push through another bill—very unnecessary proceedings surely if he had only to "fall back upon the power which the law at present gives" to find a solution of the rapid transit question. He knew better. He knew that no Commission that he has power to appoint could give the city rapid transit; and, in view of these facts, it is plain that his last move is political. As Hamilton Fish puts it—"it's a trump card." Exactly what the outcome will be it is not easy to see; but one thing is apparent, if the Fassett bill should pass both Houses the Mayor's Commission will give the Governor an excuse to veto it if he should wish to, as no doubt he will.

And so the political game goes merrily on, while the interests of New York city are injuriously affected and her people suffer the loss of time, health and comfort. The whole business is an outrage that cannot be too strongly characterized. Here is a great city, the inhabitants of which need and desire additional means of transportation. This does not involve the expenditure of State funds or even municipal funds, and the only matter of importance to determine is the conditions upon which the franchise or franchises shall be granted to private enterprise. On this matter there is no controversy whatsoever, nor any other so far as the people of New York city are concerned. There is no reason why the acquiescence of the Legislature should not be merely a matter of routine, a perfunctory proceeding; and it would be such were it not for the dickering and self-seeking of a parcel of politicians who refuse to budge an inch from what they consider their interests, to serve the welfare of a city of a million and three-quarters population. The Fassett bill should pass instanter, as the Mayor's bill should have been passed a year ago. Either of these measures would have given the city rapid transit under as favorable circumstances as can be expected. New York will pass out of existence if we have to wait for a perfect measure, free of politics, to be carried out by absolutely immaculate men. In this generation certainly the carrying out of any plan adopted is likely to produce some unsatisfactory and perhaps some unsavory results. This must be expected. It usually occurs with our large enterprises. But this is entirely the affair of the people of this city, and the politicians at Albany are not likely to save them.

Many complaints reach us from architects of the inconvenience and loss of time and money occasioned by the Health Department and the Building Department being in different parts of the city. In these days, when so many economies are effected by what may be termed the "disposition of parts," it does seem that these complaints are well founded. The two departments we speak of are intimately related, the law requiring that the sanction of both must be obtained in the case of certain buildings before work can be commenced. As it is now, two sets of plans have to be prepared, and architects have to wait upon two departments, miles apart. There is no occasion for this. Steps should be taken at once to put the two bureaus under the same roof.

Judging by the little that appears in New York papers about the Exposition it might be imagined that the enterprise had completely failed, or had sunk to the insignificance of a Western agricultural fair. Once in a while there appears, as in the Tribune on Monday, a spirited editorial suggesting to the Chicago directors that the Fair might be put on wheels with advantage, and be drawn about their city to the inspiring airs of a steam calliope; but beyond this deep though playful sort of wisdom New York "journalism" has little to say about what is a great national undertaking. It is apparent that this city has not yet learned the lesson that her failure to secure the Fair should have taught her. When the project of celebrating 1492 by an exhibition was proposed, New York considered (it is an old time prejudice) that being the metropolis she could have no real competitors in other cities. She was the city of the country, pre-eminent in every respect. When Chicago snatched away the prize New York comforted her pride by crying "politics," "bribery," and so forth; and big in her own conceit, settled down to the belief that she was still the one really great city in the country, and that a fair held elsewhere must be something of a failure. This belief will in due time receive proper correction, and it is to be hoped that then New York will perceive that not as a city, nor in wealth, nor in enterprise, does she occupy quite the exalted position of her fancy. To American cities she is not by any means what Paris is to other French cities, or London to English cities. New York is woefully deficient in nearly all of the distinguishing characteristics of a great metropolis. Her municipal works and public conveniences would disgrace a second-rate city; her museums and public buildings are unworthy of the commercial capital of a wealthy people; of public enterprise there is scarcely any; the government of the city is a "dire circumstance," inefficient, and extravagant without result; and, speaking generally, architecture, except in the case of office buildings, is of inferior order, tasteless and vulgar. A competent judge, who recently spent some time inspecting buildings in Chicago, says that the architecture of that city is decidedly superior to that of New York, and anyone who makes the comparison will pass the same judgment. Considering New York's pretensions these are disagreeable facts. Instead of repealing the ten million dollar bill passed by the State Legislature for Exhibition purposes it would be well if that sum were spent under judicious and honest guidance in improving the city and bringing its condition somewhat into correspondence with the position it arrogates.

As to the idea that the Fair will be a failure in Chicago, it is a delusion, or rather a prejudice. Even the notion that the Exposition will not be international in character is wrong. Foreign manufacturers and their agents in this country are already making extensive preparations for exhibits. Against the statement of New York "journalism" that the Exposition in Chicago will be but a large agricultural fair, wherein big pumpkins and fatted pigs will figure principally, let us put the statement of one of the leading Austrian manufacturers—Mr. B. Ludwig, now in Chicago making arrangements for the exhibits of his firm:

The exhibits of Austria and Germany will certainly, and those of other European countries probably, far exceed both in size and beauty the exhibits which they made last year at Paris. At Paris, Germany had scarcely anything, because of the strained political relations with France. The Austrians have not yet forgotten that it was the French who beheaded Marie Antoinette, the daughter of Maria Therese, the Austrian Empress. Until that is forgotten France can expect no Austrian exhibit of importance. Such exhibits as were made at Paris by my country and by Germany were, with very rare exceptions, those of petty tradesmen and the smallest retailers. They did not show our large resources and manufactures. Austria wishes to regain the standing voluntarily lost at Paris, by sending a really superb exhibit to Chicago, for at Paris last year, when the poor representations from the German and Austrian Empires were compared with the exhibit of France, it was natural that people should decide that it was best in future to trade with French manufacturers, the natural conclusion being that they were the best.

We have not yet appreciated the size and beauty of Chicago, nor have we grasped the fact that, with a history of scarcely fifty years, she can still be of great importance. We still think of her as on the edge of the wilderness. But for all that I should not be surprised if the exhibit we shall send you in 1892 should prove even grander than you desire to have compared with your own. At any rate, for the reasons I have given, you may rest assured that your foreign exhibit will far exceed that of the Paris Exposition.

While speaking of the Exposition, why doesn't New York seize the idea of a great international naval review in 1892? If proper steps were taken the naval powers of Europe would doubtless consent to send a squadron of some of their finest vessels to this country. New York has not got the Fair, but that is no reason why nothing should be done in this city to celebrate the discovery of the continent. We should make something of the event and do our part in what should be a national celebration. Our citizens should organize for this purpose and subscribe. Let us have a great art exhibit or an exhibition of the industries of New York State in a noble building that will be a permanent addition to the architecture of the city. In a time of National rejoicing, New York, the port at which our foreign visitors will land, should not be in the dun of her everyday existence.

The Interest of Real Estate in Good Government.

Disagreeable fact as it is, it must be conceded that apparently no exhibition that can be made to the people of this city of the vileness, vulgarity, and inefficiency of their government is sufficient to prompt a vigorous and general effort on their part to place the administration of municipal affairs in the hands of worthy and respectable citizens. Unfortunately, in a history of government, the chapters treating of official corruption and inefficiency would be by no means the shortest; but it may be affirmed that, in modern times at least, no more repulsive picture of a blackguard government—corrupt, utterly sordid and coarse—has ever been disclosed than in this city in the last few weeks. Yet it cannot be said that the public conscience has been deeply touched thereby; that any great amount of serious indignation has been aroused; that a sense of degradation has been brought home to the community by the tale of "nodding judges," venal officials, imposition and extravagance that has been printed for the world to read. As in a dozen similar cases in the past—as in the public markets and Dock Department scandals of only yesterday—the whole affair will probably end in a newspaper sensation and a certain amount of "politics." A government of, by, and for pothouse politicians will continue, despite whatever superficial changes (dubbed "reforms") may be made in the personnel or machinery of the administration. How little good fruit comes of even so determined an agitation as that against corruption in the case of the Boodle Aldermen is clearly shown by the evidence given by ex-Alderman Conkling, son of the late Senator Conkling, this week, before the Fassett Committee. Mr. Conkling testified that in 1887 the electric light franchises for lighting the city were the subject of a "combine" to prevent competition; that by only the persistent opposition of the minority in the Common Council was the cost per lamp reduced from 50 cents per night to 25 cents, and that certain Aldermen held stock in the favored company. Furthermore, Mr. Conkling testified that the question of permitting the Fourth Avenue Railroad Co. to use electric cars was not decided on its merits in 1888, and "the application for the franchise by the East River Tunnel Co. was opposed and defeated through improper motives." Yet, at the moment of these iniquitous proceedings some of the Boodle Aldermen had been convicted for similar offences, and were in Sing Sing, and indictments were hanging over the heads of the others! In the face of facts such as these what hope is there for good government in this city? How is a real reform to be accomplished? Who doubts that in spite of the facts concerning the character of the leaders of Tammany Society, published the other day by the Evening Post, that organization will "run" its candidates next fall, and elect most of them, as usual? Yet ought not the publication of proof that an organization is controlled by, and run in the interests of, a set of uneducated men, most of whom are professional politicians, and many, "toughs," criminals, and consorters with criminals, put a summary end to its existence, so far as respectable people are concerned? Ought such an organization to play any part whatsoever in the government of any city?

It is useless to ask these questions. For whatever answered the fact will still remain that corrupt and inefficient government will continue. Experience has shown the futility of trying to get the community to act by appealing to them in the name of morality. There must be a change of tactics. An effort must be made to obtain reform by showing people how great is the pecuniary loss entailed upon them personally by bad government.

In this view of the matter no part of the community is more directly interested than owners of real estate. At all events in the first place they have to foot the bills and pay out most of the cash that is required by extravagance, and suffer the loss that arises from inefficient government, At present taxes in New York city are no inconsiderable item, yet it is certain that quite one-half of them are the direct result of peculation and extravagance. Had there been honest government the city would be in every bit as good (or bad) condition as it is to-day—as well cleaned, paved, sewered, lighted, etc.—while the debt would be only half as much as it is. Lest this should seem to be an exaggeration, it may be well to quote what the Commission of 1877 reported as to the debt of New York city. What they said is as true to-day as it was twelve years ago.

> The magnitude and rapid increase of this debt are no less remarkable than the poverty of the results exhibited as the return for so prodigious an expenditure. It was abundantly sufficient for the construction of all the public works of a great metropolis for a century to come, and to have adorned it besides with the splendors of architecture and art. Instead of this the wharves and piers are, for the most part, temporary and perishable structures; the streets are poorly paved; the sewers in great measure imperfect, insufficient and in bad order; the public buildings shabby and inadequate, and there is little which the citizen can regard with satisfaction save the Aqueduct and its appurtenances and the public park.

Now the prosperity and growth of a city depend upon something more than its geographical advantages. The manner in which its affairs are managed, the condition in which it is maintained, the development of its natural advantages, the nature of its artificial attractions; in a word, the degree of its efficiency in meeting the requirements of its inhabitants are surely of paramount importance as factors in determining its prosperity. In scarcely any particular is New York City a well-conditioned municipality. Its streets have become a by-word for shabbiness, filth and bad condition; it is poorly lighted; in a large part the water supply does not rise above the second or third stories; the school accommodation is inadequate in several sections; the facilities for transportation are disgracefully insufficient; the docks are in a wretched condition; the street system in the lower part of the city is unsatisfactory, and much-needed improvements are delayed by dilatory commissions. Are these the conditions under which a city prospers and increases in numbers and wealth? Are these the conditions which attract population and build up industries? It is needless to point out that real estate owners have a direct personal interest in the answer to these questions. And this brings us to the pecuniary importance of good government to every one who possesses a square foot of land in the city. They of all others are interested in having the city's affairs well managed by honest and competent officials. Something more is needed than trust in our "magnificent future." The words that Plato puts into the mouth of Socrates may be applied to our present situation: "It isn't of much importance when the corruption of society, and pretensions to be what you are not extends only to cobblers; but when the guardians of the laws and of the government are only seemers and not real governors, that you will observe, is the utter ruin of the State." We would like to see the Real Estate Exchange give its attention to this subject and exert its influence more actively and vigorously than ever to obtain good government. One of its most important functions in the conception of its founders was that it should represent the larger interest of real estate, that it should be an organization wherein property-owners could consolidate their influence and exert it potently on matters affecting their prosperity. An opportunity for the discharge of this function will be presented next fall, and real estate men should organize through the Exchange to obtain good government for this city in place of corrupt political rule.

The utter absurdity of the present methods of indexing deeds, and the burdensome fee system attached to it, is wonderfully and beautifully shown by a document just issued by the Kings County Clerk. In Brooklyn, as in New York, the title companies have been cutting, sadly cutting, into the receipts of the city offices, because of the cheaper and more expeditious character of the former's work. In this city the Register and County Clerk are more or less callous to this fact, because their offices are salaried, and consequently their income is not dependent on business competition with the title companies; but the Kings County Clerk is in no such independent position, and he is naturally exercised over the loss which his office has suffered in fees, in such wise that he has issued a circular, giving "fifteen good reasons for using official searches." The document, taken all in all, is about as curious a one as was probably ever issued from a municipal department. Here is a public official, elected by the suffrages of the people, and primarily responsible to them for the conduct of his office, obliged to issue advertising circulars and plead for business on the ground that "it is a sound business policy to encourage competition by a division of patronage." A city department is at once reduced to the level of a commercial enterprise, to live or die according as it does or does not do a paying business. This was very well when the city had a monopoly of the searching; but, as it was conducting a business enterprise and did not adopt business methods—that is, it did not improve its service to suit the times—very naturally it has lost trade; and the absurdity of the whole system began more glaringly to manifest itself. But now that the matter can be seen in all its preposterousness, measures should be taken to remove the anachronism. If the County Clerk would get a bill through the Legislature providing for the re-indexing of the "plant," and the future indexing of all instruments affecting real estate on some simple and convenient plan—the plan of local areas—why, he certainly would be able to increase his "patronage." If, furthermore, somebody, not the County Clerk, would introduce a bill making the office a salaried one, and reducing the fees to a sum which would just pay for the necessary clerk hire, then Brooklyn might be relieved of the absurdity of having a city official competing with corporations. Elective officials should have no functions which are not public.

When the Board of Education originally applied to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment for an appropriation to purchase the land required on 59th street as a site for its new building, the latter refused to grant it immediately on the ground that so long as there was such a crying lack of school accommodations as there is at present, the attention of the Board of Education should be solely occupied with providing for this necessity. It was obvious that our municipal officers could not long stick to such a decision. Only last year they indefinitely postponed the Elm street improvement, because of the necessity the city was under to build new offices for many of its officials. Consequently it was not a matter for surprise last week when the Board of Estimate and Apportionment appropriated the required $130,000. Now the Central Labor Union makes the same criticism, and considers it to be iniquitous for the Board to use the $130,000 in such a way, "while thousands of the children of the town are unable to get into the public schools because of the lack of sufficient accommodations." This talk is simply demagogic shibboleth. The present offices of the Board of Education are both badly situated and insufficient for the purpose; there is but little doubt that the efficiency of the Board can be increased by a more convenient and commodious building. The argument of the Central Labor Union amounts simply to this: Certain children in this city are unable to obtain school accommodations, consequently the Board of Education, which is in no wise responsible for this state of things, must be incommoded and hampered in its work. There might be some justice to the criticism if the Board proposed to spend any money for the purpose; but the cost of the improvement will be fully covered by the sale of the present building.

Reform, So-called.

According to the Evening Post, Comptroller Myers, who has been occupied since he assumed his office with the difficult task of simplifying and modernizing the methods of his department, has discovered a plan to push this good work into the Bureau of Arrears of Taxes and Assessments. At present any property-owner who wishes to discover whether or not the city possesses any claims against his property in the shape of unpaid taxes, assessments or water rents that date back for more than a year is obliged to employ private searchers, who are under no responsibility for errors and who can charge their own schedule of prices. Mr. Myers admits that the work is satisfactorily done, but he is of the opinion that in the nature of the case it ought to fall upon the city to do it. Furthermore he thinks that the present fees are in many cases exorbitant, running at times (according to this story) "as high as $40 or $50 for a plot of land." These facts being admitted, it becomes clear that such a state of things ought to be remedied, and our Comptroller does not hesitate to propose what he probably considers to be a satisfactory solution. The solution proposed by our Comptroller has been embodied in a bill amending the Consolidation Act, and "substituting for the antiquated and imperfect provisions above referred to features resembling those relative to searches in the offices of the County Clerk and Register." Mr. Myers' bill provides that any property-owner may require, in writing, a search to be made for all city liens against his property, that this search shall be made by salaried clerks (to be appointed by the Comptroller), who shall be under a bonded responsibility for errors. They are to be made returnable in fifteen days, with a possibility of more expedition on an increase in the fees, and are to be accompanied by a certificate, which, in case nothing is found against a parcel of land, will discharge the said parcel from all liens and encumbrances whatsoever. Ten dollars is to be the fee charged for searching and certifying all taxes and liens against a given parcel, and $5 for searching and certifying either for arrears of taxes or assessments or Croton water rents and charges or sales, while 50 cents a year will be the insignificant sum for which a search may be made within specified dates. This will bring, according to the Comptroller, not less than $100,000 per annum into the city treasury, and perhaps very nearly twice that sum.

Not to mince matters, we will at once and without hesitation declare that the so-called reform, above outlined, is, in point of fact, no reform at all, that it will rather increase than decrease the cost of having the searches made, that it will help to perpetuate the present system or no system, under which the arrears of taxes and assessments are classified, and that whatever incidental advantages it may have over the private searches, as at present conducted, are more than counterbalanced by the way in which it will crystallize methods which in themselves are fundamentally unjust and cumbersome.

The essential fault with the present method of searching is that the arrears of taxes and assessments, like our deeds and mortgages are not indexed in a way to give a simple and convenient notice to a property-owner what the charges are against his property. Any reform which does not remedy that fault is, as we said before, "no reform at all," for it does not touch the vital part of the difficulty. We will admit that with a proper system of indexing the searches ought to be made by the city, but if the searching is put into the hands of our city officials antecedent to the creation of a proper system of indexing, if officials are to be created whose interests it will be to maintain the present clumsy, ridiculous methods, the main consequence will be that any attempt at real reform will be hampered by the weight of adverse political influence. Experience, unfortunately, affords ample authority for this statement. The most persistent and the most unscrupulous opposition to the Block Indexing bill, which takes effect next January, proceeded from the Register's office. Every means were taken to impede its passage and nullify its provisions. In the same way, when a short form bill was introduced into the Legislature some years ago, it was killed by the political influence of a parcel of rural County clerks, whose fees were large in proportion to the amount of verbiage they had an opportunity to record. What should be done is this: Indexes should be prepared under the same general plan as those embodied in the bill for block indexing passed during the last session of the Legislature; under which should be entered all the unpaid taxes, assessments and water rents affecting any parcel of property within the block. When this work was once well done it would be a matter of but little or no time or trouble to ascertain what charges there were against a given piece of property. As far back as 1885 Dwight H. Olmstead included such a reform in the block indexing bill recommended by him to the Legislature; and it was removed from subsequent bills only because it was necessary, in order to pass any bill at all, that the measure should be stripped of everything not absolutely essential to the principle of block indexing as applied to deeds and mortgages. Its method is simple; its utility is obvious; it would remove the time element in the searches and make it appear on what we may call the book-surface of the block all the charges against the land situated therein.

Consider the expense and the delay attached to the workings of Mr. Myer's proposition. He has asserted that in some cases the charges of the present unofficial searchers amount to "$40 and $50 for a plot of land." We are not prepared to deny that such fees have never been charged, but the average is so much smaller that those figures are grotesquely misrepresenting. We understand that the unofficial searchers charge about $11 and not more than $13 for their work; and the titles companies charge much less. The fee of one of the guarantee companies, for instance, for searching for unpaid taxes, unpaid assessments and unpaid Croton water rents is $7.50, just one-half what would be charged for the same service under Mr. Myer's bill. So it is with the time allowed in which to perform the service. It is preposterous to designate by the name of "reform" a system which, under ordinary circumstances, will force a property-owner to wait fifteen days for a service which ought to be performed in as many minutes. Preposterous it is, also, to call any system a reform which compels a property-owner to pay $10 or $15 for a service which he ought to be able to command for nothing at all. Mr. Myers says his bill would bring into the City Treasury between $100,000 and $200,000 per annum. But why, in the name of common sense and equity, should such a service bring in a single cent? Is it not enough to tax the real property of this city $30,000,000 a year? Out of such a sum cannot we afford the salaries of a few clerks to tell a man whether or not his property is clear? It would be about as sensible to charge fee for the rendering of tax bills.

There is but one justification we can find for Mr. Myer's bill, and we doubt whether this one consideration would commend itself to the city at large. It would provide a number of fat and not particularly harassing positions for gentlemen whose services to the County Democratic organization are unquestioned, and consequently who should, of course, be supported at the city's expense. But, although we fully appreciate the fact that Tammany has at present a too extensive occupation of the official land of Canaan, we must confess to feeling the same prejudice, which we believe would animate the large number of property-owners, to any such method of providing for the faithful—even though they be the salt of the earth.

There is something to admire in the assiduity with which the promoters of the plan to gridiron this city with cable railroads endeavor to push their bill through the Legislature, and there is very much to reprehend in the way in which the Albany correspondents denounce the scheme as a "job" and a "steal" without the slightest consideration as to the possible real utility of such a system. We have searched through the papers for an argument against a system of cable roads to satisfy what we may call the minor and casual demands of intermural transit in this city, but we have found nothing but vague denunciation and accusations of corruption which carefully refrain from entering into particulars. Consequently we are forced into the opinion that behind the opposition there is something more than a disinterested desire to protect our thoroughfares from a (so-called) gang of unscrupulous street-devourers. The fact of the matter is that such a system would enter into severe competition with all the existing railroad lines, and hence all the existing railroad lines have the best reason in the world to denounce the cable railroad plan and to associate with it all the dirty names which we apply to people who confuse private advantage with public function. Anathema, however, is not argument, and the manifest utility of such a system, provided the franchises are well paid for and the public interests well protected, would in itself lead us to pass a presumptively favorable opinion on it. It is quite obvious that, however perfect a system of longitudinal rapid transit we may create there will still remain a large number of people who wish to reach points diagonally across the city. At present such people, except in rare cases, are either obliged to walk some considerable distance or to take two cars. This should not be. Our transit facilities will never be what they should be until a traveler in very nearly every part of the city can by system of transfer checks reach within two or three blocks of any objective point which lies within the settled parts of the island for a five cent piece. We do not suppose this can ever be brought about unless by a systematic regulation of the terms on which the present franchises are renewed as they expire. But such is the ideal we should aim at. It may be doubted if the cable system of locomotion is best for the purpose, but it is better than horse power. Unfortunately it is improbable that any such scheme will obtain a fair hearing at Albany.

The resolution passed by the City Council urging upon Congress to appropriate $1,000,000 for the improvement of the Harlem River Ship Canal should be followed up by the Senators and Representatives from New York city and State. The improvement has been dragging along too slowly, and at this rate will take another decade to complete. THE RECORD AND GUIDE has several times called attention to the necessity that exists for consignors and consignees to have quicker and cheaper transportation between points on the Hudson and East Rivers, and the Long Island, New Jersey and Staten Island waters. In addition to this, we are sadly in need of more water front, especially along the line of the Harlem River, near which many important factories are located. Next to obtaining the appropriation, the work of pushing forward the improvement to a speedy completion should be undertaken. Few realize what a transformation would take place along the shore on both sides of the Harlem a few years after this important work is finished.

The Fassett-Acker bill for the transfer of the insane from county poor-houses to State Asylums, which passed the Senate April 2, awaits now only the signature of the Governor before becoming a law. This bill is based on investigations carried forward by the State Charities Aid Association during the last seventeen years, and was framed and promulgated by this organization. It received, also, the support of the State Commissioner of Lunacy, members of the State Board of Charities, and the various medical societies of the State. The main features of the bill are (1) that it establishes the policy of State care and State support for all the insane who are or who may become a public charge; (2) that it destroys the legal distinction between the chronic and the acute insane; and (3) that it provides for the removal of all the insane from the county poor-houses to State asylums as soon as such accommodations may be provided. The neglect and abuse to which the insane are subject in the county poor-houses—the treatment which they receive being practically the same as that given the paupers—have been from time to time condemned in the columns of THE RECORD AND GUIDE, and the success of this measure is a cause for encouragement to associations interested in movements of social reform. This bill was first introduced into the State Legislature three years ago, but, meeting with failure, was reintroduced last year, when again it failed to pass both Houses. The strongest opposition to the bill came from the county superintendents of the poor,, who are enabled by the present system of keeping the chronic insane and the poor together to increase their patronage and profits. This reform is by no means accomplished when the bill becomes a law, as the experience of this State with laws relating to the insane previously enacted demonstrates. Twice, in 1836 and in 1865, has the Legislature enacted laws providing for the removal of the insane from poor-houses to State asylums, but in both instances popular interest subsided, and certain of the insane were allowed to return. The State asylums which were authorized by these laws soon became too small to accommodate the increasing number of the insane, and county poor-house superintendents easily gained their end. Should the present bill, which has passed both Houses, become a law, the good people of this State interested in this movement should see to it that public interest does not flag until the best means of care and treatment of the insane are provided.

Our Letter Bag.—A Foreigner's Opinion on the Rapid Transit Question.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

Your paper has, from time to time, insisted with undeniable truth that because of the pitiful inadequacy of rapid transit facilities up and down Manhattan Island, that not only is much of its surplus population going to Long Island and New Jersey, instead of to the northern wards of the city, but old-time New Yorkers are also shifting their residences to the other side of the East and North Rivers. The fact is so patent, and the remedy so obvious, that I, like you, am amazed at the singular apathy of the people who thus lose money and undergo inconvenience without a stubborn and an earnest protest. I would be at a loss to find an analogy for it in the realms of common sense. If you tried to explain it in a dialogue, it would sound as remote from reason as one of the conversations in Gilbert and Sullivan's operas. The whole situation is as bizarre and absurd as the motley clothing of an African king who decked himself out in a stove-pipe hat, a black necktie, and a pair of goloshes.

But true as what you have been saying is, it is not the whole truth. Lack of rapid transit facilities is not the only trouble with New York. The creation of the most perfect system conceivable would still leave the city, to my mind, a most undesirable place of residence, neither would it to any considerable extent prevent the increase of population in the surrounding districts. Take in the first place the mere question of proximity. All things being equal a city will expand in about equal directions from its centre of business. In New York, from the city's peculiar situation, on an island, all things were not equal. The river on either side was difficult and slow of passage. So population naturally expanded in the northerly direction. This continued until the peculiar rush of traffic down town in the morning, and up town in the afternoon, heavier, I think, than similar rushes in any other city in the world, rendered a rapid system of intermural transit, capable of accommodating an enormous traffic, imperatively necessary. There was some pause in the growth of the city in consequence, until the elevated railroads were built. Personally I am very doubtful whether it would not have been wiser at that time to have shifted the business centre of the city up town, so that the pressure of traffic at morning and night would have been in two directions instead of one. The other alternative, however, was taken; and the subsequent erection of enormous buildings down town have left no choice in the matter now. For the last couple of years the stop-gap of a dozen years ago has proved inadequate, and further accommodations have been found to be necessary. Concomitant with this inadequacy of the facilities for longitudinal traffic came the betterment in the facilities for what we may call lateral traffic; and nothing is plainer at present that accommodations of this second kind are bound rapidly to increase. This will partially if not wholly remove the original presumption in favor of the district north of 14th street for residence purposes, so that no matter how adequate become the accommodations for conveying passengers up and down town, population will still expand in a lateral direction to a degree very nearly equal to that which it does at present. I will even go so far as to say that, as soon as the Pennsylvania roads elevate their tracks, New Jersey and Long Island, distance for distance, will have an advantage over the part of New York City lying north of 150th street, simply because the Pennsylvania and Long Island roads will be able to make better time than any through trains coming across or under a crowded city like New York.

Then take the matter of cost. I have no hesitation whatever in affirming that there are few places in the world where it is so difficult to get five dollars worth for five dollars as in New York. To me it is incredible that many people should continue to live within the city limits, and pay enormous rents and heavy prices for food, when they get so very little comfort and so very few conveniences in return for their money. Down town a man can stand dust, noise, bad walking, high prices and other similar discomforts, but his home, so far as possible, should be soothing and sightly; the tired ears should be undisturbed by jarring sounds, and he should come into an atmosphere of quiet and repose, which would recompense him for his hard day's work, and help to invigorate him for the morrow. A New Yorker can never escape what is disagreeable, unless, indeed, he has time to go in seek of a quiet bench in the Central Park, or he is a millionaire. For the second-class I am not writing, and the first should not be compelled to go and seek something, which, in part at least, they ought to find at their door steps. We Americans always fail to make our lives as pleasant as they might be. We slave and slave, and suffer and suffer, when a little energy might turn the bare and barren streets in which too many of us live into parks and pleasure grounds, which would be a joy to the senses and a tonic to the nerves. That is the reason that for my part I have long since forsaken New York as a place of residence and taken any abode in a place which is at once easy of access, inexpensive and as pleasant as a poor man can reasonably expect. When New Yorkers come to wisdom, I shall expect many of them to follow my example.

JOHN H. AMMISON, New Jersey.

A great deal of what our correspondent says is not to be contradicted. Evidently, however, he does not quite understand the Rapid Transit "situation." Undoubtedly, even with the most perfect system of intermural transportation in New York, population would continue to move into New Jersey and Long Island. The contention of THE RECORD AND GUIDE is that this emigration is now very much larger than it would be were our transit facilities adequate. The rural felicities which charm our correspondent can be obtained cheaply enough north of the Harlem River. Indeed, between the Harlem and Yonkers lies a sparsely populated but most picturesque extent of country, admirably adapted for suburban residence—a section, too, that is preferable in many respects to Long Island and New Jersey districts, to which New Yorkers are migrating in numbers annually. This section, however, is unavailable, and will remain so while more than an hour of tedious travel in overcrowded cars is necessary to get there. Last summer lots were sold on the Bronx River road for less than such lots could be purchased for in the Oranges, Bensonhurst, Montclair, Elizabeth and many other places. But the latter are accessible, are within forty-five minutes' ride of the City Hall, and the former are not. Real rapid transit in New York would somewhat alter these conditions, and though population would continue to move eastward, westward and southward, the road northward would not be the neglected byway that it is at present.

As to what our correspondent says about high rents in New York, are not these in part due to the fact that the city cannot freely extend northward? Population in all large cities tends to concentrate within, say, a thirty-minute limit of the centre of business. The narrower this limit is the higher rents will be within it, and overcrowding will create the discomforts, or some of them, which our New Jersey friend complains of. If he will think over this matter in the light of these facts, Mr. Ammison may come to attach more importance than perhaps he does at present to the necessity of adequate rapid transit northwards. The New Jersey intellect is sometimes slow in its excursions east of the Hudson River.

"Bearish," Indeed.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

In the New York Times of Sunday—a paper that is supposed to "edit" the statements of its reporters—I find the following:

A Wall street authority estimates that over one hundred millions of dollars has been invested in new architecture in Wall street within the last two years. This has been rather bearish upon the office market, of course.

Is it correct? J. WOLSTON.

We cannot say how much has been invested in "architecture" in Wall street during the last two years; but in the construction of buildings certainly nothing like one hundred million dollars has been spent. Indeed, not much more than that amount was expended in the entire city—the exact figures being $115,000,000.

Last year $15,000,000 was spent in new building in the district south of 14th street, and the year before $9,000,000. One hundred million dollars is bearish, indeed!

Taxation of Personal Property.

NEWTOWN, L. I., 1890.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

As a subscriber to THE RECORD I would request that, if practicable, you will publish the full text of the so-called "Listing bill" for the taxation of personal property favorably reported in the Assembly.

Representing for myself and others considerable interests in the city and vicinity I am disposed to look with some uneasiness upon the recent activity of the agricultural organizations in politics and in legislation. My business engages me with both the city and the country, and while I believe that the agricultural classes have heretofore suffered considerably at the hands of the labor organizations, and in large part from the lack of organization on the part of the agriculturists; yet, now that they are perfecting such organization, it seems to me that their very first operations are looking towards blind experiments at the expense of the cities and their inhabitants.

These people have an idea that the cities are filled with wealthy men, who have accumulated in their hands the bulk of the personal property of this State, part of which they will grudgingly loan on mortgage to the agricultural districts at the exorbitant rate of 6 per cent. The first measure, consequently, appears to be, as I have said, a blind experiment to force a lower rate of interest on country loans by reducing the legal rate of interest to 5 per cent. As we know, however, that the practical rates on city loans are already 5 per cent. or under in the majority of cases, and that the country loans are at 6 per cent., by reason of economic laws based upon the security offered, the result of the change would seem to be either that the city rates will sink below 5 or 4 per cent., or that the country loans will, in a large measure, cease, and capital flow in another direction. What new steps would be taken in the latter case to force capitalists to loan on country property remains to be seen.

In the same manner is the "Listing bill" another step in the dark. In the first place it is by no means certain that the vast amounts of personal property claimed to escape taxation are not largely mythical. My experience as a lawyer, and I believe that of most others of my profession, has been, that in a great number of cases of men, almost universally believed by their acquaintances to be of great wealth, the wealth does not materialize on investigation; there are either large pretences combined with small assets, or where there are assets there are corresponding liabilities to nullify them.

In the second place, the tendency of this inquisitorial system, unfitted to our pretensions as a Government of light, liberty, and the rest, is simply to throw the burdens of taxation upon those who are unwilling or unable from any reason to quit their domiciles, while those who are hampered by no such restraints can, at small trouble to themselves, shift their domiciles to some more favored locality. This they will infallibly continue to do in the future, as they have already, in numerous instances, done in the past, to avoid hostile legislation. Just how this is to be prevented is not clear; perhaps we shall see the writ of ne exeas revived.

My conclusions, derived from a long series of investigations into the systems of taxation of various countries and ages, made some years ago for a journal of New York, and published in a series of articles, are, in the first place, that no system of taxation of personal property can, from its very nature, be carried out without inquisitorial provisions of law; and in the second place, that these inquisitorial laws, in large measure, defeat their own object.

Just how far these new laws may be carried in the blind zeal and newly acquired power of a faction is pretty hard to say beforehand, and for this reason I would request THE RECORD'S attention to this sort of legislation and to the particular matter mentioned. J. H. INNES.

We have already printed the provisions of the bill our correspondent refers to.

Investments—Good and Bad.

WISCONSIN CENTRAL.—The Wisconsin Central property, which the Northern Pacific Company has recently leased, comprises over 800 miles of railroad, including the Wisconsin Central Railroad, which has been got together under one management, after having been for a long time a disturbing element in the Chicago-St. Paul rate situation, a fruitful source of rumor and a friend to the Wall street paragrapher, which might be missed if there were not so many successors in his affections. The owner of these railroads is known as the Wisconsin Central Company. It is organized under the several laws of the State of Wisconsin, but operates in the same way that the trusts do, and is in fact a trust. The stocks and bonds of the various companies acquired are vested in the trustees, who issue their non-voting trustee certificate against them. The trustees have power to fill vacancies in their own body upon the joint nomination of the surviving trustees, approved in writing by the holders of a majority of the stock of the company covered by the trustees' certificates, both common and preferred. This approval is the only interference in the affairs of the company allowed from outside the trustees, who are empowered to vote "for all purposes whatsoever, upon every question raised at each and every meeting of said company, whether annual or special." According to the statement made to the Stock Exchange the company had on May 15th, 1889, a total issued capital of $36,000,000, made up as follows: First mortgage bonds, $12,000,000; income bonds, $9,000,000; preferred stock, $3,000,000, and common stock, $12,000,000. With these securities the company has acquired all, or all but a very small minority, of the bonds, stocks and other obligations of the properties it controls. Of the Wisconsin Central Company issues there are now listed on the New York Stock Exchange: First mortgage bonds, $9,987,000; income bonds, $7,469,000; preferred stock, $3,000,000, and common stock, $12,000,000. Both issues of bonds bear interest at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum, and run until July 1st, 1937. Interest on the incomes is non-cumulative. The preferred stock draws cumulative dividends at 6 per cent. per annum from July 1st, 1887. The fact that no limits are stated leads to the belief that stock and bond issues can be extended from time to time for the acquisition of new property at the pleasure of the trustees. Under the terms of the lease the lessor receives 35 per cent. of the gross earnings and appropriates 65 per cent. to the lessee to meet the expenses of operating, and provision is made for adjusting the differences between the two when the cost of operating is more or less than 65 per cent. of the gross earnings. Wisconsin Central common sold around 21 in July of last year, and is now quoted in the neighborhood of 30, having meantime, January 10 last, sold at 36⅜, from which it may be inferred that the lease to the Northern Pacific is not popular with the holders of the common stock. There have, however, been good purchases recently of the bonds of the company in well informed circles from which comes the report that the company earned this year $50,000 excess of proportionate interest on both classes of its bonds. Net earnings for the fiscal year which closed on June 30, 1889, were $1,292,901; interest on present outstanding $21,000,000 bonds at 5 per cent. would be $1,050,000. From July 1, 1889, to February 28, 1890, gross earnings were reported as $3,131,074, an increase of $484,646 compared with the same time in 1888-89; the net earnings for the same time were $1,202,978, an increase of $422,976 compared with the same eight months of 1888-89. Net earnings from July 1, 1889, to February 28, 1890, were 38.42 per cent. of gross. Eight months interest on first mortgage and income bonds would amount to $700,000, leaving ample margin for other payments, such as taxes, car trusts, etc. From January 1 of this year to the end of the third week of March, the company earned, gross, $898,296, and in the same time of last year, $695,646, or $202,650 less. Thirty-five per cent. of $898,296 is $314,403, and three months interest on $21,000,000 at 5 per cent. is $262,500, the difference being $51,903, or about the amount reported to be earned in excess of interest on the income bonds.

ROME, WATERTOWN AND OGDENSBURG.—This is a property which will bear watching by the investor. The company has already marketed enough of a new $3,000,000 4 per cent. mortgage to provide for $1,107,000 Utica and Black River 7 per cent. first mortgage bonds, and the $143,000 Ogdensburg and Morristown 5s, which will mature on January 1, 1891, retaining the balance to meet other Utica and Black River bonds as they mature. The Utica and Black River is leased by the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg in perpetuity at a rental of interest on all its bonds and 7 per cent. on the stock. The lessee company obtains the benefit of th reduction in interest. Of its own 7 per cent. bond issues the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg will have to provide for $1,021,000 falling due December 1, 1891, and $1,000,000 maturing January 1, 1892. As the company paid 6 per cent. per annum on its $6,230,100 of capital stock outstanding since, and including, 1887, or a year after it acquired its competitor, the Utica and Black River, and secured to itself the exclusive territory in this State which it has ever since enjoyed, it will probably be able also to replace these with a 4 per cent. bond. The position of the Utica and Black River property is an exceptionally good one, having behind it the guarantee of the Rome-Watertown as well as its own earnings, and that doubtless made the negotiation of the new 4 per cent. bond secured by that property easy. The Rome-Watertown is also counted among the flourishing properties. In its last fiscal year, which closed on September 30, 1889, the company earned a surplus over dividends of $92,869. This surplus would have been larger but for $38,500 paid out in damages for personal injuries sustained in the Forest Lawn Station accident, and expenditures amounting to $25,000 in strengthening bridges. For the first quarter of the the current fiscal year, from October 1 to December 31, 1889, the company made the following statement:

Three months.	1889.	1888.	Changes.
Earnings...	$978,652	$880,947	Inc. $97,705
Expenses...	513,348	481,600	Inc. 31,748
Net earnings...	$465,304	$399,347	Inc. $65,956
Interest and taxes...	258,945	262,203	Dec. 3,259
Surplus...	$206,359	$137,144	Inc. $69,215

Gross earnings for January of this year were $281,141, as compared with $252,312 in the same month last year, an increase of $28,829. In February the increase was even greater, the figures being for February, 1890, $287,806; for February, 1889, $203,923, showing a gain for February of this year of $83,883. The figures of the net earnings are not made public, but it can be stated that they show a proportionate increase. Should the company succeed in replacing all its 7 per cent. bonds maturing during the next twenty months with 4 per cent. bonds the saving in interest will be equal to about 1½ per cent. on its outstanding stock.

Rapid Transit to the Front.

Two very important occurrences have taken place this week in connection with rapid transit. The one is the presentation of a petition signed by over fifty prominent citizens and property-owners calling on the Mayor, under the laws of 1875, to appoint commissioners to determine upon what routes shall be selected and what system adopted to further rapid transit in New York city. The other was the presentation of a petition to the Legislature, in person, by a large deputation of members of the Real Estate Exchange, who were accorded the unusual privilege of appearing upon the floor of the Senate and addressing the House through the President of the Exchange.

THE PETITION TO THE MAYOR.

It is a curious fact that efforts were made by Geo. S. Lespinasse to obtain the signatures of members of the Legislative Committee of the Real Estate Exchange to the petition to the Mayor, and that in nearly every instance members declined, fearing that some political or railroad move was behind the plan. Mr. Lespinasse now receives the credit for getting up the petition and obtaining the signatures, though a number of the names which appear in the petition are those of members of the Exchange. The petition was signed by the following property-owners, who include merchants, real estate brokers, prominent builders, investors, and large holders of realty:

C. H. Ludington,	Andrew Little,	*Henry Morgenthau,
J. M. McLean,	*John D. Crimmins,	Edward V. Loew,

The Mayor, within a few hours of the presentation of the petition, appointed a Commission of five gentlemen, all of the highest standing and integrity, their names being as follows: August Belmont, William Steinway, Charles Stewart Smith, John H. Starin and Orlando B. Potter.

From inquiry at the Mayor's office yesterday afternoon we learn that, although none of the Commissioners have written to the Mayor signifying their acceptance, it is not expected that any of them will decline.

A TALK WITH GEO. S. LESPINASSE.

Mr. Lespinasse, when asked whether the law of 1875 gives adequate powers to lay out a route and construct a road, said: "The solution of the question is pretty clear. If the Legislature will remove the obstacles in the way of the Commission appointed by the Mayor—which it can do—the Commission can then go ahead within thirty days, and rapid transit is in sight."

"What obstacles have you reference to?" asked the interviewer.

"First," replied Mr. Lespinasse, "the Cantor Act should be repealed, leaving the city to fix the compensation to be paid for granting the charter. Second, the restrictions should be removed against the use of Broadway and the Boulevard for a railway."

"Then you assume that Broadway and the Boulevard will be taken?" ventured the writer.

"I do. You cannot give New York rapid transit unless you use Broadway in part or whole. Nor can you give the west side rapid transit without allowing the Boulevard to be considered. I happen to know that the money is ready to be placed in an underground road from the Battery northwards, giving the city first-class rapid transit. The parties have no connection with the Manhattan Road or the old Arcade Road; they are outside parties entirely. Now, it would be unwise to leave out such a possible road in a general consideration of the question. The Manhattan Road tried to get the signatures of property-owners along the Boulevard to build an elevated road along that thoroughfare, their idea being to run a branch from 6th avenue and 33d street northward, but only one out of five property-owners could be got to sign."

"What do you suggest as feasible?" asked the writer.

"I should say an underground road starting from the Battery to 59th street, and an open cut along the Boulevard beyond."

THE EXCHANGE COMMITTEE AT ALBANY.

Not for a long time has there been such a commotion at the Capitol as there was on Thursday, when a deputation of about forty members of the Real Estate Exchangs appeared at Albany to present the memorial passed at the rapid transit meeting on 'Change last week. The names of the gentlemen who were present are as follows: George H. Scott, president; C. H. Schermerhorn, vice-president; Isaac Fromme, secretary; R. Deeves, A. S. Roe, F. R. Houghton, P. L. Smyth, W. M. Ryan, F. Yoran, W. H. Blackwell, J. G. Folsom, W. H. Folsom, F. L. Reynolds, Erastus E. Brooks, R. P. Chandler, A. E. Marling, George Wolfe, G. J. Kenny, G. A. Saward, W. Lawrence, H. P. De Graaf, A. Hoffstadt, B. F. Romaine, Jr., F. E. Barnes, Edgar Tucker, Samuel McMillan, M. Littman, Thomas Willis, A. W. McLaughlin, J. Lichtenauer, W. M. Greve, J. J. Clancy, M. E. Stern, S. de Wallteasrs, James Bleecker, C. F. Hoffman, Jr., A. Disbecker and W. H. Benjamin.

Senator Lispenard Stewart did the honors and presented the deputation to the Senate. The rules were in the meantime suspended, and President Scott, in a real little speech, announced the object of the deputation, stating that it was a committee of a body that represented one-third of the real estate of New York city. The memorial and resolutions presented by this committee are the same as those published in THE RECORD AND GUIDE last week. The committee received equal honors when they appeared in the Assembly, Speaker Husted giving them a welcome from the chair. Governor Hill was subsequently seen, and made a short address to the committee concurring with their desire for rapid transit, stating that he regretted the difference of opinion in the Legislature.

The committee were back in town yesterday, and several of the members seen speak enthusiastically of their reception at Albany. When asked whether any good will come of it, a prominent member said he could not tell. He thought the visit would have a moral effect, but was not prepared to say that it would have a practical result.

*It will interest our readers, and particularly advertisers, to know that all the names in the foregoing list marked * are subscribers to THE RECORD AND GUIDE, some of them since the beginning of publication in 1868. Embracing, as it does, the names of prominent merchants, first-class builders and brokers, besides owners of large parcels of realty, the fact that nearly the entire number are regular readers of this journal indicates strikingly the value of its columns for advertising purposes. It is unnecessary to add that we did not select the list.

A Handsome West Side Improvement.

[COMMUNICATED.]

The President of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, Mr. John P. Haines, has just purchased one of the handsome row of private residences built by James T. Hall, the well-known contractor and decorator, on the south side of 75th street, between Central Park West and 9th avenue, being part of the block so d last year by the Joshua Jones estate. Another of these houses has been purchased by Mrs. Ida Ehrich, widow of William J. Ehrich, the dry-goods merchant—both parties paying in the neighborhood of $45,000 each, and both making the purchase for their own occupancy.

The houses are ten in number, and are of different designs, the treatment being in free Romanesque. In dimensions they are each 20 feet wide and 60 feet deep, and have, in addition, two-story and basement butler's pantry and dining-room extensions. The fronts are of stone, in which rough, smooth, and carved surfaces combine to give a pleasing effect. The stoops, some of them box, are of massive stonework, and are wide and imposing.

Entering the houses, we find storm-doors of oak, flanked with vestibule-doors in the same wood. Beyond these are a third set of doors, leading to the halls, which are spacious and handsomely trimmed, the floors and wainscoting being in hardwoods. The vestibule-doors contain a circular beveled glass window, giving the visitor a view of the interior.

Passing from the hall the main floor is entered. This comprises a suite of four handsome rooms, all communicating together, thus giving an uninterrupted view of the entire floor. The rooms are divided by sliding doors and portière divisions, so that they can be separated or thrown into one, as occasion may require. The value of thus being able to obtain one immense room, due to the absence of intervening obstructions, has frequently been commented upon. In these days of social development it is eminently desirable that houses should be so planned, that for receptions, dances and other social functions the entire suite of the parlor floor should be available as though it were one large ballroom. This is accomplished in the houses here described. The reception-room is divided from the music-room by a portière division of trellis work, with side columns; the music-room is separated from the drawing-room by a sliding door, which hangs from above, and thus saves the tripping and the carpet cutting which comes from floor rails, and the drawing-room is divided from the dining-room by a similar arrangement. Folding doors divide the hall from the reception-room. The woods used on this floor are bird's-eye maple and oak. Mantels, with mirrors and fire-grates, ornament the rooms, and they are of quiet, good taste on Old Colonial lines. Indeed, the carving and woodwork designs are in good form all over the houses, and have evidently been suggested by the owner, who has only recently received such high praise for his decorative work in the new Post Office and Court House buildings in Baltimore. It should be added that beyond the four rooms described, and adjoining the dining-room, is a spacious butler's pantry, with china closets, etc., and containing a separate stairway for servants, leading to the culinary department below.

Ascending to the upper floors we find a handsome stairway, the oak balusters and wainscoting being in a special design. Reaching the second floor we are confronted with a spacious hallway leading to the main bedroom floor. Here are three handsome bedrooms, the front and rear rooms each having three windows. These rooms are divided by saloons, which are unusually spacious, and which contain abundance of closet room, and are surrounded by mirrors. This floor is trimmed in the different houses in birch, maple, mahogany and hazel, the rooms having handsome mantels, mirrors and firegrates. Beyond is an exceptionally fine bathroom, the tubs being of porcelain, the walls and floors tiled, and the dressers and other accessories being well appointed. The dumb-waiter, it should be added, runs up to this story.

The third floor contains two handsome bedrooms and a bathroom, the latter being appointed equally as well as that on the floor below, porcelain tubs, etc., being provided. The bathroom on this floor, instead of being in the extension, is placed in the centre of the suite of rooms, and is surmounted by a stained glass dome skylight, with direct ventilation to the roof. The front and rear bedrooms are quité spacious and have three windows in each, the trim being in hazel.

The top floor consists of four bedrooms, all of them, with the exception of a servant's room, containing mantels. A storeroom, with a cedar closet and other recesses, complete the suite. The trim is in white wood, stained in mahogany. A dome skylight, in colored glass, surmounts the hallway and sheds a ray of subdued light over the halls below.

Descending to the basement we find a billiard room, with the wainscoting and mantelpiece in ash. From this room a passageway, lined with china closets, leads to the kitchen. Here the principal feature is the superb French range, encased in tiles. The wainscoting is in ash, an expense which almost seems needless in a kitchen, but which shows the character of the general appointments throughout, the owner evidently intending that everything should be done in first-class style. An immense refrigerator, with four compartments, adjoins the kitchen, beyond which is a servant's pantry, closet, etc. The yard is covered with cement in immense flags, while the cellar is concreted.

ROW OF PRIVATE RESIDENCES BUILT BY JAMES T. HALL ON WEST SEVENTY-FIFTH STREET.

Some general features noticed in going through the houses are worth mentioning. One of the most important of these is the introduction of the Baker car-heating system, whereby the amount of labor and fuel is cut down to one-third of what it ordinarily is in houses which have the usual furnace-heating process, while the coal-dust and the other annoyances which come with furnaces are abolished. Then the plumbing throughout all the houses is exposed to view. It is of excellent workmanship, and nickel and brass trimmings are used in the bathrooms, saloons, pantries, etc. Burglar alarms and wires for electric lighting are supplied, while there are gas-pipe connections in all the fireplaces, so that gas logs can be used if desired. Iron beams and girders are used in the third tier of beams, while other improvements are introduced which need not be mentioned here in detail.

These houses are certainly some of the best placed on the market this spring, and the fact that two have already been disposed of before they have been fully completed, and that the sale of others is being negotiated for, makes it evident that those still unsold will not long remain on the market. The street, by the way, is to be paved with asphalt, between Central Park West and 9th avenue, and this work will shortly be commenced and is to be completed within a few months' time. OBSERVER.

The Sewer-Gas Question.

AN ANALYSIS AND ILLUSTRATED COMPARISON OF THE SEVERAL METHODS AND MEANS OF ESTABLISHING AND MAINTAINING THE SEALS OF SEWER-GAS TRAPS.

[COMMUNICATED.]

Notwithstanding the commendable progress of recent years in house sanitation, the most approved methods of house drainage still have defects, dangers and complications that call urgently for correction and simplification. The putting up of gas-tight drainage pipe is simply a matter of mechanical skill, as easily accomplished as that of making tight gas, water or steam pipe. Engineering skill, however, is necessary to determine the proper sizes of pipes, and their alignment and connections, in order both to secure the immediate discharge from the premises of all liquid waste and sewage to the sewer, and, by the extension of all the main lines above the highest part of the building, of all gases and vapors to the upper air. The proper construction of the fixtures is highly important, and especial care should be taken to avoid all devices with enlarged and concealed cavities above the trap seal; but still more important is the trapping, and the method and means of preserving a seal, or closure, against the escape of sewer air,* at each of the extremities to which the fixtures are attached. Therefore, since the trap seal forms the only barrier against the free outflow of sewer air, the vital importance of its preservation will at once be appreciated. Trapping, and the means of preserving the trap seal, have been and still are the subject of much discussion and diversity of opinion, and in practice are frequently attended with most unsatisfactory results. The defective construction of fixtures and traps, and the inadequacy of the means depended on for the preservation of the trap seals, are, doubtless, accountable for at least 90 per cent. of the evils of bad plumbing. Here, then, is the danger point in the present methods of plumbing practice.

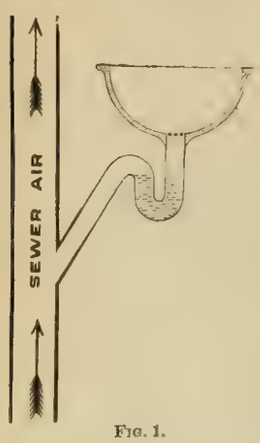

FIG. 1.

The accepted method of forming this seal is by the retention of a small portion of the outflowing water in a loop in the waste pipe near the fixture. This is accomplished by bending the pipe to a shape resembling the letter S, so that the loop, or lower bend, will retain sufficient water to close the pipe and seal it to a suitable depth. Figure 1 illustrates this, and the bent pipe, thus applied, is called a "sewer-gas trap."

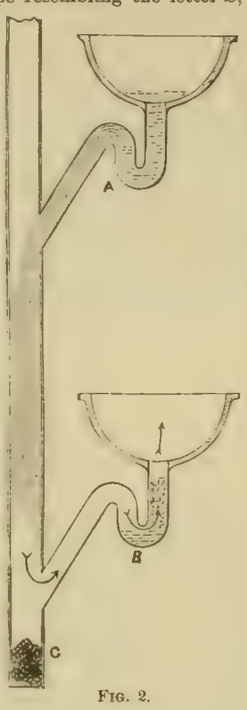

FIG. 2.

Whenever any variation occurs in the air pressure between the sewer side and the house side of the trap, the water forming the seal will be forced from the side of greater pressure, sufficiently to allow the passage of the required air to re-establish the equality of pressure previously existing between the air in the room and the air in the pipe. Compression of the air in the pipe would result either from a stoppage below the trap, if the pipe were flushed from a higher fixture, or from very bad construction. Figure 2 illustrates the forcing of the compressed air through a trap caused by a stoppage in the pipe. A discharge through the trap A, with the pipe choked up at C, forces the confined air of the pipe through the trap B into the room. Of course it will be apparent that casualties of this kind cannot be provided against with the system now in use, and must be corrected by the removal of the cause. Figure 3 illustrates an air-bound condition of pipes resulting from bad construction, and the consequent forcing of the confined air through one trap when the contents of the fixture of one of the other traps is discharged. A represents the trap of a water-closet; B the trap of a bath tub, with its waste pipe discharging into the seal of the water-closet trap; and C the trap of a basin with its waste pipe discharging into the bathwaste. It will be observed that the air in the pipes between the three traps is locked, or confined, and can escape only by being forced through some one of the traps. A discharge of water through the trap C will necessarily occupy a portion of the air space in the pipe, and the air thus displaced will be forced through the trap B, which offers the least resistance; and, vice versa, a discharge through the trap B will force the air through trap C. The trouble here arises from double trapping. If the bath and basin waste had been carried directly into the soil pipe, as indicated by the dotted lines, so as to give free vent for the air to escape into a properly vented soil pipe, this difficulty would have been prevented. But this is not the only defect. The water-closet here shown is also double-trapped and has a large cavity or chamber below the bowl, through which the discharges pass before reaching the main trap A. This chamber soon becomes heavily coated with sewage and is always intensely foul. Whenever the contents of the bowl is discharged, the opening into the chamber is unsealed by the dropping of the pan and the disgusting gases generated by the decomposing filth are driven out into the room. Were it necessary, instances of bad construction might be multiplied indefinitely.

Notwithstanding all our boasted improvements, even in the city of New York, whose sanitary regulations stand deservedly high, there are still to be found, in all classes of dwellings and apartment houses built prior to 1882, thousands of instances where the plumbing is of the character here described.

On the other hand, if a portion of the air is exhausted from the pipe on the sewer side of the trap, the greater pressure on the house side of the seal will instantly force the air through the trap to supply the required air in the pipe, and will thus carry with it the water forming the seal of the trap and leave an open passage for the entrance of sewer air into the apartment. This is siphonage, and when this action occurs the trap is said to be "siphoned," or unsealed. Thus, when a discharge of sewage passes down a soil or waste pipe the mass drives before it the contained air in the pipe and leaves a partial vacuum. As a consequence, sufficient air must be supplied to take its place and restore the equilibrium previously existing between the air in the pipe and the air in the room; and, unless other passages for its ingress are provided, the required air will be drawn in through the traps on the branches connected with such a line of pipe. This action will siphon, or unseal, any properly constructed trap, and leave an open passage for the escape of sewer air. Figure 4 will serve to illustrate this action. Notwithstanding the fact that the soil pipe is extended, full calibre, above the roof the house, a discharge from the closet A on the third floor, in its passage down the soil pipe, has siphoned the water out of the trap B, and will do the same at C as soon as the discharge of water reaches the connection of trap C with the main pipe. This result is caused by the continually increasing velocity of the discharged mass of water creating a further demand for air as it passes each of the branch connections.

Although there are many commendable exceptions, these examples represent the average of plumbing work where no prescribed methods have been established by law, and are a sad commentary upon the general lack of knowledge of such physical laws as should enable those in whom we confide to adopt safe methods and means of construction.

FIG. 6.

There are many traps on the market that retain portions of their seals after siphonage has taken place; but this result is secured at the cost of cleanliness. Indeed, the number and the variety of such traps is almost without limit, but none of them has attained general favor, because of obvious defects. Every such trap must have its body, on the sewer side of its dip, or downward bend, greatly enlarged, so that sufficient air may bubble through the seal to meet the demand for air in the pipe and still leave enough water to maintain a seal. This enlargement, with its attendant angles and irregularities, forms convenient lodgment for the precipitating sediment of the waste. It is only a question of time, therefore, when all such surplus space will be filled with deposits of filth until the water-way will have been reduced to as nearly a uniform calibre resembling the letter S, as the construction of the trap will allow; its anti-siphonic powers will have disappeared, and a miniature cesspool will have been established under each fixture. Figures 5, 6 and 7 illustrate the filthy condition presented by such traps after they have been in use.

* The term "sewer air" is here used to represent the various combinations of vapors, poisonous gases and disease germs found in sewers and drains, commonly, but improperly, called "sewer gas."

Some of these traps combine, by the use of rubber balls, diaphragms, clappers, etc., an additional feature that further militates against cleanliness and durability. Rubber in this situation soon becomes intensely foul, loses its elasticity, and thus becomes worse than useless. Figure 5 shows one of these balls (A) collapsed and forced up into the mouth of the waste pipe. This is of frequent occurrence, especially where hot and greasy water is discharged.

Another source of danger in many of these traps is the single inside wall between the sewer side and house side of the trap seal. Take, for instance, a bottle trap. Such traps are usually made of cast lead, and are liable to have blow holes in their walls. Suppose there is a blow hole in the pipe inside the trap, at or above the water line, as shown in Figure 7. This defect cannot be seen nor readily detected, and yet it establishes an open passage for sewer air into the apartment. Instances are also reported, on reliable authority, where this inside tube was found eaten entirely off by corrosion. The function of the trap was thus entirely destroyed. Still another very dangerous feature was brought to light in Brooklyn by the inspection and removal of a considerable number of traps with inside soft-soldered brass tubes, which were found split open as shown in Figure 8. The traps, of course, were thus rendered worse than useless. But in neither of these cases would any leak of water result, and hence no warning of danger would be given until sickness, and possibly death, might result from the unsanitary condition thus established. This evil has been found so serious in the city of Brooklyn, where such traps have been largely used, that the Health Department has considered it necessary to prohibit their further use.

Again, the accumulation of filth in such traps is very liable to entangle shreds of lint and form spongy masses extending over the upper bend of the trap into the waste pipe. By this means capillary action is set up, and the water forming the seal is rapidly absorbed and discharged into the waste pipe; while traps, free from these defects, properly flushed, rarely develop this condition. It must be borne in mind, however, that any traps, or even a straight pipe carrying sewage, will gradually fill up and become intensely foul if not adequately and frequently flushed, so as to get the scouring effect of a solid mass of water. Hence, not only the outlet of the fixture, but also the trap and its branch pipe should all be of the same size. When this condition is maintained, fouling or stoppage will not occur, except as the result of flagrant misuse.

Fig. 8.

In view of these facts it is evident that the simple S trap, with its uniform calibre and easy curves, is less liable to accumulate filth than that of any other possible form; but the difficulties of preserving its seal are the ever recurring source of danger and anxiety. In the year 1881, with the view to maintain greater security to the trap seal, the method of supplying air to the waste pipe by a line of pipe from the top of the house to the trap on the sewer side of its seal was brought into use and made obligatory by the New York Board of Health. Several other cities have since adopted similar rules. This method, illustrated by Figure 9, seemed at first to offer a satisfactory solution of this much-discussed question; but experience has demonstrated that, while the theory of admitting air to the waste pipe on the sewer side of the trap is correct, the means adopted, by which this result is sought to be secured, have proved defective and unsatisfactory; and have, in practice, brought many unforeseen casualties and dangers. These casualties and dangers are in most cases chargeable to radical defects in the method and are not necessarily the result of bad workmanship. This method is variously known in the plumbing trade as back-venting, back-airing or re-venting.

We know that a short and direct vent pipe of suitable size will prevent siphonage; but every one who has had experience in building knows also that short and direct vent pipes are the exception and not the rule. It has been demonstrated by tests made under the direction of the National Board of Health, and by many private investigators, that such a pipe, of even moderate length, if it has several angles (common in practice) will not prevent sipbonage. This is likewise true if the length is great, even when the pipes are direct. The upward current in these pipes frequently reaches a velocity of from 5 to 8 feet per second. It would, therefore, be folly to expect any adequate security against siphonage on the lower floors of high buildings if the movement of this ascending column of air must first be arrested and reversed to furnish the necessary air supply. Instances of failure under such circumstances are of frequent occurrence.

Figure 9 shows this method under the most favorable circumstances, while figure 10 presents one of the many conditions in which failure is almost certainly assured. In this instance the vent of the trap of a butler's-pantry sink is carried down under the floor and across the building to the main vent. The condition here illustrated is of frequent occurrence, and has been tolerated even in New York until very recently. Here a stoppage in the waste pipe below the trap would result in forcing the waste through the vent pipe—ventilation would be totally defeated, and the trap, though increased in depth, would be liable to siphonage continually. But, even without stoppage, it is extremely doubtful if the desired ventilation would be maintained in pipes so arranged. Indeed, it often happens that these pipes become mere containers of foul and stagnant air. Examples might be multiplied to almost any extent in which long lines of pipe, with numerous angles, are required to reach the top of the house. This is especially true in reconstructing the plumbing of houses not originally provided with pipe ventilation, and it applies to nearly every house in New York City built prior to 1882. It is more than probable, too, that back-vented traps are sometimes siphoned during wind and rain storms, from the combined effects of the counter influences developed by the discharge of large volumes of water through the waste system, while, at the same time, a strong counter force is being exerted by a high wind passing over the open ends of the soil and vent pipes. It is evident that the resistance a strong wind would present to the inflowing current of air when the pipes were being taxed to their utmost to supply the demand created by the discharging mass of water, might be quite sufficient to unseal the traps, when neither the discharging water nor the exhausting force of the wind, acting separately, would endanger the trap seals.

This system of back-venting by pipes brings with it another very serious danger to the security of the trap seal. The continous current of air thus maintained, passing in close proximity to the water forming the seal of the trap, induces its rapid evaporation. The rapidity of evaporation will, however, vary greatly in different situations, depending on the temperature and humidity of the air and the velocity of the air currents developed. The different conditions under which investigators have made their observations readily explain the diversity of results announced, and demonstrate the fact that not even an approximate average can be determined upon the limited data so far announced.

The relation of the air current to the water seal of the trap is indicated in Figure 11 by the arrows. Indeed, it is now conceded that an unused trap, thus ventilated, is liable to lose its seal by evaporation in two weeks, and, doubtless, in some situations this result would occur in much less time; while the seal of an unvented trap, i. e., not subject to increased evaporation, but otherwise similarly situated, will endure for months before being destroyed. In a paper full of valuable suggestions, on "House Drainage," in Popular Science Monthly (January, 1889), the well-known sanitary expert, Dr. John S. Billings, says this loss of seal "will occur in about two months if the trap is not ventilated, and in about two weeks if it is ventilated." This danger, then, according to Dr. Billings, is increased four fold by the presence of these pipes. He illustrates the consequences of such unsealing, as likely to occur in a house temporarily closed: "In a few weeks, sometimes in two weeks, the water in the traps so far evaporates that they are unsealed, and then follows a stream of air into the house, bearing with it micro-organisms, which gradually settle in the layer of fine dust which gathers on the floors, shelves, ledges over doors, gas fixtures, etc. If now the family returns and occupies this house, using only the ordinary processes of sweeping, dusting, etc., which do not destroy the germs, but merely scatter them about, there is serious danger of sickness." Dr. Billings might well have added, also, in enumerating the recipients of micro-organisms, such articles as carpets, bedding, closets, upholstered furniture, etc., all of which form excellent lodging places for disease germs.

Fig. 11.

Fig. 12.

It will at once be seen that all the conditions here set forth by Dr. Billings apply with equal force to a bed chamber which may have remained unoccupied for a short time, as to an unoccupied house. When one reflects that nearly every dwelling has its spare chamber, which is irregularly occupied, it is evident that even when the best sanitary appliances are used and the most scrupulous cleanliness is observed, if these conditions exist, sickness, and even death, may lurk in this unobserved danger. Figure 12 shows the condition here set forth. The trap is unsealed by evaporation, and the sewer air, as indicated by the arrows, is passing into the apartment.

The life of an iron vent pipe is of short duration. Its inner surface is continually exposed to moist air, impregnated with gases which add inten sity to the corroding action. One layer after another of rust forms and falls off until the pipe becomes honeycombed and the angles filled with accumulations of rust. Figure 13 represents "a section of three-inch cast-iron vent pipe with a twelve-inch offset, eight feet above the water-closet intended to be vented. This offset and the pipe for ten inches above were filled solid with rust." Figure 14 represents "a section of three-inch wrought-iron vent pipe with a six-inch right angle offset, one foot above the water-closet. This offset and the pipe for twelve inches above were filled solid with rust scales." These examples were recently found in repair jobs by Mr. John F. Mathews, of Chicago, who says: "There is not a week passes but what we have one or more cases like these in one, one-and-a-half, two and three-inch pipe."

FIG. 13.

Other plumbers doing repair work confirm Mr. Mathew's statement. Such stoppages, even in a four-inch soil pipe, with an offset above the top fixture, were brought to light by Martin Moylan, Esq., also of Chicago, in a paper read before the Chicago Master Plumbers' Association. In Architecture and Building (January 4, 1890), A. H. Napier, E. M., lately one of the Plumbing Inspectors of New York City, says: "The writer recently found in a private house in this city (New York) that of six lines extending above the roof, including two-inch, three-inch and four-inch pipe, all but one were completely closed with rust which had accumulated at offsets a short distance below the roof;" and he well says: "This rapid rusting of cast-iron pipe is a serious matter."

The practice of the pipe ventilation of traps has been in vogue in New York City only about eight years, and in other cities not so long; yet such stoppages are becoming exceedingly numerous. Indeed, there can be no doubt but that a thorough general inspection of these pipes would reveal a large percentage of stoppages, and thus demonstrate to the most casual observer their utter unreliability.

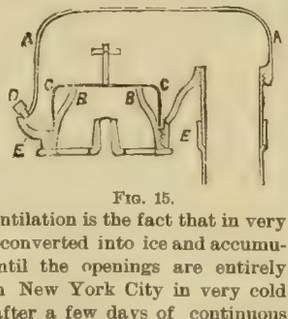

FIG. 15.

Another objection to the use of pipe ventilation is the fact that in very cold weather the discharged moisture is converted into ice and accumulates at the exposed ends of the pipes until the openings are entirely closed. This is a common occurrence in New York City in very cold weather, as a visit to the house tops after a few days of continuous freezing will demonstrate. In more southerly cities it seldom happens, but in colder latitudes very serious and almost continuous trouble is experienced from this cause during the winter months. When the pipes are thus closed, siphonage will occur in all the traps on the lines involved. Obviously, when the tops of the pipes are closed, and the traps sealed, the entire volume of the ascending current of sewer air will be discharged through the unsealed traps into the apartments.

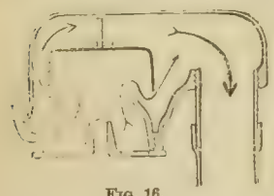

FIG. 16.

It is evident, in view of these facts, that the methods of trap-seal preservation based upon the use of mechanical and so-called "non-siphoning" traps, and of the venting of traps to the roof by long lines of pipe, are complicated, unreliable and positively dangerous.

The alternative now to be considered is in the Automatic method. In 1871 an attempt in this direction was made by Samuel Lawrence with a device that admitted air to the waste pipe by means of a hinged valve having depending edges which dipped into a groove containing water. The water was relied upon to seal the valve against the outflow of sewer air, but its instability and lack of gravity resistance were altogether inadequate. Other devices have since been made which depended upon the accurate closure of mechanical joints, but all of these have failed to stand the test of practical experience, and are not known to the trade.

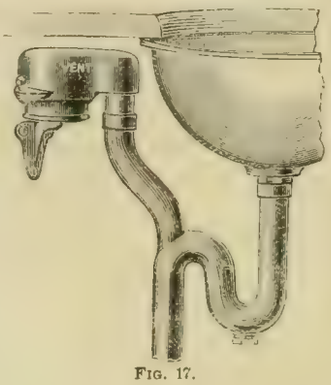

FIG. 17.

Prompted to a further investigation of the subject by the need here indicated, the writer, after a long series of experiments, presented to public favor, in May, 1886, an automatic device intended to meet this want. Figure 15 gives a sectional view of the device. It consists of a body (A A), a thimble (B B), an inverted cup (C C), a mercury seal (E E), and a screw plug (D). The body and thimble are of cast iron, fitted accurately together with a screw joint. The cup C C is made of wrought steel. All the parts being finished accurately to a uniform standard go together with the precision of clock work. All these parts are made non-corrosive by the rustless process, and hence, for the use intended, are practically indestructible. (This has been practically demonstrated by actual use during the past four years, with highly-satisfactory results). The cup C C is very light, and its depending edge forms a close-fitting joint at the bottom of the annular groove between the body and thimble. This groove is filled three-eighths of an inch deep with mercury (quicksilver), which forms an absolute seal against the escape of sewer air. The mercury is introduced through the opening at D after the device has been permanently placed in position. The moment even a slight vacuum is created on the sewer side of this cup, the greater atmospheric pressure on the house side lifts it out of the mercury and allows a free inflow of air, until the equilibrium between the air in the pipe and outside of it is re-established. The instant the inflowing current is insufficient to hold the cup in suspension, it drops back by gravity and restores the seal against any outflow of sewer air.

Figure 16 represents the cup thus suspended by atmospheric pressure. The inflowing air is indicated by the arrows.

Figure 17 gives a perspective view of the device in its normal relation to a trap and fixture.

Real Estate Exchange Matters.

The Committee on Legislation held its weekly meeting on Monday, Wm. C. Orr in the chair. Several gentlemen were nominated to act as secretary pro tem, but one after another they declined. The chair at length prevailed on A. E. Marling to accept the position.

On motion the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting was dispensed with, and the secretary proceeded to read communications to the committee. A letter from Joseph C. Levi called attention to three bills introduced in the Legislature: Assembly bill taxing mortgages; Senate bill reducing the legal rate of interest to 5 per cent., and Senate bill requiring returns under oath from every citizen as to personal property liable to taxation. The chairman said that the bills referred to, with the exception of that reducing the rate of interest, had all received the committee's attention.

A letter from ex-Judge Henry E. Howland urged the appointment of a committee to go to Albany, and with committees from the Produce Exchange and the the Chamber of Commerce protest against the passage of the "Larmon-Dempsey" taxation bill.

The chairman then stated that the reason for holding the meeting on Monday instead of Tuesday was because he had received word from Albany that a hearing on the "Larmon-Dempsey" bill would be given on Tuesday and it would be well to have a committee from the Real Estate Exchange present on that occasion. On motion of Mr. McMillan it was ordered that a committee of five be appointed, with the chairman of the Committee on Legislation at its head, to go to Albany and protest against the passage of the obnoxious bill. The committee appointed consisted of Wm. C. Orr, Samuel F. Jayne, Samuel McMillan, Benjamin F. Romaine and Edward Oppenheimer.

The Sub-committee on Taxation and Assessment submitted the following: "Your committee fails to appreciate any good reason for this measure (Assembly bill No. 1165). The law already provides a remedy for parties seeking a reduction in assessed valuations generally, and any special legislation is undesirable, and said bill is therfore disapproved." A protest was ordered sent to the Speaker of the Assembly, and the report was adopted.

The committee also reported on Assembly bill No. 1084, which authorizes a recovery of all moneys paid in liquidation of any assessment with interest thereafter adjudged void by the Supreme Court of this State, and is a general act for the entire State. "The general scope of the bill is proper."

The report was adopted.

A letter from Henry Lewis Morris accepting a position on the Committee of One Hundred to go to Albany was read, in which Mr. Morris says: "This matter (rapid transit) is of such urgent importance that I do not think any one should allow private interests to interfere with all efforts to secure its promotion, and I will therefore be ready at any time to act with the other members of the committee."

Among the new bills read by the secretary was Assembly bill 1008, providing for a reduction of the percentages to be paid by railroads under the Cantor act of 1886 in certain cases. On motion of Abraham Disbecker, the bill was referred to the Committee on Rapid Transit.

The meeting then adjourned.

Answers to Correspondents.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

Dear Sir:—In to-day's issue of your paper you correct the Tribune for making the statement that the highest price paid for realty on Manhattan Island was that paid for the northwest corner of Liberty street and Broadway, and then you go on to make the statement that the highest was paid for the southwest corner of Wall street and Broad street, viz., $330.70 per square foot, but are you not also in error? If my memory serves me correctly Mr. Smith, the architect, paid $500,000 for the southeast corner of Wall street and Broadway when he purchased it about two years ago, which is about $442 per square foot, and is therefore the highest price paid. These figures can easily be verified or disapproved by consulting Mr. Smith.

Hoping that you will pardon the correction. I am, yours truly,

EXCAPITE.

Our correspondent is mistaken. The figures we gave are correct. Mr. Smith purchased the property adjoining the corner on both Broadway and Wall street in July, 1887. The corner is owned by Benj. D. Silliman, of 31 Nassau street.—EDITOR.

Personal.

The offices of Messrs. E. H. Ludlow & Co. were closed on Friday on account of the death of Mrs. Morris Wilkins.

The Armory Board's Special Committee on Sites is now looking about for an armory site for the use of the First and Second Batteries and Troop A.

The Kelly Strike.

In a recent issue we made certain statements about the strike on Eugene Kelly's building on Nassau street. These statements were made to one of our reporters by Henry Volkening in the one case, and by a draughtsman in the architect's office in the other case. Alfred Ashley, secretary to the Board of Delegates of the Building Trades, writes to us concerning the matter as follows: "Your notice of the strike on the Kelly Building is entirely misleading, and would make it appear that union men were working with Henry Volkenning's marble cutters. The facts of the case are that the contract for the marble work on that building has been taken from Volkenning and given to a union boss—Theis & Janssen—whose men are now working there. Union men of all trades will not work with any of Volkenning's men until such time as he makes his shop a union shop, and pays union wages and works union hours. I trust you will insert this, as your notice is misleading to contractors and architects."

Bills at Albany.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 11.—The Webster bill for the erection of a new bridge at Macomb's Dam, to cost $1,500,000, is in the Governor's hands; so is the Ahearn bill, prohibiting the erection of the new municipal building in City Hall Park.

The Assembly has passed the bill for the removal of the reservoir on 5th avenue, between 41st and 42d streets. The expense is to be borne by the adjacent property.

The Connelly bill requiring "national" building and loan associations doing business in this State to deposit $100,000 with the State Banking Superintendent has passed the Senate.

The Pearsall bill taxing mortgages, judgments and evidences of debt has been ordered to third reading.

A Savings Bank Loan.

AN AGREEMENT FOR THE ERECTION OF A BUILDING.

Last week the official filings embraced the transfer of and a mortgage against the premises No. 21 West Houston street, the figure at which the property was sold being $40,500, the same at which it was sold at auction on February 19th by order of the executors of Onesippe Pecalin. The mortgage was for $50,000, or $9,500 over and above the purchase price, and the mortgagee the Greenwich Savings Bank. The deed and mortgage were carefully examined without success for an explanation of what appeared to be an extravagant loan. A visit to the bank and inquiries of the treasurer for information were equally unsatisfactory. If the search had stopped here the feeling would have been decidedly unfavorable to the bank, but our representative was determined to get at the facts, and finally learned that only one-half ($25,000) of the amount of the mortgage has been advanced, and that the balance ($25,000) will not be paid over to the mortgagor until a new building is erected on the lot, at a cost of $40,000. The new building is to be similar to No. 126 Bleecker street, recently completed by the mortgagor in the Houston street case.

The Board of Aldermen have affirmed a resolution to change upper 9th and 10th avenues to Columbus and Amsterdam avenues, respectively.

Real Estate Department.

Real estate transactions have been somewhat delayed during the week by the rapid transit agitation. At the auction sales bidding has lacked spirit, and most of the prices were only fairly good. Much is expected from the visit of the Committee of One Hundred to Albany in the insterests of rapid transit, and if these expectations are but partially realized, the number and magnitude of future transactions will make up for any previous dullness.

When sellers are willing to accept very small percentages in cash for their holdings, allowing the balance to remain on bond and mortgage, it indicates that they have great confidence in values. A remarkable case has very recently came to our notice. A plot of two lots, with old buildings, not far from 6th avenue, changed hands at $25,000, the buyer paying thereon $500 in cash, or only 2 per cent. of the purchase price. Subsequently he sold out at an advance of $5,000, or 900 per cent. profit on the cash invested. Still later the lots were resold at $32,000, or 1,300 per cent. advance on the cash paid on the first sale. These sales all took place since January 1st.

Hirsh Brothers, one of the leading firms of building loan operators, continue to make purchases of lots beyond the Harlem for improvement. Their purchases along Willis avenue last year were very extensive and led to great building activity thereabouts. The latest purchase embraces some fourteen lots on the west side of Willis avenue, between and on 138th and 139th streets.

On Tuesday, notwithstanding the bad weather, a large crowd was in attendance on 'Change. The list of the property to be sold was the largest presented during the week. Among those on the floor were Amos R. Eno, Henry Morgenthau, Mayer Kahn, H. Hirsh, Nathan Wise, William Noble, Wm. Rankin, John Glass, Z. J. Halpin, J. M. Levy, Thos. McManus, Jacob Bookman, B. Sire, A. K. Ely, John B. Smith, Heilner & Wolf, F. M. Jencks, P. A. Cassidy, Geo. F. Johnson, Lewis Coon, L. S. Samuel, J. C. Shaw, W. R. Martin, A. D. Duff, W. P. Seymour, A. L. Mordecai, J. S. McQuillen, L. J. Phillips, T. L. Reynolds, N. T. Lawrence, Chas. S. Brown, E. S. Blunt and I. T. Meyer. Twelve lots, to close the estate of Thomas N. Lawrence, were sold for a total of $133,300. The northwest corner of Lexington avenue and 72d street was purchased by B. Loew for $30,600, and the inside lots on 72d street for $16,500 and $16,800 respectively. E. P. Serrill purchased a lot on 5th avenue, between 66th and 67th streets, for $39,700. The northeast corner of West End avenue and 94th street, a plot 42.2x100, with about 30 feet of rock on it, was sold for $16,000. Two lots on which is considerable rock, on 9th avenue, between 70th and 71st streets, sold for $13,750 each. Joseph Walsh purchased a plot of lots on 133d street, between 5th and Lenox avenues, for $5,300 per lot. By order of the Supreme Court 24 vacant lots, on both the east and west sides, were put up for sale, but only ten of these were sold, the rest being withdrawn. Three of the lots on the Boulevard, just south of 108th street, sold for $7,700 each. Under foreclosure Henry Morgenthau purchased the front on Central Park West, between 103d and 104th streets, for $98,500. The amount due on the property was $74,667. On June 21st of last year Ferdinand Kurzman and others sold this front to Waldo E. Fuller for $120,000. During the last six months of 1889 four lots on the southwest corner of 103d street and Central Park West, sold for $60,000, and a similar plot on the northwest corner of 104th street for $50,000. A four-story dwelling on 42d street, west of 6th avenue, sold under foreclosure for $50,000. An executor's sale of lots on 93d street, between Madison and Park avenues, resulted in the purchase by Builder James A. Frame, of two 25-foot lots on the south side of the street, at $11,000 each, and by L. Z. Bach of two 22-foot lots on the north side for $7,800 each. Last year, it is stated that lots on this street sold for $8,000.

On Wednesday there was a fair attendance, the composition of the crowd being much the same as on Tuesday. No. 114 West 73d street, a 20-foot four-story dwelling, was purchased for $40,000 by G. E. Koues. A similar dwelling, No. 6 West 37th street, was sold to S. B. Wells for $42,400. An executor's sale of the estate of Ann Dunn attracted more attention than any sale of the day. The total amount realized was $84,000. The sale included a five-story flat and store on 8th avenue, between 19th and 20th streets, which sold for $52,500. There were two sales of private houses on East 52d street by different auctioneers; a 15-foot dwelling, between 2d and 3d avenues, brought $9,950, while a 19-foot house, between 1st and 2d avenues, sold for $11,800. The purchaser of the latter was a woman.

On Thursday, as on previous days in the week, the size of the crowd was satisfactory, but there was a decided lack of spirit in most of the bidding. The sale to close the estate of John G. White included three parcels, namely: a six-story malt house on the corner of West and Bethune streets, which sold to Sonn Bros. for $112,000; a two-story brick storehouse on West, just south of 12th street, which was purchased by Amos R. Eno for $27,000; and a two-story brick stable on 12th street, in the rear of the storehouse, which sold for $15,750 to Henry Frost. A sale, by order of the executors of Stephen H. Thayer, was not a success, and many of the parcels had to be withdrawn because no bids were offered. Mr. Thayer took most of the parcels in trade, and they are so well mortgaged that buyers seemed to think the property was already pretty well sold. Two five-story apartment houses on Park avenue, between 82d and 83d streets, were started at a bid of $106,000, and finally sold for $109,000 to W. R. Martin. A four-story dwelling on 53d street, between Madison and Park avenues (No. 45), sold for $33,900 to C. H. Butler, and Timothy Donovan secured two extra large lots on 82d street, between 10th avenue and the Boulevard, for $12,700. There is considerable rock on this property. Three four-story houses on 97th street, between 9th and 10th avenues, sold for $16,200, $16,250 and $16,550 respectively. The other property offered by the executors was withdrawn because the auctioneer could get no bids. The parcels withdrawn included tenements on East 102d street, private houses on West 97th street, a tenement on Avenue A, for which $16,000 was offered and refused, an apartment house on East 85th street, and tenements on East 113th and 114th streets. Z. J. Halpin purchased a plot of lots on 133d street, west of 10th avenue, at $3,200 each.

On Friday the two foreclosure sales, the only business to be transacted on 'Change, were adjourned.

On Monday, April 14th, John F. B. Smyth will sell four full lots on the south side of 151st street, 144.10½ west of St. Nicholas avenue, and a plot, 110x100, on the north side of 118th street, between 5th and Lenox avenues.

On Tuesday, April 15th, John F. B. Smyth will sell the five-story brick double tenement, on a lot 25.3x100, No. 534 West 45th street; the three-story, high stoop, brick dwelling, lot 20x98.9, No. 139 East 29th street; the three-story and basement, high stoop, brown stone dwelling, No. 124 West 31st street, and the three-story, high stoop, brown stone dwelling, on lot 16x62.2⅝, No. 1229 Lexington avenue.

On Tuesday, April 15th, Smyth & Ryan will sell the following parcels, situated in the 23d Ward: Seven new two and two-and-a-half-story, high stoop, brick and stone dwellings, on the northwest corner of 134th street and Brown Place; three lots on the south side of 135th street, 45 feet west of Brown Place; one lot on the south side of 135th street, 300 feet east of St. Ann's avenue; four lots on the southeast corner of St. Ann's avenue and 134th street; four lots on the south side of 134th street, 250 feet east of St. Ann's avenue; four lots on the northeast corner of the Southern Boulevard and 144th street; four lots on the northwest corner of Prospect avenue and 144th street; and other unimproved properties situated on Concord avenue, Brook avenue, 149th street, Delmonico Place, 164th street, and Marsher avenue.

On Tuesday, April 15th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will offer a number of vacant properties situated in Yonkers, by order of the executors of the late James Lawson. They comprise ten plots on High street, running through to St. Joseph's place, having frontages of 50 feet and upward, including a High street corner, 94.9x160x64.1x156.9 in size; twenty lots on Parker street, running through to St. Joseph's place, including two corners, and five lots on St. Joseph's avenue, near High street. The lots are all well located for improvement, and command a superb view of the Hudson River and Palisades. The ground is high, and has perfect drainage, as well as gas, water and sewer connections. The title is guaranteed.

On the same day Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell eighty finely located building sites in the City of Yonkers, situate within an hour's journey of Wall street. They comprise twenty-five lots on Park Hill avenue, forty-eight on South Waverley street, and six on Herriot place. They are in the immediate neighborhood of the New York & Northern R. R., and are a few moments walk from Getty square. The property has all the New York City improvements, and the title is guaranteed.

On Wednesday, April 16th, John F. B. Smyth will sell the three-story and basement brick dwelling, lot 18.9x98.9, No. 219 East 22d street; the three-story, high stoop, brown stone dwelling, 18.4x102.2, No. 116 East 80th street; the five-story brown stone flat, with two stores, 25x67x90, No. 1683 Park avenue; a plot, 85.4x99.11 irregular, on the north side of 141st street, west of St. Nicholas avenue; and the three-story and basement, high stoop, brick dwelling, 20x40x100, No. 246 Bergen street, Brooklyn.

On Wednesday, April 16th, Jas. Bleecker & Son will sell a valuable improved property on West 72d street, consisting of the Parkway, a six-story, fire-proof, apartment house, 50x88x102.2, containing six two-story apartments, all leased. The sellers will guarantee an income of 6 per cent. net for three years on the purchase price of the Parkway.

On Wednesday, April 16th, Richard V. Special Notices.

Messrs. Marcellus & Cubberly, the well-known west side decorators, have removed to No. 1617 9th avenue, southwest corner of 94th street. Among the other jobs on which they are engaged are several private houses on 92d street and five flats on 103d street. These houses are being painted, decorated and finished in wood by the above firm, and they have cause to be proud of their work, as it is among the best of its kind to be found on the west side.

Builders and others should turn to the advertisement on another page, wherein are offered a number of well-situated lots on the west side of the Grand Boulevard, between 61st and 62d streets. I. & S. Wormser, of the Mills building on Broad street, will lease them on most favorable terms for twenty-one years, with two renewals.

McAuliffe & Gabay, builders, of 892 3d avenue, offer for sale a house at No. 926 Park avenue, between 80th and 81st streets, built to accommodate two families. The dwelling has excellent appointments, and will be sold on liberal terms. The builders would also entertain a proposal for an exchange.

Le Boutillier Bros. advertise, in another column, a large stock of Oriental rugs of superior quality. Gentlemen intending to furnish or refurnish their houses would do well to examine the stock of this well-known firm.

Comins & Evans, of Nos. 81 and 83 Fulton street, New York, and 41 to 45 Waverley avenue, Brooklyn, are manufacturers of gravel and metal roofing, artificial stone sidewalks and natural asphalt roofing. Mr. Walter Katte, the chief engineer of the New York Central & Hudson River Company, certifies that he has used a large amount of Warren's Anchor Brand asphalt roofing, as applied by Messrs. Comins & Evans, on buildings constructed on the West Shore Railroad, and that he has found the work and the material uniformly and eminently satisfactory.

The Zoological Garden is at last to be removed to the northwestern part of Central Park. This is definite, for the Park Board, by resolution on Wednesday, decided upon it by a vote of three to one, President Hutchins being the minority. They have also asked the Board of Estimate and Apportionment for an appropriation of $300,000 for erecting the necessary buildings to be erected from plans by the Board's architect, Thomas Hastings. These plans were approved. Should no objections be raised by west side property-owners, or some other obstacle be presented, it will be interesting to see just how long the Board of Estimate will be in granting the appropriation, or whether they will let it dawdle over for months.

The city has at last decided to sell the old market square at 121st street and Sylvan Place, as well as the ground formerly occupied by Primary School No. 3 in Cannon street.

* Editor Record and Guide:

A number of liens having been filed against Elizabeth W. Aldrich as owner, and Mary E. Bailey as contractor, on block of new buildings on 63d and 64th streets, 10th and 11th avenues. We, the undersigned lienors, hereby state that we have received our payments promptly as they became due, and are perfectly satisfied with the manner of treatment we have received from Mr. S. H. Bailey, as representative of owners, and are not alarmed as to the money due or may become due hereafter. But owing to a lis pendens having been filed against William Noble, a former owner of the above-mentioned property, by the heirs of one John Paine, who was also an owner prior to said William Noble, and who sold the same to said William Noble, have brought suit against said Noble to set aside the conveyance of said plot, on the grounds of insanity or unsoundness of mind, and that said property revert back to the heirs of said John Paine, deceased. Mrs. Aldrich having been owner of said plot several months before suit was commenced, or lis pendens was filed, contracted with M. E. Bailey to erect fifty-six houses on said block. M. E. Bailey having now completed the first section (fifteen houses) and finding it difficult to procure a loan, did not think it advisable to proceed with the remaining section of houses until lis pendens was removed, which Mrs. Aldrich is endeavoring to have done. We, the undersigned, having contracts covering the entire block, and fearing there may be delays pending the trial of said suit, placed our liens not only on the portion of the property on which we furnished our material and labor, but on twenty-six lots yet untouched, merely for the protection and faithful performance of our contracts. Mrs. Aldrich has authorized Mr. Bailey to continue right on with the work, guaranteeing every protection.

M. Hughes, Plumber.
B. Donovan, Carpenter.
Farrell & O'Brien, Contractors for Sand.
W. J. Daly, Brick Mason.
Carroll & Shufflin, Plasterers.
Marcus A Ball, Painter.
Thomas F. McHugh, Artificial Flagging.

Editor Record and Guide:

We do not owe Mr. Muir a dollar; on the contrary we had overpaid him for work performed. He failed to complete the work he was doing for us, as well as for other builders, because he was unable to pay his men, and his lien filed last week is significant of no just claim. Squier & Whipple.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

For prices see pages x., xi., xii. and xiv.]

BRICKS.—The conditions of the market thus far this spring have been generally of a conservative character and free from excitement or violent fluctuation in value. Liberal work during the winter followed by more or less unpropitious weather to prevent the pushing along of unfinished jobs have curtailed demand in a natural manner, and while the offering rarely became uncomfortably excessive there was always about enough stock available for the outlet with more known to be back subject to call. Both buyers and sellers, therefore, have felt constrained to move with cautious method and it has served to preserve reasonably healthy conditions. From the selling side there was some complaint at times regarding the ruling rates, but in few cases any determined refusal to continue shipments where facilities were available, and it is expected that manufacturers will still incline to the policy of getting rid of old accumulations steadily in preparation for new work. Advices from along the river cont in the usual item about light accumulation, but the amount left over at the end of the year was too large for scarcity as yet, and many of the trade think there will be a pretty good supply up to the appearance of new brick. Since our last report the selling side of the market has labored under more or less disadvantage, principally in the matter of storms acting as a direct stop to work, a considerable portion of the regular line of custom failing to appear upon the market at all, and as the arrivals in the meanwhile ran pretty full a surplus accumulated afloat that was annoying. Taking the general range about former quotations are used, but it must be something very nice to exceed $7.25 per M. Really fine quality shows the greatest firmness, and we hear considerable complaint about the character of many cargoes received, which, while looking well enough on surface are discovered upon handling to contain a considerable mixture of washed brick, and claims for allowances are in consequence frequent. Some estimates place the mixture of washed stock at fully 20 per cent. in a great many of the newly received cargoes. Moulding has already commenced at Hackensack, and it is understood that by the 25th of this month most of the North River and Long Island manufacturers expect to be at work.

LATH.—The chances for consumption this spring are about up to the average, both locally and at all points making this city the base of purchase, while on the other hand the chances for supply are uncertain, but with most indications pointing to a shortage for some time to come. Just at the moment buyers do not appear to be over-hungry for stock, and while the quantity coming to hand cannot be called liberal it has about met the requirements of the market. Last week we were slightly misled by a report of business at $2.75 it not proving a really fair basis for quotation, so that it is no decline to now make the figure $2.60@2.65 for slab stock and $2.40 for round wood, as probably about the best that can fairly be depended upon. There is quite a number of small odd lots afloat, but very few good-sized cargoes

LIME.—Reports still contend that the demand is full and prompt enough to take about all the supply expected, and there is a refusal to enter complaint over the condition of the market. Some receivers have suggested that if the recent pretty free arrivals had been strung along over a somewhat extended period of time it would have been a greater degree of convenience, but most of the cargoes were handled without sacrifice of more than ordinary amount of patience, and so far as known the former line of cost was preserved. The St. John and State products continue to participate in the general good demand, and are commanding former rates on all grades, with the offerings fair. Some time ago we published the address of those members of the trade who are opposed to an increase of duty on lime; and this it appears has brought a rejoinder from manufacturers who generally seek to have the tariff raised. A special dispatch to a local high protection journal, after recounting as a matter of "news" that there are lime burners in the United States outside of Maine, contains the following paragraph:

The Canadian competition, which is nourished by the cheaper labor of New Brunswick, makes itself felt in New York, Boston, Salem, Fall River, Providence and other markets in which the lime burners of Maine, New York, Massachusetts, Vermont, Connecticut, Maryland and Virginia deal. The delegation here today contend that it is a matter of vital interest to themselves and their employees that the proposed rate be retained in the McKinley bill. The lime business they say is above all else a business in labor. Ninety per cent. of the expense of manufacturing goes for labor; and, so far, the prices of labor of this kind are much higher in this country than in the Provinces. In some places, as in Maine, wages are fully twice what they are in New Brunswick. Of course, the low price of labor is a great advantage to the provincial manufacturer, and under the present tariff of three cents a barrel he is making money, and the extent of his control of the American market is limited only by the time it takes to increase the number of Canadian kilns. The New Brunswick lime burners have been taking the market from the home manufacturers for the last few years, and, at the rate the kilns are going up along the St. John river it will be only a few years before the American business will be ruined, or the wages of American workers be reduced to the standard of the Provinces, unless additional protection is afforded."

Other claims by the delegation are referred to, but they embrace nothing with which the trade is not already familiar, and there is a noticeable absence of a single word in favor of the hundreds of thousands of consumers who would be benefited by cheap lime.

LUMBER.—In the matter of business on the distributive outlet some irregularity is shown owing in the main to various influences of a really minor character, but on the whole there is a gaining tendency as the natural outcome of the progress of the season. There is also a noticeable conflict of statement regarding the conditions of the wholesale deal with, however, many of the suggestions evidently dictated by interest, as it is a sort of critical period when both buyer and seller are anxious to make strong points in favor of their respective interests. Thus far, however, the seller appears to have scored rather the greatest advantage as on several of the leading descriptions of stock, such as Spruce, Hemlock and Southern Pine, all of which have secured really satisfactory attention and commanded rates generally in advance of last season. Indeed, as a matter of fact the spring trade thus far has opened quite auspiciously, and while a certain portion of the trade evidently do not want to admit that it is more than a temporary flurry it may be accepted as cheering so far as it goes.

Eastern Spruce, according to some operators, is in a simply impregnable position, and there is an absolute refusal to admit of any chance for a loss of tone for some time at least. They do not present any really new claims, simply basing their confidence upon the backwardness of the production, and the difficulty in the way of moving it forward, even where the output is well up to an ordinary average. This feeling of strength applies to all grades, but is particularly demonstrative when referring to large sizes, and some of the ideas of possible value would appear almost unreasonable. For certain lines of consumption many builders no doubt consider Spruce almost indispensable, yet, after all, that is very much a notion, and particularly so as regards the general run of work, and at the rate prices are now being pushed up there is quite likely to be a turning toward anything that at less cost can be used as a substitute. Within a week or ten days there has also been quite a fair arrival of cargoes, and while many of them, it is claimed, came in on speci l orders, it shows that a few vessels are left and buyers in some cases are inclined to express a little suspicion about the freight-room famine as a continu us factor.

Piling remains in good form and operators generally appear to have solid faith in their ability to retain advantage throughout the season. A great many of the anticipated demands have already developed and some of the dealers find a little slower custom, but the amounts they have contracted against will exhaust a considerable quantity of the supply at primary points, to say nothing of taking up about all the freight room within reach at any reasonable rate.

Hemlock of desirable and high standard of quality continues scarce for all early deliveries, owing to the limited production primarily supplemented by some pretty good contracts booked as already advised, and with a continued good demand sellers are confident. Occasionally something may be heard about joist selling or offering for less than $12.00, but the report does not appear to bother operators who are able to obtain that rate and upward, and they seem to think it a waste of time to attempt interposing contradictions.

White Pine may, on the whole, be called steady. There are claims to contradict that view of the situation, upon assumptions of both an upward and downward inclination to values, but the contradictions make a pretty good balance, and with allowance for the usual exceptions to all rules we do not believe either buyer or seller can fairly claim a positive gain thus far this season. The chances are the consumptive outlet is apparently very good for everything except uppers, but whether the supply may turn out below calculations or not the present idea of buyers is in favor of a sufficient quantity and assortment for all wants, and they are decidedly adverse to the exhibition of any anxiety about the future.

Yellow Pine has so many outlets in addition to a growing consumption right at home that manufacturers and agents can to a certain extent show independence toward any one market that may happen to act offish. Our local buyers understood this thoroughly well, and on the average run of demand are generally found prepared to pay about the same rates as for some time ruling, and negotiations where any contest is generated are specials. It is pretty sure to cost an extreme figure for anything in the way of extra difficult schedule, especially where the time for delivery is arbitrary. The mills about all claim to have more profitable work before them.

Carolina Pine in most particulars remains in good form, and the irregularities before referred to, though still extant, are of a minor character so far as the general situation is concerned. A great many of the trade think that all desirable kiln dried stock should be a little higher, but there seems to be a want of unanimity among manufacturers that prevents concerted action for an advance, and if any one attempts it the chances will probably have to be taken individually. In the matter of timber the probabilities suggested by us some time ago are being realized, and we constantly hear of parcels taken as a substitute for Spruce, and manufacturers are said to be making preparations to push this description of the Southern production with greater freedom. Buyers almost, as a matter of course, go through the usual form of complaint over quality, but when they calculate the difference in cost succumb, and Carolina pure timber seems to have an opportunity that will be taken advantage of. Some reticence is shown in regard to exact selling rates, but $14.50@16.00 per M as to size is named in a general way.

Hardwoods furnish few points that can be considered really new. Ash, cherry, poplar and quartered oak remain very well in the lead as favorite woods, and first class offerings of such are pretty sure to receive prompt attention and command full rates. There is, however, nothing that can be called positive animation in the movement of buyers, and faulty offerings are received with the most supreme indifference which a material reduction in valuation does not always overcome. There has been rather more inquiry for maple from home sources this season and quite a number of calls on export account, but like every other class of stock the quality had to be of the finest to satisfy custom. Arrivals of mahogany have been very fair thus far this year, but operators predict that everything will be wanted, and indeed are looking forward to a first rate trade on both local and interior orders, and at good, full rates.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

The Northwestern Lumberman as follows:

Wholesale handlers of white pine in this city are not jubilant as they enter on another year's campaign. Outsiders may say that this lack of spirit is a clear and emphatic evidence, going to show the decadence of the white pine trade at this point. Indeed, it can be said that the condition of the Northern pine business as a whole is not characterized by that youthful vigor and confidence that pertains to the Southern lumber industry. Northern operators may say that their Southern contemporaries are allowing their enthusiasm to run away with their better judgment—that their imagination have become inflated with the spirit of "boom," like that which captivates the town site heroes of the West; but so long as the Southern mill operator and shipper can show an accumulation of orders far ahead of his ability to fill them, and is able to dictate prices to the buyer, he can indulgently smile at the taunts of his Northern rivals. The Southern lumberman is on horseback, after many years of subjection to humiliating conditions, and he has a right to glory in the good fortune that seems to have come to him.

The dealers of this city are also beginning to wake up to the question of procuring future supplies. They begin to see that stocks over the lake are likely to be dissipated before they get a chance at them. Several heavy purchases of dry stock have already been made. Trades thus far have been effected on a basis of $10.25 in this city for dry piece stuff, or about $9 at Muskegon. Sales have been made at that point for a trifle less than that figure.

In respect to prices, piece stuff and common and cull boards of promiscuous width are weaker than a month ago. Ordinary short lengths are selling at $1 a thousand lower than the Association list. Even 2x4 and 2x12 are down below $12. Any amount of eleven-dollar piece stuff is being sold between yards. Long lengths are doing a little better than short. Stuff 26 feet and up is comparatively scarce and firm, but 18 to 24-foot is plentiful and can be bought for accommodating prices. Timbers 6x8, 14 and 16 are scarce and sell from $10.50 to $13; 1x6 at $11.75 to $12. Short timbers are generally selling for prices that are considered unreasonably low, as compared to what was expected of them through the winter.

Boards of all grades and of stock width are good property, and command prices relatively higher than those for all width stock. Fencing holds up fairly well, but is shaded 50 cents a thousand between yards. Fourteen-foot is as high as 16-foot, on account of the factory demand. Good lumber is all right. Rough flooring strips, siding and selects are shaded but little.

There is a disposition on the part of dealers to unload common lumber, especially piece stuff and boards, as rapidly as possible. This it is that induces them to shade prices on such lumber. They want to clear off foundations so as to be ready for new stock. Navigation will soon be open and by the middle of the month vessels will be discharging lumber on the docks. Several vessels have already gone over the lake, or are at east shore ports for loads.

According to the Mississippi Valley Lumberman the Ottawa lumbermen are looking forward to a good trade from the United States this year and they have secured enough logs to make it certain that they will be in position to put on the market a good deal of lumber. The opinion is expressed on the other side of the line that the resolution offered by Senator Hoar is designed to give the Treasury Department the power to counteract the export duty imposed by the Dominion government upon the logs for export duty to the United States, and that a war of tariff rates would be unfortunate for the men in the trade on both sides of the line.

The same journal also says:

The lumber business may suffer some check by strikers in May if the avowed intention of endeavoring to enforce the eight hour rule is carried out. There have already been some premonitions of this impending disturbance, although it is stated that there is some division of sentiment among the labor organizations upon whether the attempt shall be made now or at some other time. A strong sentiment has been created in some quarters against a strike, and it is possible that no disturbance will occur for the present. The demand for labor in the building trades is not now so active that the mechanics can afford to hazard the loss of time and money which inevitably follow a strike.

ENGLAND.

The Timber Trades Journal reports as follows:

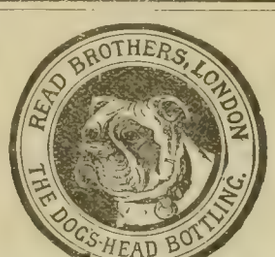
There is not much to report in the pitchpine trade. The only arrivals to London this week have been the Freya and Niagara, but there are others now due, including the Johanna, and the Royal Visitor; the Blairgowrie will not be here for some time, having only sailed about a fortnight since from Pensacola. Several sales have been made to the Continent at 57s. 6d., the sellers, we understand, refusing anything under those figures for 35 ft. timber, though 30 ft. has been done at 55s., and we believe even lower. A firmer feeling is said to be pervading the market, and freights are, if anything, higher, owing to the action of the United States Government, reported in our last issue, in seizing large quantities of timber at Pensacola. These logs will, it is stated, be tied up for perhaps a month to come, and it is expected that prices will advance. The yellow fever quarantine regulations at Pensacola relating to vessels arriving from South America will keep a considerable amount of tonnage away from the port.

The poor prices realized lately for first pine at the public auctions are a plain indication that the market is not inclined to continue to pay starvation rates for any class of wood. Consequently, we are not surprised to see American whitewood, sequoia, Oregon pine and other substitutes being shipped here in increasing quantities, owing to the high prices asked privately for those descriptions with which they come into competition. It is in the time of high prices that the door is opened for the substitution of these cheaper kinds, which, when once introduced to consumers, are not easily displaced, until, as is probable in the rolling of time, they, in their turn, come to be supplanted by a cheaper article.



NAILS.—Business does not vary much in details or volume, and there is little or nothing new to suggest. Buyers who have uses for stock do not hesitate to so express themselves, and they generally find about all the offering desired available with owners making no objection to bids at former figures, while now and then comes an intimation that under special circumstances moderate shadings are allowed. We quote at $1.90@1.95 per keg for car lots, and $2.00@2.05 per keg for parcels from store.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—It is evident that a certain amount of disappointment has been experienced thus far this spring in the general volume of trade and a little grumbing over the distribution may be heard. Most of the standard descriptions of stock, however, now seem to be gaining in favor somewhat, and as there is nothing to suggest any serious defection in average consumption operators are inclined to take a hopeful view of the prospect from this time forward. Leads are kept reasonably steady and appear to remain as a sort of central pivot to hold most other standard descriptions of stock in position. Linseed Oil is commented upon in a cheerful manner as a rule and the general situation seems to be so well in hand as to make it pretty certain that sellers can fairly retain most of the advantage. We quote at 60@61c. for Western, and 62@64c. for City. Spirits Turpentine, finding a better demand and a reduced offering, has advanced in cost and at the gain appears quite steady, with a very fair general jobbing business doing. We quote 43@44c. per gallon, according to quantity, delivery, etc.

TAR AND PITCH.—Demand has been somewhat unsettled, as buyers refused to invest beyond the limit of their immediate requirements, and these were of a variable character. The close, however, finds the market about steady as to price and no great amount of stock offering. We quote Pitch at $1.40@1.50 per bbl.; Tar at $2.12½@2.30, according to quantity, quality and delivery.

VOL. XLV. APRIL 19, 1890. No. 1,153.

The ease of money and prospective Congressional action on the silver question and Treasury disbursements have put the Western railroad situation out of sight for the time being and converted a bear into a bull market with a suddenness characteristic of the times. The chief cause of this change is the easy and steady money rate, and on this will depend whether stock market quotations will continue to advance or not. The underlying strength of the market for the last sixty days or more, and the upward movement in certain securities, such as those of the newly reorganized Atchison, showed that there was a desire on the part of the public to buy, and that was proved by the increase of business in the Stock Exchange following the decline of last week. The situation has a very close resemblance to what has taken place in London, where for a long time business on the stock market was stagnant, and brokers and the press exercised all their wit in trying to account for the fact; meanwhile, the problem was solved for them just in proportion as the Bank of England rate was reduced. What happened there is happening here; with money plentiful, and, it should be noted at the same time, also with signs of a falling off in general business, funds are seeking occupation in investment and speculative securities. The probabilities favor a continuance of low-rate money for the present, and, consequently, a further advance in the price of stocks. It must not be forgotten, however, that the prospect is not all sunshine. Alton and Missouri Pacific have not consented to join the rate agreement, and the situation cannot be entirely satisfactory until the Western roads have found some solution for their differences. Some years ago Union Pacific was prominent in a similar fight. Then Union Pacific made an agreement with connecting roads to distribute its business among them at Omaha, arousing the objection of a competitor west of the Missouri, but also operating East, and a fight began which disturbed the whole railroad situation until it was settled. Now Union Pacific is prominent in this struggle, having, by a change of tactics, favored one of its competitors to the expense of its connections. The hopefullest view of this dispute is that the condition of the disputants' business is becoming such that a speedy settlement would seem to be an absolute necessity. With this arranged, there would be no obstacle in sight to a general advance.

The failure of the Fassett bill, and with it rapid transit for this city for another year at least, was clearly foreshadowed on Thursday before the Assembly Committee on Railroads at Albany. Mr. Beekman was there, and expressed the views of the city authorities, which we may safely assume are also those of Governor Hill. The welfare of the metropolis is openly enough cast to the winds, and the matter is now, what, indeed, it has been mainly from the beginning, "pure politics." So-called "reasons," of course, were given for opposing the bill, the chief being that stale piece of hypocrisy about the infringement of the precious "Home Rule" principle. This phrase should fool no one. Being interpreted it means "Mayor's Rule," "Tammany Hall Rule," or "Political Rule." It does not mean in this case, and it never has meant, the "People's Rule," or rule in the interest of the community. The people of this city badly need rapid transit, and care little whether it comes through the Republicans or the Democrats, through Mr. Fassett or the Mayor. It is to be regretted that the Mayor does not for once, in a matter so vitally important as this is, rise above "politics," and make his acts conform to his worthy pretensions. Again and again he has declared himself in favor of any measure that will give the city rapid transit, and that he has only the interest of the city at heart. What does this fine declaration turn out to mean? Merely that he will favor any measure emanating from himself or his own party, and that he will oppose tooth and nail, by every political device, measures that arise from any other source. It is plainly evident that the Mayor has no valid objection to make to the Fassett bill, for Mr. Beekman said "the rights of the city"—euphemism for 'rights of Tammany'—"would be preserved if the commissioners named by the Mayor should be incorporated in the bill." In other words, it isn't a question of measures that is being fought over, but of commissioners. How long will this parody of government continue? How long will the patience of people last?

There has been some dispute as to the value of the property on the northwest corner of Grand and Elm streets, on which the hall of the Board of Education stands at present. It has been claimed that this parcel could be sold for over $225,000, which would be sufficient to cover not only the expense of the plot on 59th street, which the Board has purchased, but also of the new building which they will erect. Sales of property in the vicinity of the corner in question do not, however, bear out this statement. The plot on which the present hall stands is 50.1x100.1. A lot on the southwest corner of the same streets, 25x80.3, sold in May of last year for $31,500. The lot adjoining on Grand street, 18.2x80.4, was sold at the same time for $19,600, and the lot adjoining on Elm street 25x100, for $17,000. Thus a plot with a frontage of 43.2 on Grand street x105.3 on Elm, together with an interior plot, 25x57.10, in all about 5,991 square feet, has changed hands for a total of $68,100, whereas the plot on which the present hall is situated contains only a little over 5,000 square feet. Furthermore, we understand that $100,000 was recently offered and refused for a plot 63x113 on the northeast corner of Grand and Elm. So that after due allowance for the fact that in the case of the southwest corner there was a smaller frontage on Grand street, that there may have been an increase in value since the sales were made, and that the plot, if sold as one parcel instead of piecemeal would perhaps have been worth a larger sum, and after making allowance for the fact that the offer of $100,000 for the northeast corner was refused, it is extremely improbable that the present hall of the Board would bring the price which was paid for the plot on 59th street, let alone the cost of the new building. Consequently it would appear that it was not right for the Board of Education to go to this extra expense when the school accommodations are as insufficient as they are at present, and that the erection of the new building on 59th street can be justified only by a successful effort to increase the present school facilities.

Recent Experiences in Prohibiting Combination.

It is now about ten years since Henry D. Lloyd and others began to fill the magazines with startling arraignments of combinations of various sorts, and to predict awful things if these potential monopolies were not destroyed while young. The tendency to combine had developed among the railroads at a still earlier date and was so demonstrably necessary to the most economical railroad service that most who studied the problem were inclined to acquiesce in it. Those who did not study the problem had, however, the loudest voices, and their cry for the prohibition of pools and the perpetuation of railroad competition was recognized in the shape finally given to the Interstate Commerce Act.

Outside of railroad affairs the courts have latterly shown a tendency to do nearly all that positive legislation could accomplish towards the prohibiting of trusts and all combinations in defeat of competition. From Louisiana to Maine and California to New York the trend of the decisions has been steadily against the trusts, and the New York committee that so laboriously investigated the subject declined to recommend legislation merely because it held that the common law, as now interpreted, is entirely adequate to deal with them—in fact to keep them out of existence. The anti-trust lawyers almost always take pains to quote the decision of Lord Coke, in which it is affirmed that there are three results of monopoly: "(1) That the price of the commodity will be raised; (2) that the commodity will not be so good as before; (3) that it tends to the impoverishment of divers artizans, artificers and others."

It will be noticed that this dictum of Coke's is a mere finding of fact in the examination of the old-fashioned legal monopolies. It would seem that this finding of fact, now nearly three centuries old, need not bar the way to a re-examination of the effects of monopoly, especially since the origin of existing monopolies is different from those of the time of Coke. But lawyers do not willingly study economics, and the results are not always satisfactory when they do.

In spite of the adverse attitude of legislators and lawyers during the last few years the process of combining has gone merrily on. The history of railroads and railroad legislation indicates that to prohibit pools leads to the absorption of small roads. If roads can not combine they will consolidate. Historically considered the pooling process has been little but a device for keeping small and competing roads in autonomous existence. Two parallel lines of track extend for a long distance out of St. Louis. Though virtually owned by one company they cannot be united because a law of Missouri forbids parallel roads to unite. This law seems to be the last possibility in the way of forbidding railroad combination, and this law is futile. The operation of the anti-pooling clause in the Interstate act has been to promote fighting for territory in the West, which will certainly lead to consolidation after enough debilitating rate wars have been fought out.

In the vast number of industries in which combinations have been trying to establish themselves we find much the same results. No sooner is it certain that the courts will hold trusts to be illegal than combination is abandoned in favor of consolidation. If a trust will not stand then let one corporation swallow up the whole industry, as has been done in the case of the Cotton Seed Oil Trust. Against such a policy as this even the drastic legislation of Missouri, which provides that the officers of every corporation in the State must make affidavit that their company is party to no agreement in restraint of trade, will be powerless even should it be declared constitutional.

Altogether the tendency towards combination seems likely to override all common law or statute law barriers that have yet been raised, nor do any of the fifteen or twenty anti-trust bills now before Congress promise to be more efficient. Senator Teller's suggestion that they will all be useless unless the States take hold of the matter and limit the amount of capital that can be controlled by any one corporation indicates the extreme difficulty of the work in hand, but does not indicate any sure way of doing that work.

One feature of the situation that commonly escapes notice is that the tendency to combine is not limited to corporations. In the case of the alleged Beef Trust the "conspirators," if such they be, are not corporations, or even partnerships, but what Adam Swift would have called "individual adventurers." Senator Vest's committee, that has been investigating this matter so assiduously and with such small results, has not been able to prove a formal combination of the four leading packers, yet hardly any one doubts that an adequately definite agreement exists between them. No possible reform of corporation law ,or of partnership law, would effect such a combination as this; nor does it appear that the combination depends to any great extent on other corporations. The railroads may have favored the large packers at times, but it is entirely conceivable that such a monopoly might be established without any favors of this sort, and especially that being now established it can live without them.

Those who are pushing legislation and litigation to prevent monopoly through industrial combinations seem to think that they are treading in the footsteps of those who fought the old legal monopolies of the time of Elizabeth and the Stuarts. But there is obviously this difference in the situation: whereas the legislators of the older time had to strain every nerve to prevent competition the legislators of the present are racking their ingenuity to find means to perpetuate it.

The bill providing for the election of a Commissioner of Streets for the 23d and 24th Wards appears to be pretty well assured of passage. The new Commissioner, if the bill becomes a law, will be elected next fall, take office on January 1st, 1891, and will have charge of the laying out, the opening and the maintenance of all the streets north of the Harlem. His official authority will be restricted only by the Board of Street Opening and Improvement, of which he will be a member, with a vote on all matters appertaining to the 23d and 24th Wards. Within two and a-half years after his election he is authorized to prepare a complete street system for this district, which will be submitted to the Board of Street Opening and Improvement for approval. The bill was prepared and introduced in response to a demand from the property-owners north of the Harlem, whose interests have been injured and whose plans for improvements have been impeded by the delay which has attended the street opening proceedings. The Park Department is quite willing to be relieved of the responsibility which the work has entailed, so that apparently there is no opposition to the change from the people and the authorities directly interested. It was a clumsy contrivance originally to put the work in the hands of the Park Department, which has its own specific line of duties, and which could not be expected to assume an alien and difficult function with any degree of success. The form, however, which the change of authority has taken is objectionable. If the bill is passed, it will introduce a local self-government in municipal administration the like of which has been seldom seen. Furthermore, it will mean a return to a certain extent to the principle of divided responsibility—the system of checks—in municipal government. In so far as this is true, we consider the bill to be objectionable. The Commissioner will not be responsible to the Mayor, because he is neither appointed nor removed by the latter. Neither will he be responsible to the Board of Street Opening and Improvement, although his authority will be limited by that Board. He will be accountable to the electors of the 23d and 24th Wards, and they can exercise their power only once in six years. Thus the provision of the bill which makes the office elective practically divides the city into two sections, with separate interests and separate authorities, while the provision which makes the approval of the Board of Street Opening and Improvement necessary to any important action of the Commissioner, reunites the divided sections, but with a bond that is clumsily fashioned. The 23d and 24th Wards will be in the position of a man who indeed has a room of his own which he can furnish and decorate as he pleases, but which is accessible only through the room of somebody else, who has a perfect right and who will possibly have an ever-present inclination to deny the owner of the inner room any opportunity to move in his furniture. In other words, the administrative machinery created by the bill appears to be clumsy; and it is possible that much friction may arise in the future.

The bill now on the order of third reading in the Legislature, which provides for raising the amount to be annually divided among the indigent adult blind of this city, who are not inmates of any institution, from $20,000 to $50,000, is one which if allowed to pass cannot fail to produce harmful results. This proposed means for helping an unfortunate class is open to the same objection that holds against the practice of giving alms to beggars on the street. It will tend to pauperize the recipients if carried out. The present sum of $20,000, when divided pro rata among this class, allows $40 to go to each person. A few years ago it furnished a per capita sum of $100. Now, if by raising the amount which each may receive once more, as the bill proposes, the adult indigent blind will be drawn to this city in such numbers that it will not be long before the per capita sum is reduced to $40 again, and the Legislature called upon for a still larger appropriation. It isn't so much money this class wants as opportunity for employment. One is not necessarily helpless or incapable of supporting oneself because one is blind. Enforced idleness is the worst form of punishment that can be inflicted upon a person able to work. Unless employment is provided for the blind they must remain in enforced idleness—they cannot seek work themselves. What is needed instead of an increase in the annual appropriation for their support, are well organized societies, whose work it shall be to provide this unfortunate class with suitable employment. A plan similar to this obtains in France, and it produces the best results. It may at first seem harsh to oppose this measure which proposes to contribute to the support of an afflicted class of citizens, but reflection will make it clear that the bill before the Legislature is not one which, if passed, will be of any real benefit to the blind, but one which on the contrary will tend to pauperize them.

Theory and Practice in Finance.

A committee of the American Bankers' Association is preparing an elaborate report "upon the establishment of schools in connection with the universities and colleges of the country, of general scope and character like that of 'The Wharton School of Finance and Economy' connected with the University of Pennsylvania; and the best means by which the establishment and endowment of such schools may be promoted and fostered by the association." It is said in the pamphlet which the committee is circulating that this action has been induced by "a conviction that the next and future generations of bankers will generally need to be better equipped for their profession than the past and present generations."

A prospectus has also been issued for an American College of Actuaries, designed to give the most thorough training in all branches of mathematics and other sciences that can be of use to the men engaged in life insurance business—a business which has had an absolutely astounding development within recent years.

The bankers' committee has asked a college man, Professor James, of the University of Pennsylvania, to prepare the paper which they will submit to the next meeting of the association, and the life insurance men are urging the necessity of a thorough mastery of differential calculus to guide them along the devious ways of the theory of probabilities. The suggestion has also come from a practical railroad man, that we need an institution for training railroad experts; whose preparation for considering the difficult question of railroad finance shall be more thorough than mere work in the offices affords. It is thought that such men would be the only proper mediators between the public and the owners of roads, or between the owners and the managers. In this connection it is signficant that the mighty task of compiling for the Interstate Commerce Commission the statistics of the railroads of the country has been confided to a college man, H. C. Adams, of Ann Arbor.

All these facts indicate that there is slowly spreading among us a consciousness of the fact that while theory without experience has no feet, experience without theory is blind. Heretofore we have staggered happily forward, but the pitfalls are becoming too deep and too numerous to make this longer possible. We do not expect to build modern bridges without civil engineers, nor to succeed well in administering justice without well-trained lawyers. The operations of banking, of insurance, of railroad finance, and of taxation are also coming to be so intricate and so gigantic that experts in these several branches must be had. There is a demand among us that has even been called pathetic for thoroughly reliable statistics on a bewildering variety of questions, yet well-trained statisticians are almost entirely wanting, though we have many writers that take pleasure in manipulating figures. Now statistics is demonstrably a teachable science, and it will cost less to train men in it than to be misled by bunglers.

The indications are that this growing demand for special training in finance and economy will be met, or nearly so. We have recently examined half a dozen new text books of political economy written by American authors. The very number of these works is suggestive of the growing demand for such instruction; the character of them is still more suggestive of the demand for a political economy that gives practical guidance in the affairs of life rather than abstract solutions of the origin and destiny of man. Two of these new volumes are by men of German training, most of them are of the so-called "new school," all but one give an extremely practical turn to the subject treated, and that one asserts that he has done so, though obviously mistaken.

The work being done in the more progressive colleges and universities is far in advance of what the text books would indicate. It is significant that Columbia College, always prominent in the department of political science since the days of Francis Lieber, has called to the presidency a man noted as an administrator more than a scholar. It need not be feared that with an ex-Mayor of Brooklyn at its head, the institution will not be in touch with the practical affairs of the day. An elaborate paper by Prof. Seligman of that institution, on the "Finance Statistics of American Commonwealths," is a good illustration of the work that needs doing and is being done by the younger generation of American scholars. Doubtless most of those who will be influenced by such a work will never see it, and may never even hear of it, but its effect will be none the less positive. No one whose duty it has been to read a large number of current periodicals can have failed to notice how such a paper as this is used first by the best edited papers with or without acknowledgment, and then the ideas embodied in it get into general circulation, and the small editors and politicians think themselves vastly original for entertaining them.

Such has been the history of the elaborate paper of Professor James on the relation of the municipality to the gas supply, and such has been, or is to be, the history of the influence of such students as Wells and Ely in the longed-for solution of the problem of State and local taxation.

Comptroller Myers, in response to the demands of a number of persons and corporations, including one of the Title Guarantee and Trust Companies, has decided to amend his bill providing for official searches of city claims against property. We have used the word "amend" in relation to the matter, because the Comptroller used it in an interview; but the amendment is more properly a reconstruction, for but very little is left of the bill; and it may be added that the reconstructed version does not suffer from this fact. The "persons and corporations" mentioned above objected to the bill on the ground that the "city should not go into a business for the purpose of making money." The proposition is not, perhaps, unimpeachable on general grounds; but it certainly is unjust that the city should endeavor to increase its income in the way provided for by Mr. Myers' bill, particularly as the money would come directly out of the pockets of the people who already pay the taxes. Mr. Myers considers the objection "important and reasonable;" and consequently has decided to make the service free to the public. The bill is amended in other particulars, so that we may conclude that the Comptroller has found other objections which are "important and reasonable." Instead of leaving the records of arrears of taxes and assessments on the books in their present disorganized and scattered condition, he proposes to prepare at a cost of some $50,000 a system of ledger accounts with every piece of property in the city, having the books written up so that the property-owners may tell at a glance what the condition of their property is. This will involve the labor of several experienced persons for about a year, and after its completion two bookkeepers will be sufficient to keep the books up to date and make the searches. Thus the four searchers under the original bill at salaries of $5,000 apiece will sink to two bookkeepers at salaries of $2,000 each. Our readers will see that there is practically nothing left of the original bill beyond the condition which it presupposed, viz., that some change was necessary; and as Mr. Myers has himself characterized the objections to the original measure as "important and reasonable," we are driven to the conclusion that the bill as at first drawn up was unreasonable, and we are glad to see our opposition to it countenanced by so well-meaning and able an official as the Comptroller. The only criticism we should pass as to the sufficiency of the bill as amended would turn on the meaning of the phrase "every piece of property" with which the city is to have a ledger account. What in this sense is "a piece of property?" Will there be as many pieces of property as there are property-owners, or will different property-owners have only as many pieces of property as he has adjoining lots or parcels. We believe that even Mr. Myers' "experienced persons" would find it very difficult to classify the arrears of taxes, assessments and water rents under the head of any pieces of property, the areas of which are determined by transfer and adjudication, that such a system would still be needlessly complex and cumbersome, and that the simplest system of classification would be based on a local area with definite boundaries fixed by statute—such areas to be small enough to avoid the complexity and confusion arising from too many entries under each area, but large enough to avoid the complexity and confusion and waste of book space arising from the constitution of too many areas. But as we have before us only the loose wording of a reporter, we will refrain from pressing the criticism until we are in possession of the bill itself as amended.

West Side Churches—No. 1.

There are two Romanesque churches on the Boulevard, one at the corner of 71st street and the other at the corner of 73d street, which are severally of considerable architectural interest, and this interest is heightened by the marked contrast between them. As Romanesque, thanks to the labor of Richardson in it, seems destined to be the style of the immediate future for all purposes, it is well to see how much our architects can make out of it, and especially what is made out of it by the church architects, who have been working for forty years and more in pointed Gothic, which even the opponents of Gothic for secular purposes have admitted to be appropriate for ecclesiastical uses.

The first named of these two churches, that at the corner of 71st street, is distinguished by a simplicity and severity that amount almost to primness. The frontage is of about 65 feet for although the lot is considerably wider at the rear and there is an extension of the church here on the north side, this extension does not count in the architecture. The material throughout is a salmon colored brick relieved with dark red terra cotta and the roof is of glazed and corrugated black tiling. The front is quite symmetrical, a nave with very low and narrow aisles, in the front of each of which there is a single round-headed opening, of which the archivolts shafts and quoined jambs are in terra cotta. The nave is slightly projected, and its boundaries defined by buttresses rising to the height of the aisle roof, with two sloping offsets coped in terra cotta. The entrance, at the centre, is a liberal round arch, rather Norman than Provençal in treatment, and indeed this may be said of the treatment in general. This arch has moulded and decorated archivolts, including two heavy rolls, one at the intrados, and a decorated label moulding. The detail is good in itself, and is well adjusted in scale, and the effect of the whole feature is dignified and impressive, the more impressive because the richness of the front is concentrated upon it. The impost moulding of the arch is prolonged and forms the impost also of a little round arch on each side. Above the portal the sill course of the upper openings is likewise extended, a heavy moulding of terra cotta, and traverses and divides the whole front. The openings above are double, tall and round arched, with long and heavy shafts in the jambs, two on each side and three at the junction in the centre, of which the central one is projected from the plane of the wall and left with nothing to carry. This is an arrangement very common in the works of Mr. Richardson, and not without precedent in old Romanesque architecture, but is meaningless and objectionable wherever it occurs. Romanesque architecture differs from classical Roman, essentially, precisely in this that while the classical features of fully developed and large columns are retained they are withdrawn into the mass and become modellings and modifications of it, and no longer extrinsic and independent ornaments. The arrangement we speak of violates this principle, and is so far a relapse to the illogicality and essential barbarism of the classical Roman, a hodge-podge of arched construction and trabeated decoration. Above this double window the head of the gable is diapered in terra cotta with a central ornament and a crowning cross of the same material. The gable mouldings are in terra cotta also, but are too light and slender to have their proper effect of a vigorous framing of the front.

On the side there are three bays to the east of the transept (the church fronts east). These are separated in the aisle wall by buttresses, the offset of each of which is surmounted by a pair of dwarf columns extending to the cornice, which is also sustained by corbels, and is heavy and almost more Roman, or even Renaissance, than Romanesque in character. One bay has two arches in the aisle walls, the other two one each, all rather deep round arches with the impost marked by a moulded belt of terra cotta, continuous except for the interruption of the buttresses. The clerestory has two taller openings in each bay with a stout shaft at the centre. The separation of the bays is here effected by a tall and heavy column extending from the aisle roof to the main cornice. The ecale of this feature makes it unquestionably Romanesque, while, unlike the shaft we were criticising just now, it is accounted for by at least an apparent function of sustaining the cornice. So much cannot be said of the column, in effect a huge roll moulding, though furnished with a capital and base, which extends all the way up the return wall of the transept. A moulding at the corner of a building often has the effect of "cleaning the angle," as Viollet le Duc expresses it, but for this purpose it is necessary that it should be small in scale, and either a modelling of the mass itself or a trellis thrown over it as in the case of the beautiful gallery of Notre Dame. The feature we are considering is neither one nor the other and it would have decorated the building to leave it off, seeing that it serves no other purpose than that of a badge of the style.

The face of the transept is extremely plain, a dead wall broken only by three tall round-headed openings in the upper stage. The treatment of the gable and its openings repeats that of the front. Behind the transept is visible the chancel with three openings along its side, interpolated with the questionable tall columns of terra cotta. The detail, with the exceptions we have noted, is all very good and undeniably very Romanesque, and it is satisfactory to see a Romanesque church which does not recall the work of Mr. Richardson, but of which the merits and defects are its own.

The other Romanesque church on the Boulevard is equally interesting in a very different way, and is important enough to deserve an article by itself.

Real Estate Exchange Matters.

The Committee on Legislation held its regular weekly meeting on Tuesday, Wm. C. Orr in the chair. W. M. Ryan acted as Secretary pro tem.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved, after which the Chairman called for a report from the Committee on Rapid Transit as to the trip of the Committee of One Hundred to Albany. President Scott, speaking for the Chairman of the Rapid Transit Committee, recited briefly the facts which have already been made known to our readers, and added that he thought the Committee's visit had favorably impressed both the Legislature and the Governor, and in his opinion the only trouble was in the naming of satisfactory Commissioners. The report was accepted.

Mr. Romaine, for the Committee sent to Albany to protest against the passage of the "Larmon-Dempsey" bill, reported that notwithstanding the opposition developed the bill had been progressed to a third reading and would probably pass the Assembly, but that he understood that it would be positively defeated in the Senate, which report was also accepted.

Mr. Romaine called the attention of the Committee to Senate bill No. 533, which is "An act for the speedy termination and settlement of all claims arising out of and relating to the construction of the new Croton Aqueduct," etc. Mr. Romaine stated that the bill provided for the appointment of a Board of Arbitrators to settle bills for what the contractors said was extra work, but which the city authorities claimed was all included in the contracts. By the measure he said the city would be mulcted about $10,000,000. He stated that if the causes were tried before a jury, as they had a right to be tried, the city could prove that the work for which payment was demanded was either not done at all or done very badly. Mr. Romaine also stated that the measure was opposed by the Law Department, and that the protest would probably receive the Mayor's signature. He offered the following resolution: "That this Committee hereby protests against any special legislation of the character above indicated as injurious to the interests of the city, and consequently its taxpayers, and that a protest be sent to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the Assembly, and that the Corporation Counsel be notified of this action."

Philip A. Smyth moved, as an amendment, that the resolution be referred to the Sub Committee on Pending Legislation. Mr. Romaine refused to accept this amendment, and asked that his resolution be passed, because, he said, the city authorities would act before the sub-committee had time to report, and it would be well to have the Exchange act with them. Notwithstanding this appeal the amendment was passed. Mr. Crimmins, in explaining his vote in favor of referring the resolution to the committee, said that often when causes were tried before a jury contractors were unjustly treated because of the ignorance of the men who were to decide the case. He maintained that for a fair decision as to whether work was fairly done or not, the matter should be laid before a committee of experts.

Assembly bill No. 1,112, permitting the building of an elevated railroad on Broadway, was referred to the Committee on Rapid Transit. Senate bill No. 520, relative to the publication of notices of sales of real estate, was referred to the Committee on Pending Legislation, and Senate bill No. 590, to promote equality in the taxation of real and personal property, was sent to the Committee on Taxation and Assessment for investigation.

The meeting was then adjourned. It had been arranged by some of the members of this committee to have a resolution indorsing Mayor Grant's rapid transit commissioners introduced and passed, but President Scott interfered on the ground that the Committee of One Hundred had declared at Albany that the Exchange stood uncommitted to any special form or scheme for rapid transit. This or some other argument must have prevailed with the Mayor's supporters, for not a word escaped them at the meeting and the matter only leaked out after it was all over.

PROPOSED MEMBERS.

Elias Kempner and P. J. Cuskley have been proposed for membership in the Real Estate Exchange.

SUB-COMMITTEE ON TAXATION AND ASSESSMENT.

The above committee met on Friday afternoon and approved Senate bill No. 418, which provides for the repayment of money erroneously collected under the collateral inheritance law. Senate bill No. 498, similar to the "Larmon-Dempsey" personal taxation bill, was disapproved.

The Rapid Transit Committee was unable to hold a meeting for lack of a quorum. Only Messrs. Harnett & Disbecker were present.

Real Estate Notes.

There is great activity in the way of blasting along Central Park West, in the neighborhood of 68th street.

Work on the new Madison Square Garden has been hurried along. The tower on 26th street, near Madison avenue, will be 300 feet high, and it will soon be commenced.

The sum of $148,000 is a large amount to expend on the improvement of a single lot, yet this is the figure given in the plans recently filed for the erection of an addition to the Hotel Marguerite, on Central Park West, between 74th and 75th streets.

The block between Bleecker and 3d streets, on Greene, is 520 feet long. Buildings now being finished, lately commenced, and soon to be planned call for a frontage of about 550 feet, equal to more than one-half of the whole 1,040 feet on both sides.

We heard recently that as high as $8,000 per season is charged for suites of three rooms, with board, in one of the centrally located family hotels.

The Franklin Savings Bank has paid $50,000, or over $36 per square foot, for a lot, 25x55, on the east side of 8th avenue, 25 feet south of 42d street, adjoining the present bank building.

Hudson street, just south of 14th street, is at present in the hands of builders. Nearly two block fronts of rookeries, stables, sheds, etc., have been torn down to make way for business buildings.
